College's because the donor judged Penn State's facilities by its collegiate name, they said.

Would Raise Quality
Administrative changes would include making the schools of the College "colleges" with the present major departments reclassified as "schools." This, the Board thought, would give the present departments prestige and put them on a level with comparable units in other institutions while retaining the present close affiliation with the "college" they are in.

The Board also explained that the change in name would indirectly help to raise the quality of the instructional and research staff. They cited cases in the past when outstanding faculty people have hesitated in accepting Penn State appointments because the institution has the name "college." Top-flight students, particularly at the graduate level, are similarly influenced, they said.

Academic institutions frequently change their names to fit changing status, the report said, and mentioned neighboring University of Pennsylvania, University of Pittsburgh and Temple University. Many land-grant colleges have undergone a similar transition in name.

The difficulties following football games are caused by only a small minority of students. They asked this minority, he said, not to bring discredit on the College as a whole.

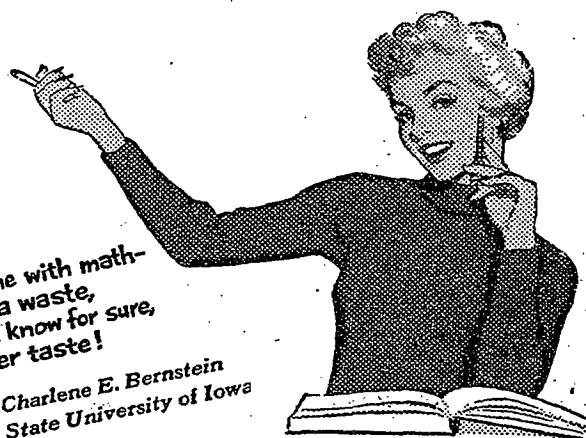

The group said that in casting a bad light on the College, this minority hurt the great bulk of the student body, Kenworthy said. He added that they asked the cooperation of student leaders in seeing to it that students as spectators reflect as much credit to the College as do the football players who represent Penn State on the gridiron.

How do I love those Lucky Strikes?
I couldn't count the ways.
That cleaner, fresher, smoother smoke
Deserves such endless praise!

I have an awful time with math—
My figures are a waste,
But Lucky Strikes, I know for sure,
Add up to better taste!

LATEST COLLEGE SURVEY SHOWS LUCKIES LEAD AGAIN!

Last year a survey of leading colleges throughout the country showed that smokers in those colleges preferred Luckies to any other cigarette.

This year another nation-wide survey—based on thousands of actual student interviews, and representative of all students in regular colleges—shows that Luckies lead again over all brands, regular or king size...and by a wide margin! The No. 1 reason: Luckies taste better.

Smoking enjoyment is all a matter of taste, and the fact of the matter is Luckies taste better—for 2 reasons. L.S./M.F.T.—Lucky Strike means fine tobacco. And Luckies are made better to taste better. So, Be Happy—Go Lucky!

Here's one prediction I can make
Without my crystal ball—
For taste appeal you're sure to find
That Luckies top them all!
