

WSGA to Review Elections Release

Releasing final election figures for the Women's Student Government Association, an issue tabled two years ago, will be reconsidered by the WSGA Senate at 4 p.m. today.

Women interested in expressing an opinion may attend the special meeting in the WSGA room in White Hall, Nancy White, WSGA president, said yesterday.

Miss White said the results have not been released in the past because it was felt it was unnecessary. Women may see the results in the Dean of Women's office, 105 Old Main.

Another reason for not releasing the figures was that defeated candidates may feel embarrassed if the results were published, Miss White said.

WRA Undetermined

Barbara Wallace, Women's Recreation Association president, said she did not know whether WRA would release its results. She said a special meeting of the WRA executive board will be held today or tomorrow to consider the matter.

A proposal to release the results was tabled indefinitely by WSGA in 1951. A majority vote of the senate will be necessary to take the proposal off the table at today's meeting, Miss White said. Then a motion concerning releasing the results may be considered.

Proposal Tabled

The WSGA proposal was tabled in November 1951 after a proposed amendment to the All-University constitution requiring that all organizations represented on All-University Cabinet release results of any public elections was tabled.

If the amendment to the constitution had been passed, WSGA, WRA, and Leonides would have been required to release their election figures.

While the proposal was being considered by cabinet and WSGA, women voted at house meetings that they did not wish to have the results released. Eighty-five per cent of the women students voted. Two-thirds of those voting opposed releasing the figures.

Random Poll

In a random poll taken of 87 men and women by the Daily Collegian, 14 of 25 women and 43 of 62 men said they favored releasing the results. Seven men and 11 women were against it.

Those in favor of releasing the figures said women should follow the precedent set by All-University and national elections.

They also felt that women who think they are mature enough to run for offices should be able to accept defeat.

Pundt to Moderate History Discussion

Alfred G. Pundt, professor of European history, will moderate a panel discussion on "The Problems of Transition from Colonialism to Independence" at 7 p.m. Tuesday in Simmons lounge.

Participants in the discussion, which is open to the public, will be Riad Yammine of Lebanon, Andre Yon of France, Shunil Roy of India, William Pullman of Great Britain, Fernando Rodriguez of Mexico, and Robert Dennis of the United States.

The discussion is being sponsored by the Cosmopolitan Club, International Relations Club, and International Graduate Student Club.

WSGA to Hold Tea for Coeds In Atherton Hall

"A Tea with the Coeds," sponsored by the Women's Student Government Association, will be held from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. Sunday in the Atherton Hall lounges.

This affair was formerly known as the Big-Little Sister Tea, to which freshman women invited their "big sisters." Because the system of assigning an upperclasswoman to aid the freshman coed in orienting herself to campus life has gradually disappeared, the name and purpose of the tea was changed.

The purpose is to afford coeds an opportunity to make new acquaintances. Each sorority will have representatives present.

The tea is open to all coeds. Candidates for the WSGA elections next Tuesday and Thursday will be guests of honor and will be introduced during the afternoon.

Freshman senators Barbara Hendel, second semester chemistry major; and Suzanne Loux, second semester arts and letters major, are general chairmen of the tea. Members of WSGA and the Freshman Council are in charge of planning the event.

Wives of prominent campus officials will also be present.

Mrs. Milton S. Eisenhower, wife of the President; Dean of Women Pearl O. Weston; Mrs. Cordelia L. Hibbs; Patricia J. Thompson; and Mary E. Brewer, assistants to the dean of women, will pour at the tea. Members of the WSGA senate will assist.

The color scheme for the tea will be yellow and green. This will be carried out with yellow flowers and green mints. The pourers will wear white carnations.

Forestry Ball To Be Tonight

Johnny Nicolosi and his orchestra will play at the annual Forestry Ball from 9 to midnight tonight in Recreation Hall.

Theme for the dance is "Forest Fire Protection." John Senft, chairman for the dance, said wild life decorations will be used to carry out the theme.

Two large Kodiak bears and other stuffed animals will decorate Rec Hall.

Tickets are on sale at the Student Union desk in Old Main and will be sold at the door. They cost $2.

Forestry Society, sponsor of the dance, decided not to have a Forest Ball queen contest this year because of the large number of queen contests being held this semester.

Ed Council Sets Election May, 5, 6

Open elections for new Education Student Council members will be held May 5 and 6. Nominations will be held April 28, 29, and 30. Candidates are required to have a 1.2 All-University average.

