

Cabinet Will Install Members, Consider Class Ring Report

Presidents-elect of the freshman and sophomore classes will be installed at tonight's meeting of All-College Cabinet, according to Richard Lemyre, All-College president. Cabinet will also hear a report from the senior class ring committee and the second reading of a constitutional amendment.

Hugh Cline, newly elected sophomore class president, and James Musser, freshman class president, will take Cabinet seats. Cline will replace Robert Homan and Musser will replace James Bowers.

Gibbs Suggests Council Hold Leader Course

Richard Gibbs, president of Hat Society Council, last night told the council that the calibre of many of the University's student leaders has never been as high as it might be and proposed that men and women's hat societies sponsor, through the council, a student leadership course.

Gibbs said that the statement was not meant in a derogatory way or as an accusation. He said that for example some student leaders do not know Parliamentary procedure or methods of committee organization.

Student leaders, he said, should be given more opportunity to develop leadership methods, rather than having to depend solely on observing present leaders.

Gibbs said the course would be a general outline course led by faculty and administration members and outside speakers, and emphasizing why certain forms of procedure, such as Parliamentary Procedure, should be employed by student leaders.

He said that the course would probably not cover details of the various procedures of leadership, but that booklets explaining these details would be given to the participants.

The course would be open to all students, Gibbs said, but would be organized primarily for underclassmen who have not yet begun extensive leadership activities.

Robert Homan, secretary of Blue Key, Junior men's hat society, said that a similar plan was adopted this year by the National Student Association, but that not much had been done on it.

Gibbs suggested that the council discuss the proposal with NSA and possibly ask them to consider allowing the council to take over the project.

Further explanation of the policies of the National Student Association will be included in a report by Robert Smoot, campus NSA coordinator.

Lemyre said two persons will be appointed to go with representatives of the Penn State Christian Association to the United Nations, where they may become better acquainted with the workings of the UN.

Cabinet will also hear a report on the Red Cross blood drive by Marie Wagner, chairman of the drive.

Journ Contest Places SDX 3d

The Penn State chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, men's national professional journalistic fraternity, has placed third in the national Beckman efficiency contest.

Fifty-five undergraduate chapters of the fraternity compete in the contest, which is based on the chapter activities and finances and interest of members. The Universities of North and South Dakota were first and second. The Penn State chapter was third in 1950.

The University chapter was seventh in the nation in the Hogate professional achievement contest based on the percentage of each chapter's members who go into journalism after graduation.

Contributions of approximately $8783.75 have been received from faculty and students in the Campus Chest drive, Richard Gibbs, chairman, announced yesterday.

He said this is not the final total as solicitors have not turned in all money collected during the drives Oct. 26-28 and Nov. 3-5.

Students contributed $5924.97 and the faculty and administration donated $1924.10.

Students designated $3006.10 of their contributions, Gibbs said. This year, for the first time, students were able to designate to which of the 11 groups included in the drive they wished their money given.

Total contributions received from the faculty and administration members were designated to the Penn State Christian Association, the Penn State Student Scholarship fund, the World University Service and the Women's Student Government Christmas Fund.

Faculty and administration members were not asked to contribute to organizations which

Home Ec Students Receive Scholarships

Twenty-seven students in the School of Home Economics last night received scholarships and prizes totaling $2825 at the first annual Home Ec scholarship awards banquet at the State College Hotel.

More than 80 persons, including winners, officers of home ec organizations, scholarship donors and faculty and administration of the Home Ec school attended the dinner.

Dr. Grace M. Henderson, dean of the school, and Dr. Dorothy Houghton, assistant dean, spoke on the Home Ec scholarship program. Bernard Ambrose, seventh semester hotel administration major and chairman of the student-faculty board, was master of ceremonies. Dr. William M. Smith Jr., professor of family relations, led group singing.

The Borden award, $300 to the senior in Home Ec with the highest all-University average for her first three years, was awarded to Lois Patterson.

Four winners of the Merrill-Palmer honor, the privilege of attending the Merrill-Palmer school in Detroit for one semester were announced. They are Miss Patterson and Irene Buck, who will attend during the spring semester, and Priscilla Crowe and Jane Ifft, who are attending the school now.

Kroger awards for freshmen, $200 each, were presented to Rhoda Good and Ann Hartzler. Ralph D. Kudart received the Joseph V. Horne scholarship in hotel administration, $225, and the Pennsylvania Hotels' Association scholarship, $100, went to Joseph Fredrick.

