Gym Champs Meet Tonight

Lions, Swedes Will Compete For Prestige

By RON GATEHOUSE

Gene Wettstone sends his gymnastic team against Sweden at 8 tonight in Recreation Hall, when undoubtedly the biggest athletic event of the current semester will take place.

Doors will open at 6 p.m. in view of the full house which is expected.

The visiting European team arrived on campus late yesterday afternoon at Beta Theta Pi. Following a short workout the gymnasts returned to the house to rest. This morning they were treated to tea and a tour of the campus.

Dance to be Held

Following the meet, the Swedes will return to the fraternity, where they will be guests of honor at a dance. Dates have been arranged for members of the Swedish team with Penn State coeds.

At 1 p.m. tomorrow the Swedes, along with the Swedish ambassador, Wettstone, and his ace gymnast, Jan Cronstedt, will be guests of President Milton S. Eisenhower at a banquet at the Nittany Lion Inn.

The international dual meet between Penn State's National Collegiate Champions and the Swedes, all of whom are either Olympic or National Champions of their country, will be the first of its kind to take place in the United States.

Six Olympic Events

The one and one half hour event will commence with competition in six Olympic events following a half hour warmup session by both teams.

The events will include long horse vaulting, still rings, calisthenics, side horse, horizontal bar, and parallel bars. Three Swedish exhibition numbers, high table vaulting, lightning speed tumbling, and synchronized calisthenics, will immediately follow the meet. Background music will be provided by the Blue Band during the warmup session, and by George E. Ceiga, University organist throughout the meet.

A calisthenics duel is expected between America's 1952 intercollegiate champion, Jan Cronstedt, and Sweden's 1952 Olympic titlist, William Thorsson. The two standout gymnasts will face each other in at least two events—calisthenics and parallel bars.

Juniors, Seniors To Register Feb. 3

Juniors and seniors will begin registration for the spring semester at 8 a.m. Feb. 3 in Recreation Hall according to alphabetical listings on the scheduling timetables, H. A. Sperber, assistant scheduling officer has announced.

An extra two hour period from 8 to 10 a.m. on Feb. 4 has been given registration may be completed without overcrowding of facilities similar to that which caused delay and confusion in September, Sperber said.

Alien Addresses Must Be Reported

During January, foreign students and non-citizens of the United States must turn in alien address reports to any United States Post Office or Immigration and Naturalization office.

The law requires that every alien who is in the United States as of Jan. 1 shall report his address in this manner. Failure to turn in the annual alien address report may result in imprisonment, fine, and deportation.

Information concerning the cards may be obtained at the Veterans and Foreign Students Registering office, basement of Willard Hall.

A receipt showing payment of fees will be necessary for students to register, and Hogan has warned students that they may not use the excuse that they were unable to pay fees in time at the bursar's office.

"We cannot possibly handle several thousand fee payments at the last minute without delay to students," he said, "because many

259 Students To Be Admitted Next Semester

By BETTY KOSTER

More than 259 new students will be admitted on campus for the Spring semester, according to Dean of Admissions C. O. Williams. There will be 203 men and 56 women including 33 readmissions and 41 students to be admitted with advanced standing.

President Milton S. Eisenhower will welcome new freshmen and incoming transfer students from Penn State centers and other colleges and universities in an Orientation Week address Feb. 2 in Schwab Auditorium.

Orientation for new students from University centers, freshmen, and students admitted with advanced standing will begin 3 p.m. Feb. 2 when faculty advisers are assigned from the deans of each of the nine colleges.

Number Unknown

C. O. Williams, dean of admissions, said last night there will be new freshmen on campus next semester, but he did not know how many.

Thomas Farrell, retiring co-chairman of the Freshman Customs Board, said in presenting recommendations for customs revisions to All-College Cabinet Thursday that there were to be no new freshmen on campus next semester. Cabinet did not act on the proposed revisions.

Farrell said last night that he had been misinformed. He said he thought there should be customs for new freshmen, for three days or a week at most, under the old code.

Customs Favored

Joyce Shusman, co-chairman of the customs board, said last night she is in favor of customs for incoming freshmen, provided there are enough persons eligible to make the program worthwhile.

Veterans and students over 21 years of age are exempt from customs, according to the code. Customs were not in effect during the spring semester last year because no freshman women were admitted and the number of men eligible for customs was small.

The Book Exchange could supply dress customs, according to Ronald Lench, member of the Book Exchange Board of Control, but only green dinks could be supplied. Under the proposed revisions dress customs would include the wearing of blue dinks with the University seal on them.

