

Studies Seal

MRS. ZENDA B. FEHRENBACH, assistant publicity production manager of public information, studies the new Pennsylvania State University seal. This is the fourth official emblem of the University since its founding in 1855. The familiar seal as we now know it was adopted in 1874. Only the lettering of University instead of College is changed in this version.

Delay Seen In Full Use Of New Seal

Although the official Penn State seal has been revised, and is now being prepared for use, it may be some time before the new seal with the word university substituted for college is in complete use, according to Zenda B. Fehrenbach, assistant publications production manager for Public Information.

Mrs. Fehrenbach said the seal will be reproduced in a variety of sizes and styles so it can be used effectively on documents, publications, programs, and menus where the old seal has been used. The turnover will be gradual, she said.

The University catalogue for next year will use the University title on the cover, and will carry a note of explanation inside the front cover explaining the references to the College throughout the book.

The chapel program Sunday will retain the words "College Chapel," but the University title will be printed below. Mrs. Fehrenbach explained that the process of resetting type for the bottom of the program was simple, but the lettering above is part of the engraved plate. Changes in it will be made as soon as possible.

The first publication using the new name on its cover, Mrs. Fehrenbach said, was the bulletin of School of Business, which was printed separately from the other school bulletins after the creation of the new school.

Judge to Give Equality Talk

Discrimination as it affects fields of education in America will be discussed by Theodore O. Spaulding, judge of the Municipal Court of Philadelphia, at 3 p.m. tomorrow in 121 Sparks.

The talk entitled "Equality in Education" will have particular reference to five educational cases to be argued next week before the United States Supreme Court.

Spaulding was one of the founders of the United Nations Council and is a director of the Health and Welfare Council of Philadelphia. In 1950, he was the congressional candidate for the Fifth Congressional District and in 1952 was vice-chairman of the Eisenhower citizen's committee for the southeastern district of Pennsylvania.

Judge Spaulding's address is sponsored by the Kappa Alpha Psi interest group in the Penn State Christian Association.

Prexy's Trip Is Featured In Magazine

The recent South American trip of President Milton S. Eisenhower is the subject of a story in the current issue of U.S. News and World Report magazine.

The article points out that although Dr. Eisenhower holds no office in his brother's administration, he has become one of the country's most widely known political figures.

The reason for his sudden prominence, the article states, is his recent goodwill tour to South America on behalf of the United States government. The article places particular emphasis on the report Dr. Eisenhower submitted to his brother upon his return to this country.

This report, according to the article, is being spread all over the world by the United States government through radio reports, news releases, and pamphlets. Approximately 45,000,000 people are expected to see a movie version on the report.

The article also stated that Dr. Eisenhower's suggestions to hold down tariffs on South American goods are brewing trouble in Congress. The recommendation runs directly counter to a bill that has strong backing from some Republicans in Congress. This bill is almost certain to be debated in the next session of Congress, the article says.

LA School Seeks Magazine Name

Five dollars will be awarded to the writer of the winning entry in the contest to choose a name for the new Liberal Arts magazine. Entries may be submitted to Jane Reber, co-editor of the magazine, at 532 E. Foster avenue, State College.

The first publication will go on sale in January. Articles featured in the first issue will include a career page, drama story, the dean's column, and a report by Richard Kirschner on the LA Student Council.

Students who still wish to join the staff may contact Norma Vollmer, 217 Simmons.

Stray Pig Invades Alpha Epsilon Pi

Alpha Epsilon Pi could boast a "pig in a poke" yesterday morning when a stray pig got into the house and raised havoc in the fraternity living room.

The pig put in his appearance about 4 a.m. No one had any idea how it got into the house. Members put a leash on the animal and led it about.

While borough police were investigating yesterday afternoon, the pig escaped. Police chased it to Delta Tau Delta, on to Chi Phi, and finally caught it in the yard of a professor's house.

The pig is now penned in the back of the fraternity house.

First Jam Session

The first scheduled jam session of the semester will be held at 2:30 p.m. tomorrow in the Temporary Union Building.

Anderson Will Discuss Hope at Chapel Service

Leila Anderson, executive of the National Student Young Women's Christian Association, will discuss "What Is Our Hope" at Chapel service at 10:55 a.m. tomorrow in Schwab Auditorium.

Miss Anderson is on campus to conduct a religious institute on the subject "International Aspects of Student Life." The institute is sponsored by the Penn State Christian Association and the Women's Student Government Association.

A native of Georgia, Miss Anderson has been identified with student work for several years. She received her A.B. from Agnes Scott College, Decatur, Ga., and has done graduate work at the University of California and Union Theological Seminary, New York City. She was executive of the University of California YWCA before coming to her present positions.