The council will present an award to the "outstanding senior" in the College of Education. Nomination blanks will be distributed throughout the college in April. Council tentatively set March 25 for its next coffee hour.

Candidates Favor Frosh Hour Change

By MARY LEE LAUFFER

(Second in a series of three articles based on interviews with the presidential candidates for the Women's Student Government Association.)

According to the three presidential candidates for the Women's Student Government Association freshman, women should be granted 11 o'clock permissions on Friday nights.

The candidates are Arlene Borgeson, sixth semester home economics major, and Patricia Ellis and Louise Glud, sixth semester arts and letters majors.

Primary elections for WSGA and the Women's Recreation Association will be held Tuesday. Final elections will be Thursday. Voting will take place in the dormitories.

Hours Under Investigation

The question of changing freshman hours is being investigated by Freshman Council. The council conducted a survey of colleges and universities with enrollments totaling more than 5000 students.

Results of the survey showed that the majority of these schools has later hours than does Penn State.

The major argument against granting freshmen 11 o'clocks on Fridays has been that they have no place to go since they are not permitted to visit fraternities.

WSGA Candidates Agree

The WSGA candidates agreed that 10 o'clock permissions did not leave sufficient time for a Friday night movie or sports event date. Frequently, dances do not start until 8 p.m., leaving little time for freshman women to attend.

Miss Borgeson and Miss Glud agreed that there is not enough time to eat dinner, change clothes, see a complete movie, have a snack, and still be in the dormitory by 10 p.m.

Hour Not Spent in Study

Miss Borgeson said she thought one reason for granting only 10 o'clocks was to encourage the women to study. However, she said she does not think this extra hour is spent studying for most women consider the weekend as a time for relaxation.

Miss Glud said she favored granting 11 o'clock permissions to second semester women. "By the time she has spent one semester on campus, the freshman coed realizes her duties as a woman and conducts herself accordingly."

New Entries Made In Queen Contest

Three new entries in the sophomore class queen contest were submitted yesterday, according to officials at the Student Union desk in Old Main.

Eleven sophomore women have been entered in the contest so far.

The contest deadline is 5 p.m. Wednesday.

Any sophomore woman sponsored by a campus organization may compete. Photographs of a minimum size of 2½ by 4 inches may be submitted at the SU desk.

Coed to Sail For Germany As Delegate

An eighth semester home economics major will carry a portion of Pennsylvania life to Europe in June when she sails to Germany as the International Farm Youth Exchange delegate for the summer and early fall.

Ruth Griffith, former president and secretary of the Penn State Campus 4-H Club, will leave New York June 19 for Germany with 100 other 4-H delegates. She will be the sole delegate to that country.

The trip will follow her graduation June 7 and a week of orientation in Washington, D.C.

As a working guest of farm families, Miss Griffith will act as an ambassador of good will and promoter of international understanding. She will use slides of her own home in Ephrata and other parts of Pennsylvania to help acquaint her hosts with a portion of life in America.

While in Germany Miss Griffith plans to keep a daily log of activities and information about the way of living there. For the first time in her life she is studying the German language, trying to master enough to afford her a means of daily communication with her foreign friends.

Miss Griffith's reaction to the appointment was a mixture of "thrill and shock."

"I am excited, and, oh, maybe frightened, specially of uncertainties," she said.

'S' Club Seeks Constitution OK

The constitution of the "S" Club was discussed and adopted and temporary officers were appointed according to its provisions at a meeting Wednesday night. The constitution will be submitted to the University Senate for approval.

Officers are Richard Crafton, president; Gerald Maurey, vice president; Horace Mitchell, secretary; Donald Balhasar, corresponding secretary; and Keith Vesling, treasurer. They will remain in office until the club's first election in May.

The club is planning a membership drive to acquaint University lettermen with its program. All lettermen are eligible for membership.

Dairy Club to Dedicate Exposition to Dawdy

The Dairy Science Club has elected to dedicate the Dairy Exposition May 8 to M. L. Dawdy, former instructor in the Department of Dairy Husbandry.

Drawings for animals that will be shown in the Dairy Exposition will be held at 7 p.m. Thursday in 117 Dairy Husbandry. Any student may enter the drawings regardless of curriculum.

A full-grown Centipede may have from 15 to 170 pairs of legs. A young centipede may have only 7 pairs of legs.
