

All-East Selections Made IM Boxing To Begin

Four Lion Gridders Are Named

Four Penn State gridders, Co-captain Tony Rados, Roosevelt Grier, Jim Garrity, and Lenny Moore, were mentioned on several of the all-East elevens selected by various newspapers and magazines throughout the nation.

Collier's magazine, which conducts one of the most exhaustive polls in the country, picked Rados to fill one of the four back-field positions. Rados, who hit the national spotlight with his sensational passing and quarterbacking of the Nittany Lions this season, holds almost every passing record in the Penn State record book.

Rados also received honorable mention on the Associated Press gridiron squad. Garrity was the only Lion named to the all-East first string by the AP. The Nittany end played well offensively and defensively, although it was his offensive play which first attracted attention. Moore, fleet halfback, was given honorable mention in the same poll.

Garrity Picked by INS

Garrity placed on the all-East squad chosen by the International News Service, while Rados and Moore were named to the second team. Grier was given honorable mention on the Newspaper Editors Association team. The American Football Coaches Association picked Rados as all-East quarterback.

Of the four Lions who have been honored so far, only one, Rados, is a senior. The Steelton Slingshot completed 81 of 171 passes for 1025 yards this season. Twelve of his passes were intercepted and eight went for touchdowns. During his three years on the Nittany varsity Rados passed for a grand total of 2437 yards and 18 scores. He set the previous Nittany high of 997 yards through the air lanes last year in ten games. His new mark, set this year, was accomplished in nine contests. He will end his college career in the Blue-Gray game at Montgomery, Ala.

Fleck Picked All-America

Bob Fleck, Syracuse's 243 pound guard, has been named to several all-American elevens and to most all-East teams. Several other Nittany opponents have gained recognition. Among those who have been named to all-East squads are West Virginia's Freddie Wyant, Bob Orders, and Bruce Bosely. Dick Deitrick, Pittsburgh, and Jack Shanafelt, Pennsylvania, have also been mentioned.

Take Your Pick In Bowl Contests

NEW YORK, Nov. 30 (AP)—The lineup of the football bowls on Friday, Jan. 1:

Rose Bowl — Michigan State vs. UCLA.

Sugar Bowl — Georgia Tech vs. West Virginia.

Orange Bowl — Maryland vs. Oklahoma.

Cotton Bowl — Rice vs. Alabama.

Gator Bowl — Auburn vs. Texas Tech.

Sun Bowl — Mississippi Southern vs. Texas Western.

Tangerine Bowl — Arkansas State vs. East Texas State.

Writers Blast W.Va. Selection

By the Associated Press

Two New Orleans sports editors said in their columns that the Sugar Bowl apparently picked West Virginia as a "safe" opponent for Georgia Tech in the New Year's Day football game.

The third sports editor said the selectors "followed their set policy" of giving all teams "an equal chance for a bowl game."

Both angry sports editors didn't think much better of Georgia Tech's selection over three other possible Southeastern Conference teams, Kentucky, Auburn and Mississippi.

And both said they believe Tech Coach Bobby Dodd dictated the selection of West Virginia as a "safe" opponent for the Engineers.

In Atlanta, Dodd answered, "I had absolutely nothing to do with who was selected. I told the Sugar Bowl committee that anyone they chose would be satisfactory with us. Furthermore, to my knowledge no team has ever told the Sugar Bowl who to select for their opponent. We would be very happy to play anyone they chose."

At Morgantown, W. Va., Coach Art (Pappy) Lewis of the Mountaineers, commented:

"We'll wait and see what happens New Year's Day. We were invited and we accepted. We are tickled to go to the Sugar Bowl. Our boys will make a good showing."

Glaude was one of the strongest boosters of Texas Tech, a prime contender for the bowl.

Bill Keefe of the Times-Picayune said yesterday's announcement of West Virginia's selection "was received first with incredulity and then with astonishment."

Hap Glaude of the Item asked, "Why the stampede into the quickie executive sessions to name first Tech and then West Virginia?"

"What happened to such stalwarts as Auburn, Texas, Baylor, Rice and Texas Tech (my heart is breaking) to disqualify them from 'consideration' before they had an opportunity to cast their final ballots?"

