MRS. ELEANOR ROOSEVELT finds time in her schedule for an interview Wednesday with Lynn Kahanowitz, eighth semester political science major and society editor of the Daily Collegian, at the Nittany Lion Inn. Mrs. Roosevelt's visit to State College was part of an organizational trip for the American Association for the United Nations. She spoke Wednesday night to a capacity audience in Schwab Auditorium.

Former First Lady Has Heavy Schedule

By LYNN KAHANOWITZ

Exclusive to The Daily Collegian

During the only campus stop on her current tour for the American Association for the United Nations, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt said she was trying to explain to the public "What the United Nations Is and What It Does."

The former first lady graciously discussed the Asiatic problem and the Bricker amendment with me Wednesday night prior to a dinner preceding her address in an overfilled Schwab Auditorium.

Group Extends Blood Deadline Until Monday

Pledge cards and minor's release forms for the campus blood drive Tuesday through Thursday may still be turned in at 112 Old Main, Jack Huber, liaison representative for the State College Red Cross unit, announced yesterday.

However, Huber added, Monday is the "absolute deadline" for turning in all slips, and only those students who wish to give blood on Thursday may hand them in on that day. Otherwise, he said, slips must be turned in today and until noon tomorrow.

The reason for handing in slips as early as possible, Huber explained, is to permit the scheduling committee enough time to make the necessary arrangements. All students pledging are sent post cards reminding them of the time they are to give blood, and this can only be done if slips are handed in at an early date, he said.

Forms may still be picked up at the Student Union desk in Old Main, the lobby of the West Dorm lounge, and from resident counselors in the dormitory areas.

Openings for blood donations are still available on Tuesday from 10:45 to 11:45 a.m., and from 2:30 to 3:45 p.m. Also available are openings from 1:30 to 6:45 p.m. on Wednesday, and from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Thursday. Each donation takes an hour's time, Huber said.

The Johnstown Red Cross Bloodmobile will be at Temporary Union Building during the drive. Appointments will be scheduled from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tuesday and Thursday, and from 1 to 7 p.m. Wednesday.

Canteen workers are needed from 5 to 7 p.m. Wednesday and from 10 to 11 a.m. Thursday, Marie Wagner, chairman of the campus Red Cross unit, announced.

Cabinet Condemns Behavior at Penn

Three Senior Men Placed on Probation

Three senior men who appeared before Tribunal Tuesday charged with inciting further mob violence in a demonstration in the West Dorm area Sept. 28 have been placed on office probation by the Dean of Men's office.

Complying with the recommendation of Tribunal, the three men will remain on office probation, for their entire senior year, Dean of Men Frank J. Simes reported.

This decision means, Simes said, that any further difficulty with the men will result in an appearance before the judicial committee of the College with a recommendation for expulsion from the Dean of Men's office. Tribunal also recommended expulsion if the students should be involved in any further difficulty.

Six Witnesses Appeared

A temporary record of the case will be placed with the students' permanent records in the Dean of Men's office, Simes said. This will act as a conduct reference report for the year, he added.

Six witnesses testified against the defendants at the Tribunal hearing. They included Otto Hetzel, member of Tribunal, who asked to be disqualified from the court before a discussion of the case, a dormitory counselor, and four hat society members. No witnesses appeared in defense of the students.

Heckled Leaders

The seniors were charged with: 1. Inciting further violence in the form of cat-calls, heckling student leaders, and making comments to the speakers. 2. Confession of their part in the demonstration to hat men present at the disturbance.

3. Refusing to cooperate with student leaders trying to quell the disturbance. 4. Refusing admittance of a dormitory counselor and student leaders to their room. 5. Prolonged misconduct detrimental to the College.

Witnesses who brought forth the charges originally referred the matter to the Dean of Men's office, Simes said; but the matter was immediately referred to Tribunal, he added. The case could have been handled in the office or referred to the disciplinary committee of the College.

The three students have the right of appeal to the disciplinary committee of the College, Simes said.

A freshman who took part in the disturbance will have his case reviewed Tuesday by Tribunal. Eleven deferred cases of traffic violation will also be reviewed.

Cabinet Passes Traffic Court Amendment

All-College Cabinet last night unanimously established a traffic court which will hear all traffic violation cases in the future.

The approval of the court came when Cabinet passed an amendment to the All-College Constitution. Thomas Farrell, chairman of Tribunal, had proposed the amendment two weeks ago at cabinet.

Farrell's amendment was amended so that the senior member of the traffic court would not be a member of Tribunal.

The amendment specified that the Traffic Court will try students charged with violating College parking and traffic regulations and may impose penalties authorized by cabinet. Decisions of the Traffic Court may be appealed to Tribunal.

