

Navy to Challenge Lion Prestige

Grapplers Seek 34th Win in Row

By SAM PROCOPIO
ANNAPOLIS, Md. — In defense of its Eastern and National prestige Coach Charlie Speidel's undefeated matmen will match the wrestling skill of the Naval Academy here at 4:15 this afternoon. The dual meet, which is expected to draw a capacity crowd, is the most outstanding and most important Eastern Intercollegiate wrestling match scheduled today.

With the possibility of a shake-up in the starting Nittany Lion lineup, Penn State's chances to secure win number 34 are 50-50. In order to maintain its present winning streak which began in 1950, Penn State's matmen will have to win the early bouts where Bob Homan, Hal Byers or Larry Fornicola, Dick Lemyre, and Jerry Maurey will most likely wrestle.

Speidel's starting matmen, who are never officially announced until dual meet time, are given the "either-or" tabs in three weight classes. The first is found in the 130-pound division where he said that either Byers or Fornicola will wrestle. The other two divisions are the 157 and 167-pound classes where Bill Shawley—named for either division—and Bill Krebs, and Doug Frey will compete.

Byers and Fornicola have capably handled their men throughout the season and both have been wrestling out of their class

Probable Lineups:

Oberly	Hwt.	Blair

weights, but in Navy's Art Jesser, they will be meeting with one of the better men in this division. He has been hampered with injuries and was able to appear in only two meets, winning both and not being scored upon.

Shawley, who will be going after his first win for the Lions this season, is no newcomer. Last year he competed in the Penn dual

FIVE CENTS

Winning Talent

PIANIST BARRY KEISER demonstrates the skill which won him first place and $25 in last night's All-University Talent Show in Schwab Auditorium. Keiser, a sixth semester electrical engineering major, has had professional experience in radio and television work, and is a member of the Blue Band.

Keiser Places 1st, Spatafore Second In Talent Show

By HANK DIPIPI

Pianist Barry Keiser, sixth semester electrical engineering major, won the approval of the audience and the judges and copped first place and $25 prize money in last night's All-University Talent Show in Schwab Auditorium.

Second place and $15 went to songstress Frances Spatafore, second semester arts and letters major, and the third choice of the judges was Jeanne "Midge" Lippy, sixth semester arts and letters major, a soprano, who was awarded $10.

Keiser, who has done some professional work in radio and television and is a member of the Blue Band—he is a drummer—played for his selection "Prelude in G Minor" by Rachmaninoff.

Spatafore, who is vocalist for the Jack Huber Orchestra, has done professional entertaining in night clubs and on radio, "but not on television," says she. "They don't have much television around Warren, my home town." She sang "What is This Thing Called Love," and "The Nearness of You."

Lippy was a contestant in the Junior Class Talent Show last year and at present has one of the singing leads in Thespians' "Bloomer Girl." She sang "Romance," by Victor Herbert.

But if anyone deserved a prize last night it was master of ceremonies Seymour "Cy" Lazurus. Cy did a creditable job in keeping the show moving and kept in-between-act time alive with laughter. Cy is an eighth semester education major. He has done some professional entertaining.

Winners were selected by the judges on the basis of audience applause. Each judge allotted five points for first place, four points for second place, and three for third place.

Judges of the show were Frank J. Simes, dean of men; Robert D. Reifsnider, professor of dramatics; Robert Koser, assistant to the registrar; Louis H. Bell, director of Public Information; and Ross Lehman, assistant executive sec-

RIL Plans Include Talks, Services

The Religion in Life program continues this weekend with informal discussions, church services, two banquets, and a panel discussion.

Informal discussions on the relationship between the campus and the student and student problems will be held from 3 to 5 p.m. today in dormitory lounges and fraternities.

David Petegorsky, who opened the program last night at interfaith services at Hillel Foundation, will lead discussions in Atherton Hall.

Theodore Greene, professor of philosophy at Yale University, will moderate at a discussion from 3 to 5 p.m. in Hamilton Hall lounge.

George Shuster, president of Hunter College, will lead a discussion at Phi Kappa at the same time.

The three guest speakers will participate in a panel discussion on "What Is the Role of Religion in the Emerging International Community?" at 8 tonight in McElwain lounge.

Shuster to Speak

Shuster will speak at the brotherhood banquet at 6:30 tonight at the Nittany Lion Inn. Tickets for the banquet are still available for $1.50 at the RIL office, 304 Old Main.

At another banquet, Shuster will discuss "Christianity and Culture." The banquet, for faculty members, will be held at 7 tonight at the Nittany Lion Inn. President Milton S. Eisenhower will introduce the speaker.

