

Judicial Is Court, Interprets Rulings

By NANCY WARD

The Judicial committee of the Women's Student Government Association acts as a court, interpreting dormitory and WSGA regulations and determining punishment for violators.

Judicial is composed of eight women—four juniors and four seniors. The chairman is one of the senior members and is usually a woman who has previously served with the group.

Penalties imposed upon violators vary with the degree of violation. Blackmarks are given automatically by dormitory hostesses for minor rule infractions such as failure to sign in or out, having an untidy room, or lateness of four minutes on regular ten, 11, or one o'clock permissions.

Sign Out

Student checkers appointed by the University go over the "sign out" sheets to check for latenesses or failure of dormitory residents to sign in or out. At the end of the week the sheets are sent to Judicial for recording of violations.

Minor violations such as failure to sign out for special late permissions have specific penalties. The secretary of Judicial telephones an offender to tell her what her punishment will be and when it will begin.

If the woman wishes to appeal her case she may appear before Judicial. However, she must show she was unable to avoid the violation for Judicial to consider dropping the charge.

Auto Accident

An example of this would be an automobile accident involving a coed returning to the University. If the woman has signed out for traveling more than 20 miles from campus and if she telephones long distance to her dormitory hostess explaining the circumstances, she will not receive a penalty. She must, however, return to her dormitory as soon as possible. A similar situation occurs when bad weather prevents public transportation from following its schedule.

A woman who commits a major violation must appear before Judicial to present her case. Major violations involve penalties more serious than a strict weekend campus. They may bring plain or strict campuses or more extensive action through the Dean of Women's office or University administration. Examples of such cases are breaking penalties previously imposed by Judicial, entering the dormitory after the doors have been locked, signing out for home but going somewhere else, and drinking.

Judicial Members

Members of the Judicial committee this year are Mary Pettigout, chairman; Patricia Prichard, Marie Kean, Jane Mason, Aurelia Arre, Sylvia Grube, Nedelyn Charnbury, and Joyce Shusman.

Miss Prichard is serving as chairman of the committee while Miss Pettigout is student teaching. Eliza Newell and Winifred Rhoad are alternates for Miss Prichard and Miss Mason, who is in a home management house. Nancy Ward is the regular Judicial alternate.

Students Make Toy Animals For Children

Students in Home Art 215 are making toy animals for distribution to children in Circleville, a community west of State College.

Home Art 215 is a course in appreciation of the well-designed home and provides experience in making objects for the home.

The students designed the toys on paper before making the animals from cloth. The toys have been placed on the Christmas tree in the Home Economics living center.

The course is taught by Mabel M. Nemato, instructor in home art; Miriam E. McGres, assistant professor of home art; and Betty Yeager, instructor in home art.

Christine F. Salmon, associate professor of home management and home art, is in charge of distributing the toys.

The State College Women's Club held a Christmas sale last Wednesday. Pi Beta Phi, the State College senior girl scouts, and members of the St. Paul's Methodist Youth Fellowship, assisted with the sale.

The toys were collected in the community and from borough schools. Proceeds from the sale went to the Women's Club welfare fund.

Lambda Chi Members Visit Mental Hospital

Members of Lambda Chi Alpha Monday distributed magazines to 150 patients at the Hollidaysburg State Mental Institution.

Checkers and playing cards were also distributed in the three wards visited. Christmas carols were sung by the men.

The magazines were collected from fraternity houses by Lambda Chi pledges when some members of the fraternity saw need for them after a psychology field trip.

Cosmopolitan Club To Hold Yule Party

The Cosmopolitan Club will hold its annual Christmas party at 8 tonight at the residence of Frank D. Kern, dean emeritus of the Graduate school, 140 W. Fairmount avenue.

Club members may take an inexpensive present for exchange.

Lambda Chi Alpha

Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity presented a Christmas program for the patients of Hollidaysburg State Hospital Monday.

Gordon McCartney, chairman, said members of the group presented a program built around carol singing and distributed magazines and small gifts.

Chi Phi

Chi Phi held its annual Christmas party Saturday night following a buffet supper. Entertainment was provided by the "3D's."

Engagements

Isaacman-Levinsohn

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Levinsohn of Harrisburg announce the engagement of their daughter Joan to Ronald Isaacman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Isaacman, also of Harrisburg.

Miss Levinsohn is a seventh semester sociology major and a member of Alpha Epsilon Phi.

Mr. Isaacman is a seventh semester accounting major and a member of Phi Sigma Delta.

A June wedding is planned.

Burrows-Burkett

Mr. and Mrs. William G. Burkett of Washington, Pa., announce the engagement of their daughter Joan to Ems. William Burrows Jr., son of Mrs. Hazel Burrows and the late Mr. Burrows of Lancaster.

Miss Burkett is a fifth semester home economics major and a council member of Kappa Phi, national Methodist sorority.

Burrows, a 1933 graduate in civil engineering, is currently serving in the Navy. While a student at the University, he served as vice president and treasurer of Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity.