Placement Tests

English composition placement tests will be given all students who have scheduled English composition 1 at 8 a.m. Feb. 3 in 121 Sparks. Students with advanced standing will report to advisers for schedules at this time.

Freshmen and all students who have not taken the psychology test will report for the first half of the test at 10 a.m. in 121 Sparks.

In the evening women students will meet in Atherton Lounge at 6:45 p.m. while all men students are to report to student Orientation counselors according to the College in which they are enrolled.

Psychology Test

The second half of the psychology test will be given at 8 a.m. Feb. 4 in 121 Sparks, and registration for freshmen and sophomores will begin at 10 a.m. Students may take speech tests in the Speech Clinic in Sparks building during their first free period Feb. 5.

New students will report for health examinations at the time and location assigned by the University Health Service.

Cold Front Greets Start Of Finals

With a new cold front expected to hit the area this weekend following yesterday's rise in temperature, University classes will end at 11:50 a.m. today. Exams will begin at 1:20 a.m.

The meal schedule for dormitories released by the Department of Food Service announces no change in the breakfast hour for women's units during the examination period. Lunch will be served from 12:15 to 12:45 p.m. and dinner at 5:45 p.m.

In the men's units breakfast and dinner will be served at the regular time. Lunch will be served from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m.

The schedule will go into effect Monday. The last meal to be served in dormitory dining halls before mid-term vacation will be lunch on Jan. 27. Dormitories will close at 5 p.m. Jan. 27.

They will reopen 8 a.m. Feb. 2. The first meal served will be breakfast on Feb. 3.

The University Library will maintain its regular hours during the examination period. No announcement of hours after Jan. 27 has yet been made by the librarian's office.

Beginning Sunday, upperclasswomen will receive 11 o'clock permissions, and freshman women will receive 10 o'clocks on weekdays during the exam period, in accordance with Women's Student Government Association regulations.

The Penn State Book Exchange, school supply store in the Temporary Union Building, will remain closed until Feb. 2 when Used Book Agency will begin taking used books.

Two Additional Typing Sections Scheduled

Two additional sections of elementary typing have been scheduled for the spring semester, the College of Business Administration has announced.

These sections, listed in the timetable, were added to serve students in all curriculums, the Business college said. More sections will be added if needed.

Collegian to Publish Special Sports Edition

A special four-page sports edition of the Daily Collegian will be published tomorrow.

The supplement will cover the international gymnastic meet with Sweden at 8 tonight in Recreation Hall, the Penn State-Lehigh wrestling match tonight at Lehigh and the Penn State-Navy basketball game this afternoon at Annapolis.

The Daily Collegian will resume publication Feb. 9.

Reds Call Prisoner Move Perilous

By The Associated Press

PANMUNJOM, Saturday, Jan. 16 — Peiping radio said last night the Korean truce will be put in peril when the UN Command takes back from Indian custody next Wednesday the 22,000 Chinese and North Korean prisoners in an anti-Red camp.

This first Communist reaction to India's prisoner plan came as India renewed its determination to go through with it regardless of whether the two sides want to accept the disputed prisoners.

Red Stand Not Clear

Whether the Reds would refuse to take back 21 Americans, a Briton and 325 South Koreans in a pro-Red camp was not made clear.

The UN Command was not only preparing to take back the 22,000 but to free them as civilians one week from today.

An Indian spokesman said the prisoners will have ample opportunity during the transfer to change their minds and be sent back home.

"There will be large numbers of Indian troops on hand," he added. "The small numbers of prisoners involved in each group, plus the reassuring presence of the Indian troops, should make it very easy for any man who wants to return home to break away with safety."

UN Is Willing

The UN Command expressed willingness to take back custody of the 22,000 prisoners shortly after India announced Thursday its intention to free them three days ahead of the Jan. 23 deadline.

Red China kept silent until last night. Then Peiping radio beamed a Chinese language broadcast to its own people.

As heard in Tokyo, the Red Chinese broadcast was couched in somewhat general terms.

The broadcast said, America's expressed intention to take back the prisoners made the Korean situation much more critical. But it did not say just what might stem from that.

No Sign of War

Thursday in Washington, the U.S. Army chief of staff, Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway said the Reds appear to have bolstered their air bases in Korea and to have a ground force there of around a million men but there were no signs of Communist intent to renew the war.

The Indian spokesman who emphasized India's intention to go through with the prisoner transfer plan said India felt a deep moral responsibility for seeing to it that every prisoner got a fair choice to go home or not.

For that reason, he explained, the transfer would take place in groups of not more than 25 under heavy guard so that any man can make a break for repatriation if he so desires.
