

Martin's Record Hit Gives Yanks 5th Series in Row

9th Inning Blow Offsets Furillo's HR

NEW YORK, Oct. 5. (AP)—Billy (The Kid) Martin's record 12th World Series hit in the last of the ninth gave Casey Stengel's proud New York Yankees an unprecedented fifth straight world championship today with a 4-3 victory over Brooklyn in the sixth game at Yankee Stadium.

Lashing back after Carl Furillo's two-run homer off Allie Reynolds tied the score in the Dodger ninth, the Yanks snuffed out Brooklyn hopes with a stunning comeback against reliever Clem Labine.

Martin Bats .500

pitch and Yogi Berra flied out Hank Bauer walked on a 3-2 deep to Furillo before Mickey Mantle outsped a slow roller off the glove of third baseman Billy Cox. It was scored as a single and Bauer moved to second on it.

Martin, finishing the series with a .500 batting average, looked at a called strike and then slammed a line single to center that scored Bauer with the winning run of the richest of all Series. Duke Snider didn't even bother to throw to the plate as Bauer sped home, free and clear.

Lights Turned On

With the hit Martin tied the all-time record for most hits in a Series, 12, and established a mark for a six-game set. He won for his delirious Yank mates full pay shares of about $8000 from the record player pool of $694,341.61.

This game, finished under lights because of dark, threatening clouds saved its drama for the final moments. Until the ninth it looked to the 62,370 fans like a routine 3-1 triumph for the always-winning Yanks who now have a 16-4 record in Series competition.

Martin's hit saved Whitey Ford from going down in the record book, guilty of one of the most momentous blunders since Fred Merkle failed to touch second.

It looked innocent enough at the time when Ford failed to tag up after a long 370-foot fly ball by Berra in the second and was doubled at the plate. But as the game wore on that run loomed larger and larger.

(Continued on page six)

German Club to Elect

The German Club will elect a vice president at 7:30 tonight in McElwain Hall study lounge.

Persons attending may meet students from Germany studying at the College.

4 to Face Tribunal On WD Riot Charge

Three seniors and a freshman will appear before Tribunal tonight for attempting to start a demonstration in the West Dormitory courtyard.

Two of the men were apprehended by student leaders for heckling during the frosh demonstration last Monday. The other two were caught urging West Dorm residents into the courtyard for another demonstration Wednesday.

Few men participated in this latter demonstration, Dean of Men Frank J. Simes reported. Some were in their windows fronting the courtyard and some were setting off firecrackers, he said.

The four are expected to be charged with conduct detrimental to the name of the College and inciting a riot. A number of penalties may be recommended. These vary from office probation of the Dean of Men, which amounts to a warning that any further trouble would result in more severe penalties, to a recommendation that the four appear before the College disciplinary committee.

This recommendation for College disciplinary action could result in suspension.

In addition, over 30 cases of traffic violation will be handled by Tribunal. Each violation will mean a penalty, and will not be

The Daily Collegian

FOR A BETTER PENN STATE

VOL. 54, No. 14

STATE COLLEGE, PA., TUESDAY MORNING, OCTOBER 6, 1953

FIVE CENTS

Reorganization of AIM Under Committee Study

A far-reaching and basic change in the Association of Independent Men organization is now being formulated, and is expected to be put into effect by the first meeting of the AIM Board of Governors, President Joe Somers, reported.

The plan is being prepared by an AIM reorganization committee headed by William Shifflett, Somers said, and calls for a General Assembly of all floor and dormitory presidents and town representatives. Officers of AIM would be elected by popular vote of all independent men.

The president of AIM would preside at the meetings of the General Assembly where all major problems would be considered, Shifflett reported. This body would probably meet

Joe Somers Backs New Plan

Enforcement Of Customs Still Lagging

Lag in freshman customs was apparent yesterday as the customs program went into its third week, according to Thomas Farrell, co-chairman of the Freshman Customs and Regulations Board.

Rain appeared to be an excuse for the reported indifference of students toward customs enforcement as the Frosh apparently substituted rain hats and scarves for dinks.

Cases of 26 students previously accused of customs violations will be heard by the Freshman Customs and Regulations Board at 7 tonight in 204 Old Main.

The board will also discuss penalties for approximately 50 men charged with customs violations last week during three raids by hatmen.

The raids were made by Androcles, junior men's hat society, and Skull and Bones, senior men's hat society, on the Nittany-Pollock dining hall and the West Dorm area during the noon and evening meals.

Farrell and Joyce Shusman, co-chairmen of customs board, both expressed disappointment at the lack of customs spirit yesterday.

"Enforcement is largely over," Farrell said, "and now it is up to the freshman class to develop class spirit for themselves."

He said that customs board would prepare an official statement about the customs program for publication later this week.

Miss Shusman said that "upper-class spirit was entirely lacking yesterday" and that customs board would appreciate enforcement of the remaining customs program.

Customs regulations on dating, the wearing of signs and bow ties and the carrying of Student Handbooks were lifted Thursday by customs board.

Freshmen must continue to wear dinks, curtsys and doff their dinks upon request by upperclassmen, and know songs, cheers and locations of campus buildings.

Hours for freshman women this weekend will be one ten and one o'clock permission to be taken Friday and Saturday nights.

