

Panhel Constitution Changes Proposed

Revision in the method of selecting the Panhellenic Council vice president and delegates will be the major changes proposed next week for the council constitution, Ellen Wandel, revision committee head, said Tuesday.

Revision of the constitution was begun Tuesday night by appointees Iris Rodgin, Phi Sigma Sigma; Eleanor Horvitz, Phi Sigma Sigma; Gwen Griffith, Chi Omega; Carole Avery, Chi Omega; and Miss Wandel, Beta Sigma Omicron. This will be the first revision of the constitution since 1952.

Committee discussion touched upon selection by the sororities of delegates other than the sorority presidents. At present, each sorority is represented on the council by its president and rushing chairman.

It was suggested that a clause be inserted in the constitution that if a sorority is unable to provide a council president during its rotational turn at the presidency, that sorority be permitted to provide a president the following year instead.

At present, if a sorority cannot provide a president, it forfeits its turn at the presidency until the rotational cycle among the sororities is completed.

The revised constitution must be read at two consecutive council meetings and will be voted upon by the council at a third meeting, Miss Wandel said.

The council will initiate a two weeks series of fireside discussions next semester for freshman women. Approximately five discussions are planned for the second and third weeks of the semester in each dormitory unit housing freshman women, Jane Bishop, discussion committee head, said yesterday.

Miss Bishop said the discussions would consist of question and answer periods, led by members of the committee, on such topics as the benefits of sorority in regard to character development, cooperative living, activities, and contacts through sororities after graduation.

6 Sports Planned For Coed IMs In Spring Term

Six sports will be included in the women's intramural program for the spring semester. Marie Wagner, intramural chairman, announced yesterday.

Volleyball, badminton, bowling, and bridge will be played in the evenings from March 1 to May 1. Softball and swimming will be held May 3-28.

Volleyball will be played Tuesday and Thursday nights; badminton, Monday and Wednesday; and bowling, Monday through Thursday. A time has not been selected for bridge.

Independent women who do not play for Leonides, independent women's organization, may play for the McElwain-Simmons team, Miss Wagner said. Women interested in playing on the team may contact Florence Williams, 117 McElwain.

Individual sports including ping pong, badminton, and bowling will be played starting in March, Miss Wagner said.

Women interested in playing individual sports may sign up with their intramural representative or with Patricia Farrell, assistant intramural chairman.

Invitations have been sent to five colleges to participate in the annual sports day sponsored by the Women's Recreation Association on March 6. Mildred McGowan, chairman, has announced. Replies have not been received, Miss McGowan said.

Colleges invited include Lycoming College, Mansfield State Teachers College, Bucknell University, Juniata College, and Lock Haven State Teachers College.

Political Science Club To Hear Reede Tonight

Neal Riemer, associate professor of sociology, will moderate an open discussion following the talk.

Reede was Democratic candidate for Congress in 1950.

WSGA House to Meet

The House of Representatives of Women's Student Government Association will meet at 6:30 tonight in the WSGA room in White Hall.

WSGA Sponsors Drive for Clothes

By INEZ ALTHOUSE

Early this week the House of Representatives of Women's Student Government Association announced that it was opening its annual clothing drive.

The drive for old clothing has become quite a large project in the last few years. Boxes are placed in all the dormitory units and the students are asked to contribute old clothes.

But not many students know or realize just what becomes of the clothes they contribute. The process is organized under the guidance of the Friends' committee.

When the House has collected the clothing from each box, it is taken to the Friends' Meeting House in State College. The Friends maintain a perpetual clothing drive all year.

Collection Box

A large box is placed on the porch of the meeting house at 318 S. Atherton street for contributions from local people. The Friends also take charge of clothing received by local groups, such as the present drive of the WSGA House.

A committee of the Friends meets about once each week to sort the clothing and separate it into the standard categories established by the central committee in Philadelphia. Some of these special categories are men, women, children, light, and heavy. The clothing is also inspected to be sure it is in good condition.

Sent to Philadelphia

When the sorting is complete it is shipped to the main warehouse at Philadelphia. This warehouse serves all Friends' committees in the eastern part of the country. From here it is shipped overseas.

The Friends try to send clothing to the part of the world where it is most needed, generally to a country at war. They also try to send it to both sides of the conflict, as in both north and south Korea, because both sides need the clothes and the victims are not responsible for their condition.

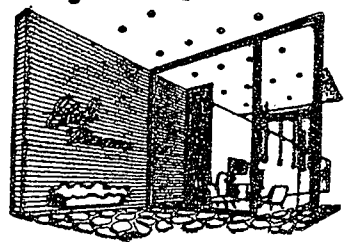

Co-Edits

Phi Sigma Kappa

Delta Delta Delta

Delta Delta Delta recently entertained Delta Upsilon at the fraternity chapter house. The sisters and pledges presented a skit and refreshments and dancing followed.

Thru the Looking Glass

Hil All! Happy New Year! Sure is great to be back—classes, 8 o'clocks, bluebooks—I missed each one with a passion. This preface is all lies and any similarity to your own thoughts is purely insane. Mind if I reminisce about my terrific vacation . . . okay, okay, I'll go quietly.

After the ball is over and the decoration and dazzle are tucked away until another earth's revolution, we return to the unexciting, like wondering about the whereabouts of Marilyn Monroe. But ETH-EL'S never loses its luster and appeal—she's still got interest items that are tops. As an example, picture frames to set off that Favorite Guy's or Gal's photo; greeting cards that are the greatest since Saturday classes; or stationery to suit your personality.

Not a wall safe, but a jewelry box to keep those gems new and shining. For those who didn't get rings (diamonds) or fraternity pins, but other forms of ornamentation like poison stick pins, ETH-EL'S has the loveliest of jewelry boxes starting at a tiny 1.95. She even has a galaxy of glitter to make it chock-full.

Beauty and the best . . .

should be the keynotes of your hostess gift (besides getting it before you graduate). ETH-EL'S has a real gone assortment of ways to say thank you for a very wonderful week-end. We think that a few minutes plus some browsing and you ought to come up with an appropriate and attractive gift. We could suggest umpteen ideas, like a set of glasses, trays, lazy-susans, or woodenware—we could go on from here to eternity but we'll leave that to Sinatra—we can guarantee pleasure and satisfaction. Stop in and shop before you succumb to finals fatigue. See you . . .