All three sports editors said there was doubt that West Virginia was in the same class with Georgia Tech, or several other possible SEC selections.

Harry Martinez of the States commented, "no doubt there are many who don't think the Mountaineers played the schedule to warrant the selection . . . We've seen other teams when the selection didn't make a big hit, yet on New Year's Day these teams really proved worthy of the confidence placed in them by the Sugar Bowlers . . . It can happen again."

Chisox Sign Marty Marion As Coach

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 30 (AP)—Marty Marion, who managed the last place St. Louis Browns in 1953, has been signed as coach of the Chicago White Sox, it was announced tonight.

Marion, who had piloted the St. Louis Cardinals to a third place finish in 1951 before joining the Browns as a player-coach the following season, was dropped by the Baltimore Orioles after they inherited the Browns last month, although his three-year contract had another year to go.

Roger Cramer, who coached the White Sox last season, was dropped to make room for Marion. Cramer has been offered another job in the organization but has not yet made his decision. The other Chicago coaches are holdovers Lum Harris and Ray Berres.

The 1953 IM boxing program, one of the most popular from a contestant's as well as from a spectator's angle, gets started tonight at Rec Hall. The opening bout is scheduled for 5 p.m. Seventeen fights are listed for tonight.

Delta Upsilon will be seeking to continue its strangle-hold on the fraternity diadem. The DU's are defending champs, in addition to having taken the crown in 1951 and sharing it with Beta Theta Pi the year before that.

Three contestants will be back to seek to regain laurels they won last year. Delta Chi's Joe Messerman, who copped honors in the 135 pound class last year, has moved up into the 145 pound weight division this year in accordance with IM rules. They state that a champion must move up at least one class from that in which he won. Messerman tangles with Frank Locotos of Pi Kappa Alpha tonight.

McGraw Moves to 128

Jim McGraw, Phi Sigma Kappa's champ in the 121 class last year is back in the 128 pound division, while independent Larry Fornicola, winner in 135 in 1952, is set to go in the 145 pound section.

Another fraternity champ, Nick McChesney of Phi Kappa Sigma, is listed as alternate for his team this year.

The fights are scheduled to start at 5 p.m. each day. Participants who do not have a late afternoon class are requested by the IM office to report for weigh-in at 4:30 p.m. Those who are in class until 5 p.m. must be weighed-in not later than 5:25 p.m.

Weight Range

Weigh classes range from 121 pounds to 175, with an unlimited group above that. Bouts each night are boxed in the order in which opponents weigh-in. For example, the first two opponents to weigh-in will box first, and so on.

The IM directors, Gene Bischoff and Dutch Sykes, have urged boxers to report promptly to the scales in the north locker room with their physical cards.

Army Rated First In East by Saylor

If your choice for the best Eastern collegiate football team is Army, then you agree with the Saylor rating system which was released yesterday.

Dr. Roger B. Saylor, associate professor at the University, who is becoming well-known for his accurate standings rates Army, Navy, Penn State, Harvard, and Penn, in that order, as the East's top five.

Although Saylor perfected the system while serving in the Pacific during World War II, this is only the second time that he has publicized his collegiate standings. In revealing his 1953 standings, Saylor observes that Army's final rating (463) is the lowest to be accredited to the Eastern leader in eight years of study and testing.

Saylor's system, which is slowly gaining widespread recognition in high school as well as college ranks, selects his ratings by a mathematical formula. That is, the relative strength of all opposition and thereafter is determined only with each team's fate against that opposition.

Saylor's 1953 Eastern ratings:

Rank	Team	W L T	Rating
1.	Army	7-1-1	463
2.	Navy	4-3-2	426
3.	Penn State	6-3-0	419

Rec Hall Gets New Paint Job

Recreation Hall is undergoing a partial brightening up this week as part of the physical plant's year-round maintenance program. The painting started last week.

The concrete portals are getting a gray coat and the ceiling around the concourse is being painted light cream.

It is the first time since the construction of Rec Hall that the portals have been painted, according to Charles A. Lamm, supervisor of building maintenance and operation. The concourse ceiling was last painted in 1942, Lamm said.