At UN Conference
In 1945 Miss Anderson represented the National Board of the YWCA at the United Nations Conference in San Francisco. She has also been a representative to international conferences in Switzerland, England, and Czechoslovakia.

Miss Anderson was elected

Zorach's 'Lineman' To Be Returned Soon

William Zorach's granite statue, "The Lineman," on display in Old Main since last spring, will be returned to Zorach the first of the year, Harold E. Dickson, professor of fine arts, said yesterday.

No organization has volunteered to sponsor the statue this year, so it must be returned, he said. "The Lineman" was brought to campus last year by Pi Gamma Alpha, fine arts honorary, as a suggestion for the senior class gift.

WD to Elect Representatives To AIM Board

The West Dorm Council decided last night that two representatives-at-large from the West Dorm area will be elected to serve on the Board of Governors of the Association of Independent Men.

Steve Jordan, elections committee head, said that the election will be held from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. Dec. 14, in the main lounge of Hamilton Hall.

Candidates may obtain petitions at their floor meetings in each living unit until Tuesday. These petitions must contain the names, addresses, and phone numbers of 50 men from the West Dorm area. Petitions must be submitted by 6 p.m. Friday at the student union desk in Old Main.

Members of the West Dorm Council who do not hold positions on the AIM Board of Governors are eligible for election. The representatives will be independent of the West Dorm Council, but may work with the council.

These representatives are usually elected earlier in the semester, but because of the recent revisions in the AIM constitution, council deemed it advisable to wait until this action was completed.

7 Students Attend NSA Convention

Seven students are attending a regional convention of the National Student Association this weekend at Swarthmore College.

Those attending are Hugh Cline, sophomore class president; Thomas Inter, president of the Agriculture Student Council; Elsworth Smith, Ruth Grigoletti, Helen Spagnola, and Helen Sidman, members of the NSA screening board; and Robert Smoot, campus NSA coordinator.

The American student in international affairs is being discussed at the conference. International Student Relations is the theme of the conference.

'On Approval' Tryouts To Begin Tuesday

Tryouts for "On Approval," a comedy by Frederick Lonsdale, will be held at 7:15 p.m. Tuesday and Wednesday in the Green Room in Schwab Auditorium.

The play, directed by Walter H. Walters, assistant professor of dramatics, will run six weeks at Center Stage, starting Feb. 26.

Home Ec Grad Club

The Home Economics Graduate Students Club will meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the Home Economics living center.

Student Held On Charge Of Assault

A fourth semester division of Intermediate Registration student spent his third day in the Centre County jail in Bellefonte yesterday while awaiting trial on charges of assault and battery with intent to rob.

The student is Charles Ryan. The date of the trial has not yet been set by the Centre County Courts, E. L. Willard, borough District Attorney, said yesterday.

The student's bail was fixed at $1000 yesterday by Guy G. Mills, justice of the peace. Earlier the student had been confined in jail on "unbailable" status, as declared by Mills.

Charges Sustained
Ryan was given a preliminary hearing before Mills Thursday. Mills said evidence presented at the hearing sustained charges brought by Donald E. Benner, arresting officer.

Benner said Ryan either struck or shoved Jack Whigham, of the borough, about 12:30 a.m. Nov. 20, causing Whigham to fall and cut his head. At the hearing it was reported Ryan had followed Whigham from a borough taproom where Whigham had "exposed a wad" of money.

Warned Whigham
It was reported that Ryan told Whigham somebody might take the money from him. Whigham, who is five feet six and weighs 150 pounds, was reported to have said, "Nobody is big enough!"

Ryan, who is six feet three and weighs 170 pounds, told Benner later he just wanted to "show him I was big enough." But Ryan claimed he didn't want the money, Benner said.

After Whigham fell, cutting his head, Ryan said he got scared and fled to his rooming house. Whigham was taken to Centre County hospital for treatment.

Nittany, Pollock Dorm Releases Are Due Jan. 3

Students living in Nittany and Pollock dormitories who wish to be released from housing contracts at the close of the fall semester must present a written request to Kearn Hall, Nittany 20, before Jan. 3. Otto E. Mueller, director of the Department of Housing, has announced.

Only upperclassmen may apply for the release. Freshmen are required to live in dormitories. Since classes begin Jan. 4 after the Christmas vacation, Mueller asked students to submit their requests before they begin vacation.

Approximately 255 students are expected to leave the area at the end of the semester, Mueller said. This includes those moving into fraternities, graduating or leaving school, and moving into town boarding houses.

Students are moved into vacancies in the West Dorm area on a priority basis, and there is no need for them to request releases for transfer to that area, Mueller said.

Approximately 200 new students will be assigned to the area for the spring semester, he said.

The original meaning of the word curfew was to cover the fire for the night.
