

Group Rehearses for Sunday Concert

THE STATE COLLEGE Choral Society rehearses for its annual Christmas Concert to be held Sunday at St. Paul's Methodist Church. A chorale choir, a chamber orchestra, and a double brass quartet will participate in performances at 3:30 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. Fifteen students will be among the 166 participating in the program. Free tickets are available for the concert which will include Bach's Mass in B minor and the Christmas Oratorio.

Chorus to Present Christmas Program

The State College Choral Society will sing selections by Bach at its fifth annual Christmas program Sunday at St. Paul's Methodist Church.

Fifteen students will be among the 166 participating in performances at 3:30 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. A double brass quartet will play chorales from the church tower for a half hour preceding each performance.

Admission will be by ticket only. Free tickets are available at the Student Union desk in Old Main, Blair's Gift Shop, the Harmony Shop, Keeler's Book Store, and the College Book Store.

Ticket Holders' Seats
Seats will be reserved for ticket holders until 15 minutes before the performance begins.

The concert will include choruses and duets from the Kyrie, the Gloria, and the Sanctus, sections from the Mass in B minor.

A chorale choir and the chorale players will sing chorales and recitatives from the Christmas Oratorio. A chamber orchestra will accompany the singing.

Students participating in the program are Joan McKinley, Joan Else, Leonore Babione, Barbara Bistline, Frances O'Connor, Fred Orkiseki, Charles Springman, Roger Staub, Patricia Farrell, David and Peter Fishburn, Gene Phillips, George Smith, Noah Thompson, and Allen Wyand.

Organ Preludes
Mrs. Dorothea Roscoe, organist, will play two chorale preludes for organ.

The faculty recital scheduled Sunday afternoon in Schwab Auditorium has been canceled because of the choral society program.

SU to Sponsor Dance Friday Night at TUB

The Student Union will sponsor an old-fashioned hoedown square dance from 8 to 10:30 p.m. Friday at the Temporary Union Building.

Music will be provided by the Georgia Beavers, with Duane Beals doing the calling. Beals and his Georgia Beavers are a new group at the University. The dance is open and no admission will be charged.

brethren), or in the private (not mass) pursuit of coeds.

That these activities are not at times most enjoyable, I will not deny. But I somehow got the idea that there might be a few other things in my head when I leave.

Probably the most accurate expression in the column is, "For one thing, I didn't have any opinions, learned or otherwise, due to lack of knowledge."

Few opinions expressed in college newspapers are particularly learned. Some are not learned because of a lack of facts. Others refrain from trying to express opinions on subjects of great importance because they do not feel qualified to speak. But the attempt to think, I hope, will help to turn a better grade of citizen than previously.

Ruark's column, I suppose, is an expression of that old saying about not speaking until spoken to. But it seems to me that I once heard something that started: "Out of the mouth of babes . . ."

Eads to Address PSCA Assembly

The Rev. Robert H. Eads, pastor of the University Baptist Church, will speak at the Penn State Christian Association Assembly at 7 tonight in 304 Old Main. His topic will be "The Christmas Baby Grew Up."

An informal discussion from the floor will follow the speech.

'Officials' to Discuss Altoona Basketball Clinic

Women's Recreation Association Officials' Club will meet at 6:30 p.m. tomorrow in 2 White Hall.

Plans will be made for attending a basketball clinic Dec. 12 in Altoona. Club members interested in attending the clinic are requested to bring 50 cents for registration fee, according to Martha Rohahn, WRA publicity chairman.

Admission will be to members of the club and their dates. The club has requested that women do not wear corsages.

Senate Meeting Canceled

The Senate of Women's Student Government Association will not meet tonight. Senate members will have pictures taken for LaVie at 7:30 tonight.

Institute Will Sponsor Informal Discussions

An informal discussion group for women and private conferences for both men and women are two events planned for students during the religious institute which will be held Saturday through Monday at the University.

Leila Anderson, visiting consultant from the National Student

Young Women's Christian Association, will lead the informal discussion on world student affairs at 1:30 p.m. Sunday in Simmons lounge. She will hold conferences with students from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday in 304 Old Main to discuss her work and other job opportunities in the missionary field.

The institute, sponsored by the Penn State Christian Association and the Women's Student Government Association, will open with a dinner at 5:30 p.m. Saturday at the Hotel State College. Miss Anderson will be guest speaker at the dinner for members of the planning committee for the institute, the board of directors of PSCA, and the PSCA cabinet.

Miss Anderson's talk will be related to the subject of the institute, "International Aspects of Student Life."

Other events planned for the institute include a coffee hour Sunday evening in the Home Economics living center for about 100 invited students and faculty members, and a faculty luncheon at noon Monday at the Hotel State College. Miss Anderson will be guest of honor at the coffee hour. At the luncheon she will speak on the topic, "Students Around the World."

Miss Anderson will also speak Sunday at Chapel on "What Is Our Hope?"

Stipend Group Will Accept Applications

The Danforth Foundation of St. Louis, Mo., has announced that applications will be accepted for Graduate Fellowships from college seniors and recent graduates who are preparing for a career of college teaching and are planning to enter graduate school in September, 1954, for their first year of study.

The foundation accepts applicants from the fields of natural sciences, social sciences, the humanities, and other fields of specialization found in undergraduate colleges.

The appointments are primarily "a relationship of encouragement," but carry a promise of financial aid if need is shown.

Qualifications for candidates are intellectual ability in their college record, a good health and emotional record, an outgoing personality and concern for people, choice of teaching as a Christian service, and deep religious convictions.

Interested students may contact Wilmer E. Kenworthy, director of student affairs, 203 Old Main.

Judging Team Places Fifth

Penn State's crop judging team placed sixth Saturday in the Kansas City meet and fifth Sunday in the Chicago intercollegiate crop judging contests, according to Stephen M. Raleigh, professor of agronomy and team coach.

Both contests were won by Texas Tech. At Chicago the local team placed second in commercial grading.

Members of the team are Ned Clark, Leon Johnson, and Carl Swartz. Mahlon Shoup is alternate.

Braidwood to Present Illustrated Lecture

Robert J. Braidwood, of the Oriental Institute of the University of Chicago, will present an illustrated lecture entitled "From Cave to Village in the Near East" at 7:30 tonight in 119 Osmond.

The lecture, sponsored by the Department of Sociology, is open to the public.

Scrolls 'Adopt' Orphaned Girls

Members of Scrolls, senior women's hat society, will be big sisters to orphaned girls at the Crossnor Girls' Home in North Carolina. Each member of Scrolls will have a girl with whom she will correspond and give gifts.

At the last meeting, Scrolls also discussed having a parliamentary workshop in the spring of each year to which all the new officers of sororities and fraternities would be invited.

Scrolls members will be hostesses at the International Tea to be sponsored Dec. 13 by the Penn State Christian Association.

Henderson Wins Post

Dr. Grace M. Henderson, dean of the School of Home Economics at the University, has been elected for a four-year term as a member of the Experiment Station Committee on Organization and Policy of the Northeastern Experiment Station Directors.
