

Four Shutouts In IM Football

In a night of shutout ball two fraternity and two independent touch football games were reeled off last evening.

While compiling the only TD in the first three games, the Broadjumpers topped the N.R.O.T.C. team, 7-0. Beta Theta Pi topped Delta Tau Delta and the Simmons Men squeezed by the Newman Club by identical 1-0 scores. In the final game, Lambda Chi Alpha defeated Phi Kappa Psi, 19-0.

Pollock 12's Broadjumpers coped the initial game of the evening by a 7-0 count from the N.R.O.T.C. squad.

Early in the second half a sailor pass into the flat was gathered in by Charlie Rogan who carried 15 yards for the score. Bill Protzek threw a short pass to Chuck Bean for the extra point.

Beta Theta Pi won an overtime victory from Delta Tau Delta 1-0 as "Red" Harris tossed to Hubie Kline to push the oval to the 40-yard line. The two teams had moved the ball back and forth over the crucial 50-yard mark during the overtime.

After the first play, as the Deltas completed for no gain, Harris's pass was intercepted by Bob McMillian on his own 45. Pine then hurled to Pearson to move the ball to the 49. After the Betas failed to gain, Pine again completed to Pearson putting the ball six inches into Beta Theta Pi territory. From this point Harris tossed for the win.

In the second overtime contest the Simmons Men topped the Newman Club 1-0.

The game ended in a scoreless stalmate. The Newman Club put the ball in play at the 50 yard line and lost six yards on a wide sweep. The Simmons men then moved the ball to the 41 and thereafter never relinquished possession of Newman Club territory.

Once again the shutout pattern was followed as Lambda Chi Alpha whitewashed Phi Kappa Psi, 19-0. Two passes from Youtz to Stuver, and a Rush to Davis aerial constituted the scoring.

Scribes, Coaches Create 3-Way Tie In Pigskin Poll

A three-way tie has developed in the Daily Collegian football prediction contest as a result of Saturday's selections. Sports Editor Sam Procopio and Assistant Sports Editor Dick McDowell overhauled the Penn State coaches last week to deadlock the contest.

Procopio picked 13 winners correctly while McDowell missed only one. Both boosted their percentages to .777, while Shirley Cohen, secretary to Rip Engle and his coaching cohorts, missed on four choices.

All three have picked 35 of 45 games correctly over a period of three weeks. Prior to last week's pickings the coaches held a one-game edge on the Collegian staff.

Sports writer Herm Weiskopf, who had been running in third place, dropped to fourth Saturday, missing four choices. Weiskopf holds a .733 percentage.

The contest will continue Saturday for the fourth consecutive week. The Collegian announced yesterday that arrangements are being made to present the winner with a newly developed, super-powered crystal ball, designed especially for frustrated football predictors.

In the fourth quarter, however, State began to display its soccer potentialities.

"Our positional play, which was not up to par in the first half, came into shape in the second half," Hosterman remarked.

Packer scored his second goal of the game on a penalty kick to knot the score for the second time during the morning contest. With just two and one-half minutes left to play, Packer booted his third marker and the winning goal of the game.

"It was a beautiful corner shot, that the goalie didn't have a chance to stop," Hosterman said. The Lion booters came back in the second half to dominate the majority of the field play after being out-manuevered in the first half.

Future Foe Grid Bits

While Rip Engle's eleven were enjoying a 35-13 romp over Boston University the past weekend, three of their future grid opponents claimed victories. The remaining trio of opponents went down to defeat.

Syracuse, the Lions' rival Saturday, spelled defeat to another State future foe, Fordham, 20-13, TCU, the attraction for Homecoming Weekend, was turned back by powerful Michigan State, 26-19, and West Virginia's grid machine took little mercy on the Generals of Washington and Lee, piling up a 40-14 victory margin.

Rutgers, State's fourth away opponent, was handed a 9-7 setback at the hands of Princeton's Tigers. Pitt, the finale on the Blue and White's '53 slate, rang defeat in Nebraska's ears, 14-6.

The Orange of Syracuse, billed for State's initial home encounter, took the measure of the strong Fordham Rams on what was perhaps the gamble-of-the-day. The Empire City lads, fresh from a 21-7 romp over Detroit, were trailing the Orange 13-0 at halftime. After closing the gap 13-7 by the end of third chapter, the Rams witnessed a play that turned into a nightmare for them.

Pat Stark, ace Syracuse signal-caller who had been temporarily out of the lineup following the BU skirmish, entered the game in the final period and found his mates deep in their own territory. On the first play he faded into his own end-zone and completed a pass that carried to Fordham's 29. He then toted the pigskin to paydirt on the next play. The Rams went on to score again to account for the 20-13 verdict.

TCU's Horned Frogs came within seven points of creating a major upset when they "held" the mighty Spartans of Michigan State, 26-19. Trailing at the end of the third stanza, 19-7, the charges of Biggie Munn capitalized on two pass interceptions and a TCU fumble to overtake the Fort Worth, Tex., eleven. In winning, the Spartans rolled up their 27th straight victory.

West Virginia easily took the measure of Washington and Lee. The Morgantown, W.Va., powerhouse enjoyed its second "large-margin victory" in a row. It rolled over weak Waynesburg the previous week, 47-19.

A blocked punt in the 3rd period gave Princeton its third narrow triumph in as many games, as they squeaked out a narrow victory over Rutgers. The Scarlet-clad Queensmen took a second period kickoff 82 yards to paydirt and a 7-0 lead. The Tigers followed with a TD and a 3rd period safety to account for the victory.

troka's extra point put BU on even terms, 7-7.

Charley Blockson recovered Nunziato's fumble on the BU 11. On third down, Garrity made a great catch of Rados' pass on the one yard stripe, short of a first down. Moore's plunge and Garrity's kick made it 14-7.

After three plays, following the kickoff, Potroka punted to Moore who scampered 72 yards and a TD. The official, however, called him out of bounds on the BU 24. Rados patched everything up six plays later with a beautiful TD pass to co-captain Don Malinak. Garrity's kick made it 21-7.

Tom Gastell's punt a few moments later was returned by Moore from the PS 22 to BU's 29—49-yard return. The ball changed hands, however, when Bob Hoffman's pass was intercepted.

BU didn't go anywhere. Gastell punted again. This time Younker returned the ball to BU's 25-yard line from his own 32. On second down Rados found Jones in the end zone, good for a TD. Garrity made it 28-7.

After Danny DeFalco recovered Norm Chadwick's fumble, Jones followed Malinak's blocking and raced 76 yards to a TD. But he stepped out on the ten-yard line, the official claimed. On the next play, Moore took a pitchout and tallied State's last touchdown.

BU's final score came on a Nunziato-John Bredice pass, covering 45 yards.

Move over, Famous Towers

But in America, the tower-come-lately (extreme right) may rapidly become as familiar as the old landmarks of Europe. It is one of the Bell System's radio-relay stations which speed telephone calls and television programs coast to coast.

In May, 1948, these towers connected only five Eastern cities. Five years later the TV network included 95 towns and more are being added all the time.

Being the first network of its kind in the world, the planning, research, engineering and construction requirements are providing real opportunities for the kind of people who like to pioneer.

If working on new developments appeals to you, check with your Placement Officer for the details on employment with the Bell System. There are positions open for electrical, mechanical and civil engineers, as well as business administration and arts and science graduates.