IFC Pledge Cards, Fees Due Tomorrow

Official Interfraternity Council pledge cards and $2 pledge fees must be submitted to the IFC by tomorrow night, Thomas Schott, IFC president, announced yesterday.

Pledge cards and fees may be turned in at the Student Union desk in Old Main or to Alan McChesney, IFC secretary, at the IFC meeting tomorrow night, Schott said.

Debate Team To Hold Squad Meet Tonight

Members of the men's varsity debate squad will hold an intersquad debate at 7 tonight in 316 Sparks. David Meckler and Thomas K. White will support the negative side of the national debate topic, Resolved: That the United States Federal government should adopt a policy of free trade. Richard Kirschner and Benjamin Sinclair will uphold the affirmative.

Final tryouts for the squad will be held at 7 p.m. tomorrow in 316 Sparks. Students need not have attended the preliminary meeting to try out, according to Thomas Farrell, men's debate manager.

Candidates must prepare a five-

(Continued on page eight)

once a month, he said. Day to day business of AIM would be conducted through an advisory council to the president of AIM which would include the four council presidents, the four from the executive committee, and the seven standing committee heads, Shifflett said. It would probably meet every week, he added.

The executive committee for the following year, he said, would be suggested by the present advisory council, approved by the General Assembly, and officially confirmed by the president of AIM.

It was also suggested that the AIM elections committee screen all candidates, or a nominations committee representing all areas be established.

Thus, it is hoped, Somers reported, that a closer connection between the various levels of AIM can be made. At present, there is too wide a gap between the AIM executives and the 6300 independents represented, he said.

More men would be able to participate directly in the work of AIM through this proposal, Somers said, since the General Assembly would have about 90 members: the 75 floor and dormitory presidents and town representatives and the 15 members of the Advisory Council.

Thus, a more cohesive representative group would result in the end, Shifflett said.

Sprague to Speak

Dr. Howard B. Sprague, head of the Agronomy department, will speak on opportunities for agronomy students at the Clover Club meeting at 7 tonight in 117 Plant Industries.

Blood Drive Pledge Slips Due Today

Pledge cards and minor release forms for the Oct. 13-15 campus blood drive should be turned in to 112 Old Main today, Jack Huber, liaison representative for the State College Red Cross unit, announced yesterday.

However, Huber added, the scheduling committee will try to accommodate those who are unable to return their forms by accepting them tomorrow. The committee needs the slips as soon as possible to set up a schedule, he said.

Student response to the drive has been "fair," Huber said, but out of 900 slips that have been picked up, only 171 have been returned. The goal for the drive is 500 pints.

Forms are still available at the Student Union desk in Old Main and in the lobby of the West Dorm lounge.

Donors are asked not to sign up for the morning of Oct. 14 because Temporary Union Building, where the Johnstown Red Cross Bloodmobile will set up facilities, has been reserved by another group.

Blood may be donated from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Oct. 13 and 15, and from 1 to 7 p.m. Oct. 14.

The blood-giving process takes

(Continued on page eight)

Bellhop Assaulted In Philadelphia Hotel

A bellhop at the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel, Philadelphia, severely beaten early Sunday by three men, was reported "coming along fine" by doctors at Jefferson Hospital last night.

Neither Philadelphia police or hotel officials know who the bellhop's assailants were. Approximately 1700 students from the College were staying in the hotel after the Pennsylvania-Penn State game Saturday.

A rumor that a student jumped from a mid-city hotel window early Sunday morning, was reported "unfounded" yesterday by the Daily Pennsylvanian, University of Pennsylvania daily newspaper. Early editions of today's Philadelphia Inquirer carried no story on the assault of the bellhop, David R. McKee, 30.

The Pennsylvanian, reported that McKee was admitted to the Urology Ward of Jefferson Hospital suffering from kidney wounds. He never lost consciousness during the beating. The hospital said they do not know when McKee will be released.

A spokesman for the Bellevue-Stratford said last night that McKee told him that he (McKee) would be able to identify his assailants if he saw them again.

Detectives were reportedly studying a link between the beating of McKee and a false alarm which was sounded in the hotel an hour and a half earlier.

Four fire companies and two truck companies responded to the false alarm. Firemen raced to the ninth floor, where the alarm was sounded, but no fire was found. Traffic on Broad street outside the hotel was snarled for half an hour.

The bleeding bellhop was discovered by night clerk Arthur Hybert, the Inquirer reported yesterday, as he crawled down the stairs in a dazed condition and collapsed.

According to the paper, McKee discovered the three men, each about 25, and asked if they were guests. One mumbled a reply, and McKee tried to call the hotel's assistant manager. One man grabbed the phone and hit McKee on the head with it. Another kicked him in the abdomen as he fell down.

Police reported several Philadelphia hotels had reported destruction of hotel property after the game.

Business School To Hold Elections

Elections of freshman and sophomore representatives to the School of Business Student Council will be held from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. tomorrow, John Miller and Gerald Young, elections co-chairmen, have announced.

Ballot boxes will be in the lobby of Sparks building. Only freshman and sophomore students registered in the school may vote.

Candidates may put campaign posters and pictures in Sparks lobby.