

Pollock, Schott Commend Fraternity Conduct at UP

O. Edward Pollock, assistant dean of men in charge of fraternity affairs, and Thomas Schott, president of the Interfraternity Council, last night commended Penn State's fraternities on their conduct at the University of Pennsylvania-Penn State football game.

Pollock, speaking before the weekly meeting of the IFC reported he had not received any complaints from Philadelphia Hotels and he congratulated fraternity men for "keeping the name of Penn State fraternities clean."

"Conduct at the game wasn't spotless," Pollock said, "but it was a lot better than last year."

Schott also stated he was pleased with conduct at the game. He reported that a letter from the manager of the Adelphia Hotel had been sent to him complimenting fraternity men on their conduct at his hotel.

Alan McChesney, IFC secretary, reminded fraternity representatives that pledge cards and two dollar pledge fees are due by 5 p.m. Friday at the Student Union desk in Old Main. The Daily Collegian had previously reported Wednesday as the deadline.

McChesney also announced annual IFC dues of ten dollars were due Oct. 21.

Merice Nelles, IFC workshop chairman, announced the annual IFC workshop will be held Nov. 11-13. The workshop banquet will be held Nov. 13 at the Nittany Lion Inn.

Schott announced action on the proposal to make the Belle-Hop Ball weekend a big weekend has not yet been taken because the Senate Committee on Student Affairs which must take action on the matter has not met. Schott indicated he will see Wilmer E. Kenworthy, director of student affairs, today in an effort to speed up action on the proposal.

Ed School Magazine Is Planned

Education School Council President Harry Shank has announced that the school is making plans to publish a magazine similar in plan to the Penn State Engineer.

Nominations for freshman Council members are set for the last week of October, and elections will take place the first week of November.

Shank said the big-little brother and sister plan tried this semester to orientate freshmen in the Education school was successful, and should be used with incoming freshmen in February.

Interschool Council Board will issue council keys and shingles to members of the council.

A coffee hour meeting with faculty members and administration will be reinstated this semester. The council voted in favor of a special court for driving and parking violations.

Committees appointed are elections, Sarah Lessig, chairman, Carol Durbin, Carol Wilson; coffee hours, Dorothy Swanson, chairman, Janet Feaster, Charles Witmer; mixer, Susanna Westcott, chairman, Diane Edelman, Edward Crossley; faculty evaluation, Anna Campbell, chairman, Ann Lofquist, Marilyn Dupont; and Edits, Gwen Griffith and Shank, co-chairmen.

Air Raid Practice Called 'Successful'

The 15-minute air raid test conducted in the State College area last night was termed, "very successful" by civil defense leaders.

George Denithorne, Centre County civil defense head, said the entire county reported fine cooperation in probably the most successful test since World War II. Conducted on a state-wide basis, it was the first after-dark practice session.

2 Students Involved In Collision Tuesday

Dean of Men Starts Coffee Hours Today

Nearly 60 students and faculty members have been invited to attend the first Dean of Men's coffee hour from 4 to 5 p.m. today in the Dean of Men's office, 109 Old Main.

Sponsored jointly by All-College Cabinet and the Dean of Men's office, the informal get-togethers enable students to meet with the personnel of the dean's office and interested faculty members.

Coffee hours will be held every other Thursday this semester, Jane Mason, chairman, reported.

Each living quarter is represented at these sessions, as well as various campus organizations, she said. Organizations include All-College Cabinet, Interfraternity Council, the Association of Independent Men, Leonides, Panhellenic Council, publications, student councils, professional societies and dramatic organizations.

Students interested in attending a coffee hour may sign up at the Student Union desk in Old Main. Invitations will be sent to those signing the list.

Discussions and suggestions given at these coffee hours have led to an understanding of both student and administrative problems, Mason said.

Other students on the committee in charge of programming coffee hours include Joseph Barnett and Thomas Inter.

Deadline Set For Fulbright Award Forms

Deadline for application for awards under the Fulbright and Buenos Aires convention programs for graduate study abroad during the 1954-55 academic year is Oct. 31.

An exception is the program for Australia and New Zealand, for which Oct. 15 is the closing date.

