

Did You Know

Sam's Song

By SAM PROCOPIO
Collegian Sports Editor

That Penn State's 1955 football schedule will be released soon with Navy and Pittsburgh as the surprising home attractions . . . that this schedule will only have four of its opponents play at Beaver Field . . . that Co-captain Tony Rados, who played 373 out of a possible 540 minutes to lead State's "iron man" hole, is the first Nittany Lion gridder in 67 years to win Eastern passing honors . . . that Rados in nine games this year passed for 1025 yards compared to 997 yards in ten games last year . . .

That the Cleveland Browns liked the versatility of end Jim Garrity and tackle Rosey Grier at the Pitt-Penn State contest (don't be surprised if both players are drafted at the professional's Winter meetings, although they have another year's eligibility) . . . that the 77-yard run from scrimmage by halfback Dick Jones against Boston U. has been tabbed as the second longest in modern Penn State football history . . . that it would have been an all-time record but the officials claimed he stepped out of bounds, although the movies show he didn't . . .

The guard Pete Schoderbek and Rados will play on Coach Rip Engle's squad for the Blue-Gray post season football game at Montgomery, Ala. . . that Co-captain Don Malinak accepted an invitation to play for Stu Holcomb's North squad in the North-South Shrine game at Miami, Fla. . . that Rados turned down an invitation to play in the East-West Shrine Bowl at San Francisco, Calif. . . that in Penn State's football history the Lions passed the 10,000 scoring mark when it defeated Fordham, 28-21 . . . that Penn State totaled 10,079 scoring points against its opponents, while its adversaries are short of the 5000 goal by 25 points.

That Engle believes his 1953 (6-3) football team probably was the best of his college coaching career (despite his 1952 team and Brown U. squads had better records) . . . that Bud Dudley, athletic director at Villanova, is promoting the Northeastern Football Conference because he is riding "on the hot seat" (to produce now or never) . . . that Milt Campbell, football and U.S. Olympic track star, missed becoming a student at the University because of Penn State's fine academic standings . . . that he is now matriculated at Indiana University . . .

That Coach Ken Hosterman's first season as Lion soccer mentor was almost highlighted with a bowl bid (until his loss to Temple, 2-0) . . . that Penn State will have two national and eastern defending champions—Wrestling and Gymnastics—go against the best this season to protect their crowns and winning streaks . . . that Coach Charlie Speidel's matmen are unbeaten in three years and in 29 matches . . . that Dick Lemyre, All-College President, is tabbed as the "University's Choice" in wrestling . . . that last year Penn State became the first Eastern team to win wrestling's NCAA title in the sport's history . . .

That Coatesville's Rod Perry, champion high school track star who will perform for Penn State's freshman team, is outstanding as a vocalist . . . that the Swedish National Gymnastic team will appear at Rec Hall Jan. 16 to meet Coach Gene Weiststone's NCAA and Eastern champions on a competitive basis rather than an exhibition match (as intended) . . . that this is the first European gymnastic team to visit the United States in more than four years . . .

That Bob Fleck, Syracuse guard, made the INS All-America squad and only made second team All-East, selected by the Associated Press . . . that Bob Orders, West Virginia's center, was first team All-American by NEA, but nowhere on the INS squad . . . that such "confused" selections have been made by most national press services or coaches associations . . .

That Engle and Ivy Williamson, Wisconsin coach, were tipped off that there was a good high school prospect in South Carolina that the informant could not use on his team because that player was a Negro. He was J. C. Caroline, Illinois sophomore sensation . . . that Penn State's only hope to land a gridder on any All-America team is the one headed by Harry Wismer.

Athletic Officials Of Penn Dampen Coaching Rumors

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 30 (AP)—University of Pennsylvania athletic officials today put a quiet to rumors they would introduce their new football coach tomorrow with an announcement that a committee has been named to scan the field of candidates.

And, the kicker is this statement in the announcement: "The committee hopes to make a recommendation about the 1st of January."

The committee is made up of three faculty members and the new football captain, to be elected tomorrow afternoon. The 1953 captain, halfback George Bosseler, is an ex-officio member of the committee; that is, he can't vote on the committee's recommendations.

The faculty members named to the committee today are Prof. Lester Klimm, Athletic Dean Gene Gisburne and Athletic Director Jerry Ford.

Cagers to Open Season Saturday

The Penn State basketball team will open its 19-game schedule Saturday night at Rec Hall when it meets a traditionally strong Washington and Jefferson quintet.

The Lions, who last year won 15 and lost nine, will play three of their four December games on the road. Following the opener with the Presidents they travel to Penn, American University, and North Carolina State, returning home to meet Syracuse Jan. 6.

The 1953-54 season will mark the fifth for Elmer Gross as head coach. Gross, master of the "sliding zone" defense, will field a squad led by eight returning let-terms, four of which were starters last year.

Arnelle Top Scorer

The big man offensively is Jesse Arnelle who owns just about every scoring record at Penn State. The 6 foot 5 inch center has been the Lions' top scorer for the last two seasons, totaling 900 points. Last year he averaged 17 points per game. Along with Arnelle, Jack Sherry (6-1), Ed Haag (6-3), and Ron Weidenhammer (6-1), will spearhead the Nittany attack.

Lettermen Jim Blocker (6-4), Jim Brewer (6-1), Dave Edwards (6-1), and Bob Rohland (6-2), have all seen plenty of action in the past and should be key men this year.

Behind his eight lettermen, Gross has several promising soph-

in pre-season practice. Chuck Christiansen, Harry Holm, Rudy omores who have been standouts Marisa, and Earl Fields are expected to see considerable action.

The game will mark the 26th meeting of the two schools with the Lions holding a decided edge, 18-8. Last year the Grossmen whipped W&J at Rec Hall, 62-50.

Cage Clinic Scheduled

The contest will climax a basketball clinic scheduled to start Saturday afternoon in Rec Hall. Included in the program will be demonstrations of the fundamentals of the game, zone defense formations, zone press defenses, offensive variations, jump ball formations, rule interpretations, and treatment of injuries.

John Lawther, assistant dean of the School of Physical Education, Gross, assistant coach John Egli, and trainer Chuck Medler will take part in the demonstrations.

Seixas Loses In Net Tuneup

MELBOURNE Nov. 30 (AP)—Vic Seixas of Philadelphia, is out of the Victorian Tennis tournament but he played nine hard sets today and then walked off the courts with a strong step.

That is the one encouraging item for the hard-luck U.S. Davis Cup team playing its final tuneup tournament before the Interzone and Challenge round matches.

Seixas bowed in a second round match at the Kooyong courts to Australia's George Worthington, 6-3, 6-0, 4-6, 8-6, 6-1.

to Lock Haven State Teachers College for a final practice game before the season opens. The Nittanians have scrimmaged St. Francis and Bloomsburg in other practice tilts.
