

Prestige at Stake In State-TCU Tilt

If Penn State can defeat Texas Christian University at Beaver Field Saturday, the Nittany Lions' prestige will not only get a lift in the East but in the Southwest. For TCU usually possesses a strong team and is among the top-rated colleges in the latter section.

In the last two decades, TCU teams have become famous for their many upsets. The Horned Frogs almost added another two weeks ago. They led Michigan State, 19-7, going into the fourth quarter and seriously threatened the Spartan win streak which now has reached 28 in a row. The Spartans won, however, 26-19.

The State-TCU game, which is expected to attract a near capacity crowd, will be one of the finest games to be seen at Beaver Field since the Michigan State battle two years ago.

TCU has a not-too-impressive 1-3 won and lost record. However, the Horned Frogs come from the unpredictable Southwest Conference where the running game of football is changed to passing. TCU had been in the running for its conference crown until they met with a potent Texas A&M squad last week, dropping the contest, 20-7.

Coach Rip Engle will have to depend upon his No. 1 quarterback Tony Rados to counter-attack Texas Christian's passing. Rados, who had his first "off-day" last Saturday, will also need some help from his two understudies, Don Bailey and Bobby Hoffman.

As far as TCU's running game is concerned there are some indications that Ron Clinkscale, a fleet halfback, has finally hit his stride. If so, Engle's defense will be kept very busy.

In its first three games TCU has lost only 35 yards from scrimmage. Quarterback Ray McKowan had dropped 16 of those trying to pass.

The Pennsylvania trip by TCU is the second of three that have been scheduled. They flew to Michigan State and they are to invade Spokane for a skirmish with Washington State Nov. 7.

The Frogs will leave tomorrow by air and land at Harrisburg. They will work out there and make the 90-mile trip to State College by bus Saturday morning. They will return to Texas immediately after the game.

It had been planned to land in Altoona but air line officials ruled runways on the airfield there too short. A squad of about 38 players will make the trip along with 12 or 14 staff members and newspapermen.

Baseball's All-Star Nine Named by AP

NEW YORK (AP)—Roy Campanella, Brooklyn's slugging catcher, heads the 1953 major league All-Star Team, one of the strongest squads ever put together.

Campanella, whose 41 home runs and 142 runs batted in are the highest ever reached by a big league catcher, drew all but five of the 179 votes returned by the Baseball Writers' Association of America in response to the Associated Press' eighth annual All-Star poll.

The team boasts seven .300 hitters, including the two league batting champions, the RBI and slugging kings, a home run leader, four players who have hit 30 or more homers and five who have pounded home 100 or more runs.

In the pitching department, the team presents Robin Roberts of the Philadelphia Phillies and Warren Spahn of the Milwaukee Braves. Each won 23 games to tie for the most in the majors. Roberts, in beating Washington's Bob Porterfield for right-handed honors, received 132 votes to Porterfield's 30. Spahn easily topped Chicago's Billy Pierce for left-handed honors, 116 to 40.

Six of the 10 players are brand new. The four holdovers from the 1952 team include Phil Rizzuto, shortstop; Al Rosen, third base; Stan Musial, left field, and Roberts. Musial made the squad for the seventh time, missing only once since the All-Star Team was inaugurated in 1946.

Surprisingly, the world champion Yankees placed only one man—Rizzuto—on the team, while the Brooklyn Dodgers, whom they defeated in the World Series, placed three men. They are outfielders Duke Snider and Carl Furillo in addition to Campanella.

The St. Louis Cardinals were the only other club to have more than one representative of the National League-dominated squad. Red Schoendienst walked off with second base honors with 163 votes, and Musial topped all outfielders with 142 votes. Schoendienst's total was second only to that of Campanella. The National placed seven men to the American's three.

Washington's Mickey Vernon nosed out Brooklyn's Gil Hodges for the first base choice.