The court will be composed of seven male students appointed for one-year terms by the All-College president with the consent of cabinet. The appointments will be made upon the recommendation of the Tribunal chairman two weeks prior to the end of the spring semester.

Two sophomores, four juniors, and one senior will serve on the court. The senior will serve as chairman of the court. The sophomores will be equally distributed as fraternity men and independents.

The main purpose of the traffic court, as set forth by Farrell, is that of relieving Tribunal of hearing traffic violations cases and to leave this court free to hear cases of conduct detrimental to the College.

Cabinet previously adopted a resolution that violators be penalized as follows: first offense, $1 fine and a warning; second offense, $4 fine; third offense, referral to the dean of men with a recommendation that the student's car be sent home.

Half-Holiday Proposal Is Tabled

All-College Cabinet last night expressed discontent with student conduct at the Pennsylvania football game Saturday.

A resolution adopted by cabinet said "In view of the fact that the conduct of certain Penn State students at the Penn football game was detrimental to the good name of the College, All-College Cabinet recommends that in the future the student body conduct itself in a manner to better rather than stain the name of the institution."

The action came after cabinet tabled the proposal for a half-holiday at a future football game. Cabinet members felt it would be wrong to propose a half-holiday after the conduct in Philadelphia.

Damage has been reported by Philadelphia hotels. Several letters have been received in the President's office protesting the student's conduct.

The original motion was proposed by All-College Secretary-Treasurer David Arnold. It was amended by Robert Smoot. Final wording was settled by All-College President Richard Lemyre, after several members had tried to word the resolution.

Committee Duties

In other action by cabinet, two resolutions from the second judicial reorganization committee were recommitted, while eight other resolutions from the committee were approved.

The first recommitted resolution, as presented by Thomas Farrell, committee chairman, dealt with the membership of the subcommittee on discipline of the Senate Committee on Student Affairs. This committee would receive appeals from Judicial and Tribunal and hear cases referred

Library Wing To Be Opened In Near Future

The $1.2 million wing of the Pattee Library will be opened in the near future, Walter H. Wiegand, director of the College Physical Plant, announced yesterday.

The announcement came after completion of the second pre-final examination by General State Authority inspectors. A few minor adjustments in the new unit have to be corrected before the wing will be turned over to the College, Wiegand said. The wing will be opened as soon as these items are okayed by state inspectors.

There will not be an official final examination by inspectors, Wiegand stated. Yesterday's pre-final examination by state inspectors will serve as the final examination, he said.

Construction on the new unit was started in September, 1951.

Monday is Deadline For Queen Photos

Deadline for submitting candidates for the 1953 Thespian Homecoming Queen has been set for 5 p.m. Monday, according to Alex Gregal, committee chairman.

Photographs, 5 x 7 inches or larger, must be turned in to the Student Union desk in Old Main. The queen will be crowned Oct. 22 at the first Thespian show. "Let's Face It."

Players Show to Open Tonight

"The Moon Is Blue," which opens at 8 p.m. tonight at Center Stage, features primarily all new blood in its cast.

Although Nancy May, who plays the frank, demure Irish virgin, Patty O'Neill, is president of Players, she is playing her first lead in a Penn State show. Miss May, a seventh semester art education major from Elizabeth, Pa., has previously appeared in "Major Barbara" and "Aria da Capo" and worked on crews of several other productions.

A member of Theta Alpha Phi, dramatics honorary, and Thespian, Miss May was formerly majoring in Medical Technology.

Ken Williams, Jr., is playing his first major part in a Players show. This second semester freshman in arts and letters who hails from Warren, Pa., has done previous work in "Diedre of the Sorrows," a thesis production of last year. He is taking the role of Donald Gresham, a well-to-do modern architect, who picks up Patty on the observation platform of the Empire State Building and is immediately confused and amazed at her straight-forward approach to sex.

Howard Warren, playing David Slater, a dissipated middle-aged libertine, is a newcomer to Players. Don's neighbor and father of Don's former girl friend, Warren has jumped right into a very interesting part.

A senior in arts and letters school, he performed in the Thespian production of "Connecticut Yankee."

Sergeant O'Neill, Patty's highly moral father, is played by Russell Miller. Although only on stage a short time, the sergeant does more physical action than any other character.

For Miller, a sophomore arts and letters major, this show marks his debut to the Penn State theater world.

Tickets for the show, scheduled to run six weekends, are on sale for $1 at the Student Union desk in Old Main and at the door.

Robert D. Reifsnider, associate professor of dramatics, has announced the production staff of the show. He is assisted by Charles E. Gaunt as stage manager; Russell Whaley, designer; Cameron Iseman, technical director, and Muriel Stein, costume supervisor.
