

Prospects Strong For Gym Team

Essentially, the same team that last year carried Penn State to Eastern and National Collegiate gymnastic honors will represent the Nittany Lions in their international duel with Sweden's National champions here Saturday.

Gene Wettstone, serving his 15th year as head Nittany gymnastic mentor, has behind him the outstanding record of 42 wins, 21 losses and one tie.

Under the capable tutelage of Wettstone, the Lions stand an excellent chance of duplicating last year's seasonal record of six straight victories.

Kentucky Tops AP Cage Poll

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (AP)—The nation's basketball experts are pretty well agreed on the first five teams in the collegiate rankings—but from there on anything, or anyone, goes.

For the third straight week Kentucky earned the No. 1 slot today in the weekly Associated Press basketball ranking poll of Sports Writers and Broadcasters. The next four in line were Duquesne, Indiana, Oklahoma A & M, and Western Kentucky. That's exactly the way they were rated a week ago.

In its only game last week, Kentucky racked up Georgia Tech by a 105-53 score—the second time this season the Wildcats have gone over 100 points.

Duquesne whipped St. Francis 94-64 for its 13th straight victory while once-beaten Indiana belted Minnesota temporarily out of the Big Ten race with a 71-63 decision. The result dropped Minnesota's Gophers from sixth to tenth in the national rankings.

Like Kentucky and Duquesne, three other teams in the first 10 this week enjoy unbeaten records. Western Kentucky has won 14 games and Holy Cross and George Washington nine each.

Holy Cross moved up one notch to take over sixth place from Minnesota and George Washington jumped from a 12th place tie into seventh as the Colonials won impressively from Georgetown and Virginia Tech. Oklahoma City and Duke exchanged eighth and ninth places, with the Oklahomans moving just a few points ahead.

In the past campaign, the gymnasts handily defeated such gymnastic powers as Michigan State, Illinois, Navy, Syracuse, Temple, and Army.

The Blue and White compiled their biggest victory margin against the Spartans of Michigan State, while the Midshipmen of the Naval Academy gave them their toughest battle. The respective victory margins read 28 and five points.

At the end of their undefeated season the Lions traveled to West Point where they captured Eastern title honors. Not satisfied with this feat, the lads of Gene Wettstone journeyed to Syracuse in search of National Collegiate honors. On March 28 they collaborated with the Nittany wrestling team to bring double National fame to the Nittany Vale by copying the number one college gymnastic honor—the NCAA gymnastics crown.

Spearheading the Penn State half of the coming international meet will be the versatile Finn, Jan Cronstedt, who owns Eastern and National Collegiate all-around honors and who, as a freshman in 1952, brought Penn State National AAU honors in the calisthenics event.

Cronstedt's specialties are calisthenics, parallel bars, and horizontal bar.

It is in the latter three events that Cronstedt and his Swedish counterpart, Olympian Bill Thorsson, are expected to demonstrate their greatest talents. Thorsson in 1952 brought Sweden a gold medal in the calisthenics event at Helsinki.

The meet, first of the season for the Lions, will mark Sweden's first formal competition in this country.

Co-captains Frank and Albert Wick are the first set of twins ever to captain a Penn State athletic team. Both are standout gymnasts.

Rudy Marisa's push shot from the corner, Arnel's foul point, two quick baskets by Weidenhammer, and Jim Brewer's lay-up, gave the Lions a 34-24 lead and from there on in the outcome was never in doubt. They held a 38-27 lead at the half.

The Lions clearly outclassed the Colgate five in the second half as they scored swiftly and often, increasing their lead to 20 points midway in the third period.

At this point the Lion lead might have been doubled. However, Gross used all his reserves throughout the contest and even then managed to hold a constant 20-point lead.

The Lion first five saw only limited action in the fourth period and Bob Rohland, Harry Holm, and Chuck Christiansen took over the scoring chores, with the game ending 78-58.

It was after this match that Fornicola stepped into the picture with his fall. Leading 2-0 and mastering Nieman throughout the first two periods, Fornicola got his foe into a cradle hold. Once he had his arms locked around Nieman's neck and leg, it was a matter of putting Nieman's shoulder blades flush with the mat.

Co-captain Jerry Maurey easily handed Walter Farrell his first defeat in four contests, deciding the 147-pounder 11-3. Farrell scored his points on a reverse and a "free" escape.

Penn State added six more team points in the 157 and 167-pound divisions with Doug Frey and Bill Krebs winning out on time advantage. Both matches found little aggressive wrestling or excitement for the spectators. Judd dropped the 157-pound match, 4-1, to State's Frey, while Lynch was on the short end of a 4-2 decision to Krebs.

State's 177-pounder, George Dvoroznak, almost had the upset of the evening. Wrestling Cornell's outstanding performer this season, Dick Soars, Dvoroznak tied the score at 4-4 on a controversial take down in the third period. Dvoroznak, who was on the offensive throughout the match, had his foe in trouble near the final seconds of the meet, but Soars went into a shell, forbidding any open wrestling. Penn State still led, 17-6.

"Bouncing" heavyweight Bill

Oberly captured the fancy of the fans as he employed almost every trick to make his opponent face the lights. He defeated Phil Harvey, 7-0.

For a heavyweight Oberly was agile and fast. Twice Oberly had a figure four hold on his foe, a hold rarely accomplished by a heavyweight. In the second period the aforementioned hold had Harvey flat on his back, but the buzzer sounded before the referee could call a fall.
