

Gridders Favored To Down Rutgers

By SAM PROCOPIO

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J.—Penn State's third-rated football team in the East arrived here yesterday with its all-America passing combination—Co-captain Tony Rados and end Jim Garrity, hoping to break a jinx against Rutgers University. That is winning only by a touchdown or mere extra point against a team which goes into games against the Nittany Lions more than 20 point underdogs.

Kickoff time is set for 2 p.m.

On comparative records, the Nittany Lions should have little trouble handling the hard-pressed Rutgers University squad, which has won only two of six starts. But the records go out the window when these two teams collaborate.

Quarterback Rados and end Garrity will be ready to rewrite the Penn State records. Especially if the field is in condition for a passing game. The Slingshot from Steelton, Pa., is looking for his ninth touchdown via the air. He is one short of the mark.

On the other hand, Garrity is seven short of the record set by Jesse Arnelle. The pass-snatching end has caught 26 this season.

The No. 1 passing combination in the East—Rados-Garrity—will

Harrier Lineup Set; Lions Eye Crown

On the basis of last night's good performances in a three-mile handicap race Nittany cross-country Coach Chick Werner selected John Chillrud and Jim Pastorius to round out the Lion's seven-man IC4A squad.

Lamont Smith and Captain Red Hollen, the Nittany one-two punch, sped to what Werner termed the "fastest three miles ever run by any Penn Staters." Their times were 14:45 and 14:47.

IM Sports

Phi Epsilon Pi, Sigma Chi and Phi Kappa Sigma reached the quarter finals of the intramural swimming championships last night at Glendon Pool.

Ted Cohen paced Phi Ep to a 28-13 victory over Delta Sigma Phi when he won the freestyle event with a time of 0:31.8, just four-tenths of a second off the intramural record. The Phi Ep relay team won with a clocking of 1:02.5.

Sigma Chi won every event in downing Acacia. Andrew Smith was the individual star for Sigma Chi, winning both the freestyle and diving events. The final score, Sigma Chi, 35, Acacia, 4.

In the third meet of the night, Phi Kappa Sigma beat Delta Chi, 33-8. The win gave Phi Kappa Sigma the right to meet Theta Xi in a quarter-final match on Tuesday. The other meet on Tuesday will pit Phi Epsilon Pi against Sigma Chi.

Monday the four other quarter-final teams will face each other. Beta Theta Pi will battle Delta Tau Delta and Delta Upsilon will swim against Pi Kappa Alpha.

Besides Chillrud, Pastorius, Smith and Hollen, Werner will take Ted Garrett, Jim Hamill and Doug Moorhead on the trip. Werner said that he was "very pleased" with the results of the handicap race.

Fourth Last Year
The harriers will leave early this morning for the 45th annual IC4A championship race which will be held Monday in N.Y. on Van Cortlandt Park's five-mile layout. Penn State last copped the title in 1950-51. Last year the hill-and-dalers finished fourth.

Several sources have tabbed the Lions as the team to beat. Werner, however, pointed to Syracuse, which placed third last year, as the top threat. Noting that the Orangemen have turned in better times than the Lions, Werner said, "Syracuse has the ultimate judge—the stop watch—in its favor."

Spartans, Panthers, Threats
Michigan State must also be considered one of the top contenders, since they won the Big Ten title run yesterday for the third consecutive year. The Spartans have been improving with each meet and seem to be "very much in the running." Pittsburgh's Panthers have gone through an undefeated campaign and bear watching. Although they have been virtually overlooked, the Panthers have demonstrated almost unbelievably good balance, taking the top five slots in all but one of nine meets.

Smith and Hollen are two of the top contenders for the individual championship. Ray Osterhout of Syracuse, who finished second last year, is the favorite. Lyle Garbe of Michigan State, Joe Barry of Villanova and Jim Byrne of St. John's are also stand-out threats.

Lions Undefeated
During the regular season the Lions bowled over four opponents without a loss. Smith finished first, or tied for first, in each meet, hitting his peak in a triangular meet at Annapolis where he set a new course record. Hollen's worst showing came when he placed second in the meet with the Middies and Georgetown. He was still hampered by an injured foot at the time. Moorhead, the third member of the Nittany Triple-Trouble-Trio, fell below first place only once. This occurred when he placed fourth at the Naval Academy.

The Lions will finish the campaign on Nov. 23 at East Lansing, Mich., when they compete in the NCAA run for the roses.

