Accounting Club Aids In Business Careers

By NANCY GRAY

Through the Penn State Accounting Club's program to aid its members in their future work, it acquaints them with government officers, partners from certified public accountant firms, controllers from industry, and various company treasurers.

In the last two months they have heard Alex Hart, head of Alex Hart Associates, an accounting firm, and A. F. Helleberg, special agent for the Federal Bureau of Investigation in State College. Helleberg explained the link between crime and the accounting field.

Field trips covering accounting installations and industrial concerns are sponsored by the group.

It co-sponsors, with most western Pennsylvani colleges and universities, the Accounting Symposium held annually at the University of Pittsburgh. This year the fourth annual symposium was held on Nov. 20 at Pitt in the Stephen Foster Memorial. The meetings compare with career day at the University.

The purpose of the Accounting Club is to bring to students expert viewpoints from the world of business, to interest business students in various fields, and to enable them to meet successful people in their field.

J. Kenneth Nelson, assistant professor of accounting, is the club adviser. Paul Solyan is the new president; James Wolfe, vice-president; and Mary Lou Schultz, secretary-treasurer. The club meets once a month.

The Penn State Accounting Club has been carried over from the school of commerce and finance to the new College of Business Administration. The club began in 1950.

Accounting majors and business administration majors may join the club.

Hornung Wins Layout Contest

Martin Hornung, sixth semester journalism major, has been awarded first prize of $15 in the semi-annual advertising layout contest sponsored by the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers Association.

The second prize of $10 went to Gerald Katz, eighth semester journalism major, and third prize of $5 to Barbara Gooding, sixth semester journalism major.

The contest is held each semester for students enrolled in advertising layout courses in the Department of Journalism. Each student makes a layout and writes the copy for a prospective advertisement that may appear in the PNPA Press Bulletin. Entries are judged by members of the PNPA staff under the direction of general manager Ted Serrill.

Profs Will Give Recital on Sunday

The first presentation in this country of Leighton's "Sonata in C" will be given in a joint recital by Theodore K. Karhan, associate professor of music, and Edwin W. Gamble Jr., instructor in music, at 4 p.m. Sunday in Schwab Auditorium.

Karhan, as violinist, and Gamble, as pianist, will open the program with "Sonata No. 1 in D" by Corelli. In addition to Leighton's composition, the program will include "Sonata No. 5 in E flat" by Mozart, and Schumann's "Sonata No. 1 in A Minor."

The recital is open to the public.

Nurserymen to Hold Conference Next Week

The ninth annual 3-day conference of nurserymen and their employees will be held Tuesday through Thursday at the Plant Industries Building.

Speakers on the program will include nationally recognized authorities from the industry and its supply houses and from the University staff. The nurserymen will be welcomed by C. S. Wyand, executive assistant to the President.

'Week' Hours--

(Continued from page two) wouldn't be studying too hard that week anyway, so late hours wouldn't detract as much as the Senate seems to think from the student's study week."

Ben Lowenstein, sixth semester arts and letters major: "Naturally our most important duty at the University is our class work, but in this case some consideration should be given to the fact that the cause of the Carnival is worthy, and that the coeds' part in making the Carnival a success will be missed."

Jack Cleland, eighth semester business major: "No, I don't think the Senate was justified in denying women 12 o'clocks. Basically, upperclasswomen should not have to be controlled by the University. They have a good enough sense of responsibility to find their own balance between work and fun."

Lynn Markle, sixth semester pre-medicine major: "I definitely do not. It seems unfair that the men should be left with the bulk of the clean up."

Forensic Head Named

Richard Kirschner, eighth semester arts and letters major, has been elected president of the Forensic Council. Other officers are Agnes Porter, first vice president; Donald Pripstein, second vice president; Benjamin Sinclair, secretary; and David Mechler, treasurer.

Picnic Planned By MI Council

Mineral Industries Student Council has set up committees to plan a student-faculty picnic in the spring.

Ronald Gardner will meet with faculty representatives to decide a date and place for the picnic.

Disapproval was expressed on cabinet revision of freshman customs, which was discussed at last night's cabinet meeting. Especially opposed was the plan to allow dating during customs and to set a definite date for the end of customs.

Council recommended buying council keys for members.

Frederick Becker, council president, announced meetings will be held every other week until the end of the semester.

COLLEGE SMOKERS PREFER LUCKIES
A comprehensive survey—based on 31,000 student interviews and supervised by college professors—shows that smokers in colleges from coast to coast prefer Luckies to all other brands! The No. 1 reason: Luckies' better taste!

When you come right down to it, you smoke for one simple reason . . . enjoyment. And smoking enjoyment is all a matter of taste. Yes, taste is what counts in a cigarette. And Luckies taste better.

Two facts explain why Luckies taste better. First, L.S./M.F.T.—Lucky Strike means fine tobacco . . . light, mild, good-tasting tobacco. Second, Luckies are actually made better to taste better . . . always round, firm, fully packed to draw freely and smoke evenly.

So, for the enjoyment you get from better taste, and only from better taste, Be Happy—Go Lucky. Get a pack or a carton of better-tasting Luckies today.