Scholarship application blanks are available in the office of Fulbright adviser Robert E. Galbraith, professor of English composition, or from the Institute of International Education, 1 E. 67th street, New York City.

These programs, part of the international educational exchange activities of the State Department, will give almost 1000 Americans scholarships next year.

Eligibility requirements are United States citizenship, a college degree at the time the award is to be taken, sufficient knowledge of the language of the country, and good health.

Fulbright awards cover transportation, expenses of a language refresher or orientation course abroad, tuition, books, and maintenance for one academic year. Awards under the Buenos Aires convention includes transportation by the United States government, and tuition and maintenance allowances provided by host governments.

Council Named In Biz School

Results of the election of freshman and sophomore representatives to the School of Business Student Council were announced yesterday by Gerald Young and John Miller, elections co-chairmen.

Elections were held from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. yesterday in the lobby of Sparks.

Because only a few seniors and juniors petitioned for seats on the council they were automatically appointed to the council.

Council representatives are freshmen, Kaye Buterbaugh, Louis Fryman, John Rice, John Rose, Robert Segal, and Stewart Wiggins; sophomores, Nancy Blaha, Sheldon Chaikin, Sandra Dahlinger, Joseph Ginsberg, Jay Schmehl and George Sittman.

Seniors named to the council are: Vincent Corrado, Mitchell Haller, Gerald Kotzer, James C. Miller and Gerald Young. Juniors, Eli Arenberg, David Baker, Thomas Brasher, Ross Clark, Michael Doyle, Richard Favro, Max Frohwein and Mary May.

40 to Serve On 'Week' Committees

More than 40 students attending the first meeting of the junior class last night volunteered to serve on committees for the Junior Prom-Junior Week activities.

Plans for Junior Class Week include a junior class talent review, a pep rally, and a Chapel Choir service, Robert Smoot, chairman of the week, announced.

The talent show will begin the scheduled festivities Nov. 4 at the Temporary Union Building. Alec Beliasov, co-chairman, issued a call for performers in the junior class. Tryouts will be held Oct. 25-26 for the six acts in the variety program.

A pep rally will be held Nov. 5 in front of Old Main, John Speer, chairman, announced. Tentative plans for a torchlight parade preceding the rally also were discussed.

The manner of selecting the Junior Prom queen will be decided this week, Patricia Ellis, coronation chairman, announced. The queen, who may be any junior woman, will be crowned at the Prom Nov. 6 in Recreation Hall.

Ralph Flanagan and his orchestra will play for the semi-formal dance. A parade of the queen and her court will be held during halftime at the Fordham football game Nov. 7.

Seats will be reserved for juniors at the Chapel Choir service Nov. 8. Otto Hetzel, chairman said. Plans for co-sponsoring a religious and political colloquy with the Penn State Christian Association will be discussed at the next committee meeting.

Blue Band to Attend Ike's Birthday Party

The Penn State Marching Blue Band has been invited to participate Tuesday in a birthday celebration for President Dwight D. Eisenhower at the Hershey Stadium and Arena.

Fred Waring, orchestra leader and trustee of the College, extended the invitation, Dr. Hummel Fishburn, professor of music and music education, has announced. Waring is in charge of the music program for the celebration.

The Blue Band will perform with four other bands in outdoor and indoor programs. Also participating are the Archer Eppler Drum Corps of Philadelphia, the Valley Forge Military Academy Band, the William Penn High School band of York, and the Temple University band.

The bands will form en masse at 6 p.m. to play the "Star Spangled Banner" when the President arrives in the stadium. The bands will exit and then return individually to perform their routines.

The Blue Band, appearing first, will commemorate important events in the President's life. Temple University band will perform with lighted instruments. Forty majorettes will perform with the William Penn High School band. The Valley Forge band will do a precision military drill.

Following the outdoor program, each band will play inside for the birthday dinner.

Fred Waring's Orchestra and Glee Club will present a two-hour program following dinner.

Thanks a million Mom and Dad

For such a swell Christmas gift. I sure am glad I suggested a Class Ring to you last fall.

And the Balfour Class Ring has all the excellence in design that makes it worthy of Penn State.

Yes, I sure am glad I suggested it in plenty of time for Christmas.
