Football Is Theme Of Church Socials

Two church groups will hold socials centered around a football theme and many are planning speakers for their programs this week-end.

Wesley Foundation will hold a Kickoff Dance at 7:30 tonight, with both square and social dancing, games and refreshments. A fellowship supper will be held at 5:15 p.m. Sunday, followed by a worship service at 6:30 p.m. The Rev. Luther H. Harshbarger, College chaplain, will discuss "Is Christianity Doomed?"

The Lutheran Student Association will hold a Pigskin Picnic after the game tomorrow at the Student Center. A Carnival will be held at 7:30 tonight. The Rev. Francis E. Reinberger, professor of practical theology at the Lutheran Theological Seminary, Gettysburg, will speak at Reformation Services at 6:30 p.m. Sunday. The Student Choir will sing, and Mrs. Paul Keller will give a violin solo.

The Roger Williams Fellowship will hold a taffy pull at the student center after the pep rally tonight. A student panel will discuss the topic "Christian Faith and My Job" at worship services after the fellowship supper at 5 p.m. Sunday.

The Unitarian Fellowship and the Young Friends will hold a combined meeting at 6:15 p.m. Sunday in 304 Old Main to hear a talk by Dr. John Anderson, professor of philosophy. His topic will be "Oriental Views on the Nature of Insight."

The Penn State Bible Fellowship will meet at 7:30 tonight in 405 Old Main. The Rev. Henry Woll of Havertown will address the group.

The Eastern Orthodox Greek Catholic Society will have a coffee social at 7:30 p.m. Sunday in 304 Old Main.

The Untied Brethren Student Fellowship will hold a supper meeting at 5 p.m. Sunday, followed by a devotional program at which Stanley Davis, fifth semester chemical engineering major, will be the speaker.

The Hillel Foundation will end its membership drive this week. All persons interested in joining the foundation may pay their $2 membership fee for the year at the Hillel office, 224 S. Miles street. The fee is $1 for eighth semester students. Hillel will hold open house for students and alumni after the game tomorrow. Sabbath eve services will be held at 8 tonight, with Rabbi Kahn officiating.

Dr. Silva Will Speak At Faculty Luncheon

Dr. Ruth Silva, assistant professor of political science, will speak at noon Monday to the Faculty Luncheon Club meeting in the Hotel State College.

Dr. Silva recently returned from Egypt where she lectured at Fouad I University under a Fulbright grant. Her topic will be "Modern Egypt."

Slide Club Announces Nine Contest Winners

Monthly slide contest winners of the State College Color Slide Club are Hamill Bathgate, Barbara Bundy, Rodney Cobi, Marguerite Duvall, Donald Emerson, George Free, Capt. Rowland H. Groff, Charles R. Kilgore and Jack Reen.

WSGA Installs Hendel, Loux As Senators

Barbara Hendel and Suzanne Loux, newly-elected senators of Women's Student Government Association, were installed Wednesday night.

Voting of the proposed Spring Week holiday was referred by Senate to the House of Representatives to be taken back to dormitory units for discussion. Senate believed that since the proposal affects all students, popular opinion should be considered.

Appointment of an alternate to Judicial was tabled until next week in order that suggested appointees may be contacted.

Members agreed to ask the House to suggest a chairman for the religious colloquy WSGA will co-sponsor with the Penn State Christian Association in December.

Mrs. Lela Anderson of the Young Women's Christian Association will meet with campus groups for a week as part of the colloquy.

Ericson Gains Council Post

Martin Ericson, seventh semester chemical engineering major, was elected by the Chem-Phys Student Council to represent the American Institute of Chemical Engineers.

He was elected to replace William Deppe, who changed curriculums.

The Chem-Phys student-faculty mixer will be held Nov. 23 at the Eutaw House. Skits at the mixer will include portrayals of chemistry professors by the American Chemical Society, impressions of chemical engineering and physics professors by the chemistry engineering group, and impersonations of students by the professors.

The Chem-Phys Newsletter will appear Monday in Osmond lobby.

Chemistry-physics freshmen of any curriculum may be candidates for election to the council, and not only chemistry and chemical engineering majors as previously reported.