Hotel Administration Janet Toffy and Ambrose were awarded $200 scholarships in hotel administration from the Buff-Henley Co. George D. Barbey scholarships of $50, went to Susanne Brosseau and Marian Romberger.

Extension Homemakers scholarships, $100, were awarded to Joan Learn, Edith Kriebel and Marian Ludwig.

Pennsylvania State Federation of Women's Clubs Scholarships, $50, were presented to Delma Kay Edwards, Phyllis Griffith, Ruth Griffith and Arlene K. Smith.

Eight winners of Sears-Roebuck foundation scholarships for freshmen, $100, are Barbara Shipman, Emily Frank, Audrey Neff, Martha Fleming, Constance Buecher, Isabelle Squier, Sara Walter, and Marian Labuskes.

Judging Teams Place Second In 2 Contests

University livestock judging teams recently placed second in two contests.

They took second place at the Eastern National Livestock Show's intercollegiate Livestock Judging Contest at Timonium, Md., at the International Dairy Show Intercollegiate Judging Contest in Chicago.

At Timonium, the livestock squad placed first in beef cattle judging with Peter Fenchak high man in the division, and Paul Stone placing fifth. Marion Cullen won sixth place in the beef cattle judging and eighth place in the sheep division. She was named seventh high individual in the contest, followed by Fenchak in eighth place. Penn State earned third place in the swine division.

The dairy cattle squad won second place at Chicago in the judging of Ayreshires, Brown Swiss, and Jersey dairy cattle. They were also runners-up in the sweepstakes.

Individual honors went to Harry Roth, who tied for high individual in the contest and placed first in the Brown Swiss judging. Roth was second high in the Ayreshire and Guernsey competitions.

Team members of the dairy cattle squad are Roth, Edgar Fehnel, Levis Phipps, and Darwin Braund, alternate.

Barrera Named Club President

Rafael Barrera, special business administration student from the Dominican Republic, has been elected president of the Inter-American Club.

Fernando Rodriguez, fourth semester petroleum engineering major from Mexico, is vice president, and Zaida Rivera, graduate student in home economics from Puerto Rico, secretary-treasurer.

The meeting was held at the home of Donald C. Jones, director of the Mineral Industries extension service.

Four guests from Nicaragua, who attended under the auspices of the United States Department of Labor, sang a native song.

Dr. Harrison H. Arnold, professor of romance languages, showed slides from his recent trip to Mexico.

Campus Chest Receives $8783

Contributions of approximately $8783.75 have been received from faculty and students in the Campus Chest drive, Richard Gibbs, chairman, announced yesterday.

He said this is not the final total as solicitors have not turned in all money collected during the drives Oct. 26-28 and Nov. 3-5.

Students contributed $5924.97 and the faculty and administration donated $1924.10.

Students designated $3006.10 of their contributions, Gibbs said. This year, for the first time, students were able to designate to which of the 11 groups included in the drive they wished their money given.

Total contributions received from the faculty and administration members were designated to the Penn State Christian Association, the Penn State Student Scholarship fund, the World University Service and the Women's Student Government Christmas Fund.

Faculty and administration members were not asked to contribute to organizations which conduct drives in town. They have always been able to designate their contributions.

Undesignated funds received from students totaled $3852.94, Gibbs said. This includes $456.26 received from the Powder Bowl touch football game between Kappa Kappa Gamma and Pi Beta Phi and $934.68 received from the Kick-Off dance Sept. 25.

The Penn State Christian Association received the most in designated funds. It received $1385.98, Gibbs said. The scholarship fund was second, receiving $679.98.

Other groups and the funds designated to them are the Damon Runyon Cancer fund, $567.63; the American Cancer Society, $481.74; WUS, $426.18; Cerebral Palsy fund, $497.56.

The American Heart Association, $368.39; the Salvation Army, $255.44; WSGA Christmas fund, $208.82; the American Red Cross, $147.97; and the State College Welfare fund, $23.46.

The amount of undesignated funds to be given the groups has not yet been tabulated, Gibbs said. Proceeds received from events held later in the year will be added to the total of undesignated funds.

Undesignated funds will be distributed on the following percentage basis: PSCA, 35 per cent; WUS, 20; scholarship fund, 10; American Red Cross, Salvation Army, Cerebral Palsy fund, and the American Heart Association, 5; WSGA Christmas fund, 4; Damon Runyon Cancer fund and the American Cancer Society, 2.5; and the State College Welfare fund, 1.

Gibbs said about 30 solicitors have not turned in money collected during the drive. He asked that envelopes be returned immediately.
