

Employment Service Offers Student Jobs

By HERM WEISKOPF

Many students at the College are working their way through school, or financing a large part of their education by doing odd jobs provided by the Student Employment Service, 112 Old Main. Ten years ago the Student Employment Service was established to help locate jobs for students and students for jobs.

John Huber, employment supervisor, reported that more than 3400 individual job requests were filled last year. These jobs ranged from two-hour baby sitting stints to two-semester jobs as table waiters.

Waiting on tables, baby sitting and housecleaning jobs are routine assignments for many student workers. Many odd job requests are filled.

Four coeds recently were hired to carry sign boards advertising television. A "cat sitter," a boy to feed experimental mice and a student to watch furs at a furriers' convention were also supplied by the Student Employment Service.

It was pointed out by Huber that between 96 and 98 per cent of the job requests are filled and that the ones that are not are usually last minute requests.

Appraisal cards are used by the service to learn what kinds of jobs students can do. These cards are filled out by the employer and returned to Huber's office.

Most of the employers are housewives in State College. Huber said, although practically all business places also use student help.

Jobs such as sweeping floors, driving delivery trucks, or taking children to Saturday morning movies may seem of minor significance, but they help the student who is trying to work his way through school.

Dean Accepts Suggestions From Tribunal

Recommendations of Tribunal in the cases of two students charged with disorderly conduct have been accepted by the Dean of Men's office.

The case of two students involved in disorderly conduct in Bellefonte, Oct. 23, following a high school football game there, was shelved at the last meeting of Tribunal to await further evidence and investigation of the charges.

The scheduled meeting of Tribunal last night was not held due to the illness of Thomas Farrell, chairman of the group, Otto Hertz, member of the group, explained.

The third semester hotel administration major who pleaded guilty to a charge of disorderly conduct before a local justice of the peace received a Tribunal warning at the meeting Nov. 3.

A Tribunal warning means that a record of the case is kept in the minutes of Tribunal and the Office of the Dean of Men, and a warning is given that any further difficulty will result in more severe penalties.

The recommendation concerning the freshman convicted of being one of the instigators of the West Dorm demonstration on Sept. 28, was also accepted.

The student must report to Tribunal at the first meeting of the month for the rest of the semester for a conduct report. The change of residence penalty under which the student would be moved from the West Dorms to the Nittany-Pollock area was commuted by Tribunal.

Nelles Warns Houses To Expect Extra Men

Maurice Nelles, chairman of the Interfraternity Council Workshop, has warned all fraternities not playing host to one of the workshop discussion groups, to expect from six to seven men from these host houses for their evening meal tonight.

Nelles has also requested that all fraternities serve their evening meals at 5:45.

APhiO to Send 3 to Conclave

Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity, discussed plans to send delegates to a conference Nov. 28 and plans for an initiation banquet at a recent meeting.

The group will be represented by three men at the conference at the University of Pittsburgh and Carnegie Institute of Technology. Fraternity members whose homes are in Pittsburgh may volunteer to serve as delegates.

New officers will be elected on the first Monday after Thanksgiving. They will be installed at the pledge initiation banquet Dec. 4.

The group is sending a proposal to the national organization for approval of amendments to the local Alpha Phi Omega constitution. The amendments deal with procedure in handling the Ugly Man Contest.

Slide Club to Meet

The State College Color Slide Club will meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday, in 105 Agriculture. Andrew W. Case, associate professor of fine arts, will discuss "What Makes a Picture" and will judge slides in the monthly contest.

Fehnel Urges Ag Ticket Sale

Edgar Fehnel, chairman of the Ag Hill Party, urged members of the Agriculture Student Council last night to push the sale of party tickets. In his report to council, Fehnel said that only 200 tickets were sold by 5 p.m. yesterday.

The Ag Hill Party is being held 5:15 p.m. to midnight Saturday in Recreation Hall. Fehnel said that the ticket goal has been set at 1400. The tickets cost $1.

The council agreed to dry-clean a large blue drape belonging to the School of Agriculture. It was also decided that the 50-by-80-foot drape would be rented to groups other than those connected with the School of Agriculture.

President Thomas Inter explained that the rental fee would cover the cost of cleaning and repairing bills. He said that agriculture groups would not be subject to the fee since the drape was originally financed by agriculture students.

Council members were requested to submit students' names to be considered for Who's in the News at Penn State. The names,