Athletic Advisory Board Gets Special Award Plan

Plans compiled by a student committee for special athletic awards have been submitted to the Athletic Advisory Board by Dean Ernest B. McCoy, athletic director.

The proposal calls for a replica of the Lion Statue and an eight inch silver loving cup to be given to varsity letter winners and the coaches of teams that compile undefeated seasons, or teams and individuals who win special distinction in their sports.

After a thorough discussion it was thought advisable that the secretary make a study of the past five years to determine the number of athletes such a plan would affect and the probable cost of getting it under way.

The Lion Statue Trophy will be given to coaches and members of undefeated teams in the twelve varsity sports: football, cross country, soccer, track, basketball, gymnastics, wrestling, boxing, baseball, golf, tennis and lacrosse.

Players will receive the status in football and soccer if a bowl invitation is accepted and the silver cups if a bowl contest is won. Cross-country and track squad members would be given status for IC4A championships and loving cups for NCAA titles.

Lion statues for eastern champs and cups for NCAA title-holders would be presented to members of the gymnastics, wrestling, boxing, golf, and tennis teams.

An invitation to the NCAA tournament will give the basketball players a statue while, for a victory in the tourney, they will be honored with individual cups. Baseball and lacrosse players will earn statues for district crowns and silver cups for NCAA victories.

Individual eastern champs and "All East" players will also be eligible for the Lion Statue trophy, while individual National champs and "All-Americans" will receive the eight-inch silver loving cup. No man may be given more than one team and one individual award in one sport per year.

This plan is to be retroactive to September, 1952. Therefore several teams would already be in line for trophies. Since then the gymnastic squad has added an eastern and a NCAA championship, the wrestling team has done likewise, the boxing team sports two eastern champs, and the golfers posted an undefeated campaign.

Co-captains Set Records

For the first time in 67 years, Penn State's football co-captains—Tony Rados and Don Malinak—come from the same home town, Steelton.

Horse Show Will Be Held

The second Little Horse Show will be held 1:30 p.m. tomorrow at the University Stables. The show, sponsored by the Penn State Riding Club, was previously scheduled Nov. 7, but was canceled because of inclement weather.

The entry deadline was extended to 5 p.m. today. Only members of the riding club are eligible to enter. Registration will take place at the stables.

Before the postponement of the show 31 club members had registered. A 50-cent entry fee will be charged per class.

Classes will include beginner, intermediate, intermediate jumping, advanced, advanced jumping, and open jumping.

Ping Pong Tournament Play-off Slated Today

The finals in the all-University ping-pong tournament will be played this afternoon in the temporary Union Building. The independent championship will be played at 2 p.m. and the Fraternity champ will be decided at 2:30. The two winners will meet for the all-University title at 3:30.

Dick Robinson, chairman of the tournament, has announced that no admission will be charged for the event.

be put to a test once more as Coach Harvey Harman developed a "stingy" pass defense. Last week against Lafayette, his defensive unit held the latter college to a mere 24 yards in passing all afternoon. At the same time, quarterback Johnny Fennell unleashed a passing attack of his own. This was the first time that the Scarlet have shown any brilliance through the air.

One drawback, however, is that indications from the Rutgers camp show that quarterback Fennell, reinjured his back in last Saturday's battle against Lafayette. He was expected to be Rados' passing competition.

Don Dreier is most likely to succeed Fennell in the T-slot but pint-sized Ron Mastrolia, 150-pound halfback, probably will see action there, too.

Harman, who has employed the T-formation for the past seven seasons, will work several variations into his offensive pattern. He will also play from the single wing as the adaptability of Rutgers material permits.

For the past two seasons, Harman has occasionally utilized the "Deep-T" formation, which places the fullback deep. From that position, the fullback can pass, kick, or run. His triple-threat at the fullback slot is Captain Don Duncan. However, a halfback, Angelo Iannucci, will start the game at that position.

The variations from the T are the split-T and winged-T. That latter will be used by Penn State. Defensively, Rutgers has an off-the-line defense. It is designed mainly to confuse the opponents blocking assignments.

Carruthers Keeps Title

SAN FRANCISCO, (AP)—World bantamweight champion Jimmy Carruthers, a slick dancer from Australia, held his title by a decision as he deftly boxed down Pappy Gault of Spartanburg, S.C., in a 15-round fight at Sydney, broadcast by the Australian radio.
