

Senate Rule --

sets a new schedule for refund of fees and charges, including room and board, for a student withdrawing from the University before the end of the semester. It provides a 90 per cent refund upon withdrawal before the end of the first week and a decrease of ten per cent for each week thereafter up to and including the ninth consecutive calendar week of the semester.

10 Weeks, No Refund
No money, however, will be refunded if the student withdraws from the University later than this. Before, the refund had been decreased a quarter of the total fees for each quarter of the semester until the second half, after which no refund was allowed.

Other major changes presented by Dr. Herbert R. Albrecht, professor of agronomy and head of the rules committee, provide that the faculty of a school may recommend to the President that a student be referred to the Division of Intermediate Registration if his scholastic work is not up to par. Before, he would only be

The glow-worm felt rather foolish when he discovered he had been making passes at a cigarette butt.

Said one roommate to another,

"If it's heads, we hit the sack. If it's tails, we take in a movie. If it stands on edge, we study."

Magazines really make the world go round. All it takes is one Mademoiselle, one Country Gentleman, a Look, a few Liberties . . . and Time.
