

Nominations to End For WSGA, WRA

Self-nomination blanks for women interested in running for the Women's Student Government Association and the Women's Recreation Association are available until tomorrow in the Dean of Women's office, 105 Old Main.

Margaret Faris, WSGA elections chairman, said yesterday only eight women had nominated themselves for WSGA positions. Kathleen Queensbury, WRA elections chairman, reported she did not know how many women had nominated themselves for WRA posts.

Primary elections will be held March 16 and final elections, March 18.

A screening board will interview WSGA nominees from 1 to 3 p.m. Saturday in the WSGA room in White Hall. The board will check the qualifications for candidates and eliminate nominees if there are too many for any posts, Miss Faris said.

Members of the screening board will include Miss Faris, Nancy White, WSGA president; Frances Riley, WSGA treasurer; Suzanne Loux, freshman senator; and Maud Strawn, WSGA vice president.

Miss Queensberry said WRA had not yet decided if it would have a screening board. She said the number of nominees would determine whether one would be used.

Nominees for both WSGA and WRA will meet at 7 p.m. Thursday. Nominees for WSGA positions will meet in 101 Willard and WRA nominees will meet in 104 Willard.

Nominees for both organizations must have a 1.5 All-University average and may not have a major judicial record.

Qualifications for WSGA positions are as follows: president, sixth semester women who have served for one year on WSGA Senate; vice president, fourth semester; senior senator, sixth semester; junior senator, fourth semester; and sophomore senator and treasurer, second or third semester.

The runners-up for president and vice president will become secretary and a junior senator, respectively. Town senator may be any semester.

Qualifications for WRA positions are as follows: president, sixth semester; vice president, fourth semester; secretary-treasurer, second semester; intramural chairman, fourth semester; and assistant intramural chairman and sophomore representative, second semester.

Frosh to Hear 'Sorority' Talk

The third in a series of fireside discussions on "What Sorority Offers You," sponsored by Panhellenic Council, will be held at 9:15 tonight in Woman's Building.
