

Lawn Display Theme Is Set

"Creaks in the Community" will be the theme of this year's Homecoming lawn display contest, sponsored by Interfraternity Council. Purpose of the theme is to exemplify the services of the Penn State fraternity system to State College and surrounding communities.

The winning fraternity will receive a permanent trophy. Points toward the outstanding fraternity award will be given as follows: first place, 15 points; second place, 12 points; third place, ten points. The three displays receiving honorable mention will get eight points.

Williams Too Calm
With Ken Williams Jr., who plays the amorous architect, it is just the opposite, and one can't help wondering whether Miss May made the best choice in regard to the two men.

Williams seemed rather calm and unemotional for the type of person and the situation. Perhaps his matter-of-fact approach was designed to be the best according to some, but to us he appeared to be slightly underplaying the part. In certain spots this trait was an admirable asset, but when Williams did at times become excited, he seemed too different a man from his previous characterization.

Russell Miller, who played Miss May's policeman father, looked like and did everything that was expected of him. Outside of a nervous stiffness, he perfectly fitted the part.

'Mr. State' Entries Are Due Monday

Monday is the deadline for entries in the Mr. Penn State contest. Application blanks must be returned to the Hotel Administration office, Home Economics Building.

Mr. Penn State will be crowned Friday night at the Bell Hop Ball in Recreation Hall. Any male undergraduate is eligible for the title. Entry blanks may be obtained from the HA office, or members of the Hotel Greeters Association, sponsors of the dance.

Russell B. Whaley is to be commended for doing a fine job with the difficult task of using two sets in Center Stage. However, the changing of the flat broke some of the mood, and we wonder if the show might not have been done better in Schwab Auditorium.

COME TO CHURCH

College Chapel Schwab Auditorium

Speaker—Dr. Paul L. Lehman

Topic:
Licing in the Living Church

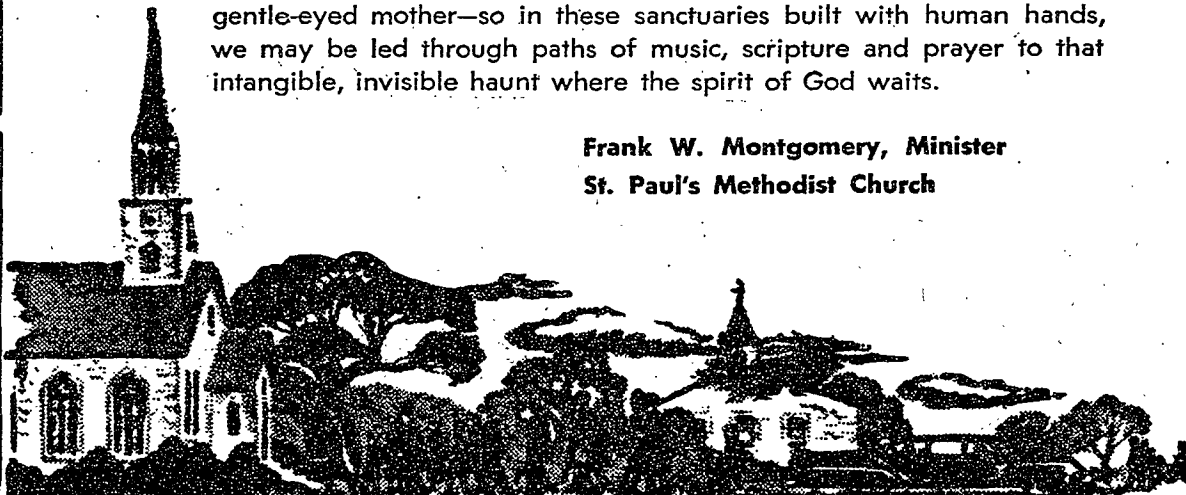

Anthem:
Sing Unto the Lord

God is a spirit.

Churches are built for the spirit's guidance.

As in the vast autumned woods of Nittany Valley, a dappled fawn, solitary, wandering may trace the numble footprints of her gentle-eyed mother—so in these sanctuaries built with human hands, we may be led through paths of music, scripture and prayer to that intangible, invisible haunt where the spirit of God waits.
