

Kappa Touchdown

A PI PHI PLAYER takes a spill attempting to stop a Kappa end run during the Powder Bowl game at Beaver Field Saturday. The proceeds from the game going to the Campus Chest, total approximately $500 from the estimated attendance of 2000. The sororities plan to make the Powder Bowl an annual event of the Campus Chest drive.

Kappas Win by 8-0 In 1st Powder Bowl

By RON GATEHOUSE

At 10:30 a.m. Saturday, as a preliminary to the State-West Virginia tussle, 22 campus coeds discarded their rouge, lipstick, nail-polish and other feminine appliances, and donned sweat shirts, numerals and gym shoes to represent the female gridgers' debut in the Nittany Vale.

The occasion was State's coed invasion of the number one fall sport, in the form of the Powder Bowl between the Aye Sees of Pi Beta Phi and Kappa Kappa Gamma.

The Kappas solved the Pi Phi defense for a total of eight points, two of them coming on a first period safety, and held the losers scoreless to account for the final 8-0 verdict.

Kappas Take Kickoff

The Kappas received the opening kickoff and picked up a series of first and tens to advance to the Aye Sees' 9, where they lost the ball on downs.

Pi Phi fumbled on their first play from scrimmage, recovering on their own four. On the next play they miscued again, and the leather tumbled into the end zone.

A hard-charging Kappa lineman fell on the loose ball to register a safety and the game's first score.

Neither eleven were able to tally throughout the remainder of the first half, with both teams displaying sterling defensive play.

The losers advanced Diane Hallock's second half opening kickoff to their own 45. On third down the winners intercepted on their own 43 and advanced to the midfield stripe.

18-Yard Advance

On the second play following, the Kappas' passing signal caller, Mary Morison, located left end

Engagements

Fishburn-Else

Mrs. Myrtle R. Else of State College has announced the engagement of her daughter Joan to David Fishburn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hummel Fishburn of State College.

Miss Else, fifth semester music education major, is a member of the Chapel Choir, the College Symphony Orchestra and Delta Gamma.

A seventh semester music education major, Mr. Fishburn is a member of Skull and Bones, Blue Band, and Phi Gamma Delta. He is also sports editor of LaVie.

Barb Pepscha for an 18-yard advance to the Pi Phi 32. Following a series of downs which picked up 18 yards, the same combination once again clicked, this time for 14 yards and six points to close the scoring. Miss Morison's pass for the seventh point failed.

Through the remainder of the game, sterling defensive play was once again displayed by both clubs. However, the closing stanza was highlighted by huge gains by the winners. At one point the Kappas advanced to the Pi Phi ten, but were stopped by their stubborn forward wall.

Mardi Gras Cup Awarded to TPA For Second Year

Theta Phi Alpha retains for the second consecutive Mardi Gras the circulating cup awarded for the booth collecting the most tickets. "Blondes Prefer Gentlemen" was the theme of the show booth.

The Mardi Gras, sponsored by Mortar Board, senior women's hat society, collected approximately $1000 from 7:30 to 11:30 a.m. Friday in Recreation Hall. Betsy Siegler, president, said.

The Charlotte E. Ray scholarship fund receives proceeds from the annual carnival which features variety booths by sororities, Leonides and other women's groups.

William Parks, president of Sigma Alpha Epsilon, and an eighth semester hotel administration major, was named Mardi Gras King. Sponsored by Alpha Chi Omega, he received the most penny votes for the title.

Parks was given a $25 gift certificate from Jack Harper's clothing store. The king was attended by Judith Hartman, third semester arts and letters major, and Nancy Shafer, third semester education major. Miss Siegler presented the crown to the king and the circulating cup to Theta Phi Alpha.

After the crowning Jane Mason, seventh semester home economics major, released the cord that broke a paper bag above Parks' head and balloons floated down around the throne and the spectators.

Twenty-two booths filled Rec Hall with shows and stands of chance and skill. Mortar Board provided a refreshment booth.

Chem Society Address

Dr. Leo Sommers, associate professor of chemistry, will address the American Chemical Society Affiliates at 7 tonight in 117 Osmond.

MISS ESTELLE CAPLAN

Okay Joe?

Because this is a surprise to Estelle there is no biographical data about her. However she happens to be the girl who picks up our ad for Collegian. (Except for today's issue).

A little note of thanks to Mardi Gras King Parks and the five Junior Prom finalists who used our portraits for the contests.

Check Mary Braun, Ann Wylie and Donna Lafferty of AXO. We had a lot of fun doing their composite even if one of their members is a self proclaimed barber.

For fairly obvious reasons, it's to your advantage to have your Christmas portrait done before the Christmas rush starts. Why not reserve an appointment now to assure yourself a portrait worthy enough to give for Christmas.