Rabbi Petegorsky will speak at the dean's tea in Simmons lounge from 3 to 5 p.m. tomorrow. The tea is open to the public.

Guests Well Known

The three guests of this year's RIL program are authors and well-known authorities in their fields. Rabbi Petegorsky, a native of Canada, has taught in the department of government at Antioch College and worked for the Canadian government for several years. He was named to his present post as executive director of the American Jewish Congress in 1945.

Greene was born in Turkey, the son of American missionaries. For two years he was instructor in the Forman Christian College of the University of Punjab, India. He has served on the faculties of Princeton and Stanford Universities.

Shuster is chairman of the United States National Commission for UNESCO. He has served as chairman of the Department of English at Notre Dame.

Five Sophs Named To Platform Group

Five members were named to the sophomore class platform investigating committee yesterday by Rudolph Lutter, chairman.

Fay Hildberg was named assistant chairman and acting secretary of the committee. Also appointed were Charlotte Fink, Brendan Sharkey, Joseph Hayes, and Sol Cohn.

AIM to Elect Officers

The Association of Independent Men will elect officers for 1954-55 on April 28.

Democrats Launch Move to Cut Taxes

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19 (AP)—Veteran Sen. Walter F. George (D-Ga) launched a Democratic move in the Senate today to slash individual income taxes by an estimated 4½ billion dollars this year and by 10 billion dollars next year.

The senior Democrat and former chairman of the tax-handling Senate finance committee told the Senate, "If we are courageous enough to take this forward-looking step before the economy falls flat on its face, we can be of some service to the country."

He introduced a bill to raise personal exemptions for each taxpayer and each dependent from the present $600 level to $800 this year and $1000 next year. That would give low income and large family groups the biggest proportionate tax cuts.

A Democratic leader promptly predicted almost all Senate Democrats and many Republicans would support George's proposal. Several Republicans indicated they would support at least some increase in individual exemptions.

George told the Senate he was "not an alarmist nor a prophet of doom" but he felt his plan would be the proper approach to ward off a serious economic downturn.

All tax bills must originate in the House. But the House ways and means committee has been working on a big tax revision project which is slated to hit the House floor within about two weeks. George's proposal could be attached when the bill reached the Senate.

Democrats on the House committee are planning a major floor battle to increase exemptions to $700, for an estimated revenue reduction of 2½ billion dollars.

Their proposal was beaten within the committee on a 15-10 party-line vote.

Greene Will Speak At Chapel Service

Theodore M. Greene, professor of philosophy at Yale University, and Religion-in-Life speaker, will discuss "Religious Maturity" at Chapel at 10:55 a.m. tomorrow in Schwab Auditorium.

Greene, a graduate of Amherst College, has taught at the Ferman Christian College of the University of Punjab, India; at Princeton University, and as visiting professor of humanities at Stanford University.

He will also speak at the Evangelical and Reformed Church at 6:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Students' World Day of Prayer service, sponsored by the Inter-Church Student Fellowship.

Professor Greene was born in Constantinople, Turkey, in 1897, where his parents were American missionaries. He received his B.A. degree from Amherst College in 1918 and then served for one year as a YMCA secretary in India.

Since his residence at Yale, in 1950, Greene was appointed by the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America to serve on its 19 man Commission of Christian Scholars, a group brought together to study the moral implications of area bombing and military use of atomic bombs.

Greene is the author of a number of books. He continues to lecture to a variety of college and civic audiences throughout the

Recital by Faculty Set Tomorrow

Five faculty members of the Department of Music will present a joint faculty recital at 4 p.m. tomorrow in Schwab Auditorium. The program is open to the public.

Solo numbers will be given by Barry S. Brinsmaid, assistant professor of music, pianist; Raymond H. Brown, assistant professor of music, baritone; Edwin W. Gamble, instructor in music, virginalist; Theodore K. Karhan, associate professor of music, violinist; and George E. Ceiga, assistant professor of music, organist.

Brinsmaid will open the program with a piano solo of Mozart's "Phantasia in C Minor." Brown will sing "Chanson Romanesque," "Chanson Epique," and "Chanson A Boire" from Maurice Ravel's "Don Quichotte A Dulcinee."

Gamble, virginalist, will play a group of five numbers, including "Sonata, B Minor" (Scarlatti), "A Toy" (Giles Farnaby), and "Ricerare" (Liederbuch).

Following the intermission, Karhan, accompanied by the piano by Gamble, will give a violin solo of Vitalis "Chaconne."

Ceiga will close the program with "Chorale, Komm Susser Tod," and "Prelude and Fugue, E Minor, St. Anne," by Bach.