Auman Pleads Guilty To Car Theft Charges

Nevin Auman, arrested earlier this week on charges of stealing Lacrosse Coach Nick Thiel's car and three other cars and burglarizing a Spring Mills cabin, pleaded guilty yesterday to the burglary count.

Auman, a 29-year old ex-convict, admitted the theft of all four cars. He was arraigned yesterday before Thomas Mosier, Justice of the Peace, in Bellefonte.

PSCA Members Attend Conclave Near Carlisle

Seven members of the Penn State Christian Association are attending a fall area conference of the Student Christian Movement to discuss "The Truth Shall Make Us Free" today through Sunday.

Students attending the conference at Camp Michaux, near Carlisle, are Patricia Jones, John Garber, Janet Huber, Richard Carsons, Joan Lewis, Willis Kuhns and Ralph Troxelle. The Rev. Robert Starbuck, student pastor of the Faith Evangelical and Reformed Church, will accompany the group and serve as discussion leader.

The Rev. Herbert Muenstermann, minister to students at Ohio University, will be the principal speaker. Discussions will center around Christian freedom and responsibility, the Christian search for security in the modern world, attitudes toward investigating committees concerning truth and a discussion of civil liberties and academic freedom.

Students will be afforded an opportunity for Bible study, worship, seminars, workshops, square dancing and other recreation. Members of PSCA attending the three-day conference will set up World University Service displays. The organization benefits students all over the world by providing needed books, living accommodations and other necessities for students who cannot afford them. It is supported at the College by Campus Chest donations.

Judging Set Tonight For Lawn Displays

Pre-Homecoming preparations will be completed today as fraternities finish last minute details on their Homecoming lawn displays for the judging at 7 tonight.

Most of Penn State's 51 fraternities are expected to enter displays in the contest which has become a tradition of Homecoming Week-end.

The theme of the lawn displays this year is "Greeks in the Community." The purpose of the displays is to exemplify the many services of the Penn State fraternity system to State College and the surrounding area, according to Thomas Schott, Interfraternity Council president.

Guest of Alumni
The winning fraternity will be awarded a trophy and 15 points toward the outstanding fraternity award.

This award is presented to the fraternity accumulating the greatest number of points in extra-curricular activities, intramurals, house functions and other activities during the school year.

The president of the house winning the lawn display contest will be a guest of the Alumni Association at the alumni luncheon at 11:30 a.m. tomorrow in Recreation Hall.

The second place winner will receive 12 points toward the outstanding fraternity award and the third place winner will receive ten points. Three fraternities will receive honorable mention awards of eight points.

Display Kept Until 6

Milton S. Osborne, head of the Department of Architecture, Harold E. Dickson, professor of fine arts, and a representative of the Dean of Men's office will judge the displays. The basis of judging will be adherence to theme, originality and craftsmanship.

Judging will take place between 7 and 9 tonight. According to the contest regulations released by Schott, all displays must be kept intact until 6 p.m. tomorrow.

Alpha Zeta won the contest last year and retained the Alumni Association trophy which formerly rotated among the winners of the contest.

Labor Projects Grant Received

The College has received a grant of $17,500 to be used for labor relations projects, President Milton S. Eisenhower announced Wednesday.

Two previous grants totaled $35,500. They have been used for special educational projects in the Allentown-Bethlehem-Easton and Pittsburgh areas.

Additions to the program this year will include a project in Johnstown and a one-week specialized institute at a Penn State center.

AFC President States Policy For Counseling

Fraternity counselors should act only as advisers and not as College enforcement officials, according to Nicholas W. Brentin, president of the Association of Fraternity Counselors.

Brentin made the statement at the AFC meeting Tuesday night. The meeting, the first this semester, was attended by approximately 25 fraternity counselors and representatives of the faculty and administration.

Dr. Hugh J. Ryan, past national president of Delta Sigma Phi and executive committeeman of the National Interfraternity Conference, said that a fraternity counselor should be a responsible supervisor acting with the full consent and support of his fraternity.

Professor Burke M. Hermann, a member of the association since it was founded, outlined the development of the fraternity system over the last 30 years.

"Thirty years ago," he said, "it was only the rich man's son who joined a fraternity but today many boys of only average means are able to become fraternity members."

The Adaminaby irrigation tunnel, under construction in Australia, is 21 feet in diameter.