Bartholomew - Blackburn

Mr. and Mrs. Norris D. Blackburn of State College announce the engagement of their daughter Mary to James Bartholomew, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Bartholomew of Williamsport.

Miss Blackburn is a seventh semester liberal arts major. Mr. Bartholomew, a member of Tau Phi Delta, is a seventh semester forestry major.

Nittany 38, Atherton Give Christmas Party

Nittany Dormitory 38 and fourth floor Atherton Hall last night gave a Christmas party for Wincrest children in the gameroom of Grange Dormitory.

This is the first time an independent men's living unit has participated in sponsoring such a party, Frank J. Simes, dean of men, said yesterday.

The party was supervised by Paul Flamono, first semester hotel administration major, and by Jesse Gordon, resident counselor for Dorm 38.

Delta Upsilon

Delta Upsilon has initiated Robert Bair, William Duff, James Garrity, and Ephe Olliver.

Co-Edits

Phi Sigma Sigma

Phi Sigma Sigma recently gave a tea in honor of its divisional adviser, Mrs. Edward Maglin.

The sorority's sixth annual Sapphire Ball was held recently at the Nittany Lion Inn. The dance was given in honor of the pledges, Dr. and Mrs. Benjamin Alexander, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Friedman, and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Maglin.

The Phi Sigma Sigma pledges recently held a party for the sisters in the suite. A skit was presented by the pledges and refreshments were served.

Theta Chi

Mary Moore, first semester education major, was chosen "Dream Girl of Theta Chi" Saturday night at the annual pledge dance. Miss Moore was presented with a loving cup by Richard Fronko, president of the fraternity, and a dozen red carnations by Anne Twomey, last year's "Dream Girl." A formal banquet preceded the dance.

Alpha Epsilon Phi

New officers of Alpha Epsilon Phi are Elizabeth Engle, dean; Beverly Marcus, sub-dean; Doris Dollinger, recording secretary; Edith Brooks, corresponding secretary; Claire Nachlis, treasurer; Esther Weiss, assistant treasurer; Nina Finkle, rushing chairman; and Lee Jane Joseph, social chairman.

Sigma Alpha Mu

Sigma Alpha Mu recently entertained Sigma Delta Tau at a tea. The pledge classes of each group combined to present a skit. Refreshments and dancing followed.

Chi Omega

Fourteen children were entertained Sunday at a Christmas party by Chi Omega and Phi Gamma Delta.

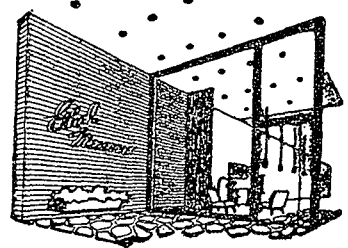

Presents were distributed to the children by Santa Claus and refreshments were served. The two groups gave each family a basket of food for a Christmas dinner.

Town alumni of the sorority were recently entertained at a Christmas party given by the active members. Coffee and sandwiches were served.

In honor of the 19 pledges, Chi Omega recently held its annual Christmas pledge dance at the Sigma Pi house. Dick Dennis provided music for the dance.

Theta Phi Alpha

Theta Phi Alpha recently entertained Kappa Alpha Theta at a pajama party in the suite. Entertainment was provided by both sororities. Christmas carols were sung and refreshments were served.

Thru the Looking Glass

with Gabbi

Here we go again—off on a two week vacation kick and everyone's preparing for it more diligently than for their Friday bluebooks and quizzes! For some, vacation began Monday—others have been going constantly (that's close) not necessarily to classes, but downtown to do Christmas shopping. And of course their first stop was ETHEL'S. (Did I hear another store—watch your language!)

Straight talk from the salesgirl Since it's tough sledding in December without snow and my mink isn't here yet, I decided to become one of ETHEL'S helpers instead of hopping an iceberg to the Yukon to aid Mr. Whiskey—er, Whiskers. So when you peek thru the looking glass and see a red-apron clad delusion—fear not, it's only Gabbi.

Lovliness in jewelry

Is a mild way of telling you about ETHEL'S array of gems that sparkle and glitter like a coed's eyes when her guy gets brotherized. Such a fabulous selection of gleaming gold and shiny silver, that you'll need polaroids to dull the glare. Rhinestones, dramatic on black velvet and bare necklines (Faye Emerson style, if you dare) winking like sparkling rainbows—earrings, chokers, bracelets, priced from 1.00 up. A wonderful gift if you're not expecting the real stuff in your stockings (We mean diamonds—not Jeff Chandler).

Don't be a loser and lose her Give her a beautiful delicately-designed scarab bracelet to please her permanently—colored stones and gold is as good a combo as steak and french fries. She'll love you even more than milkshakes if you choose a Hattie Carnegie bracelet—smart in its simplicity. And a huge hug for copper and old silver Rejabe jewelry—unusual and modern in earrings, pins, medallions, bracelets and cuff links. Let us not forget pearls—real jewels, if you'll excuse the pun. I'm really not kidding when I say ETHEL'S has the greatest selection of jewelry this side of the north pole—different and exciting, stop in and see.
