15 Indicate Meat Sale Participation

Fifteen members of the Fraternity Marketing Association have indicated they will participate in FMA's new meat purchase program, Harold W. Perkins, secretary, announced yesterday. Eleven fraternities signed contracts yesterday, he said.

Deadline for returning contracts to the Dean of Men's office is noon today.

Perkins said yesterday the program will be inaugurated if 20 member fraternities contract to buy their meats through FMA at reduced rates. The plan will go into operation if $10,000 monthly business is conducted, Robert K. Murray, president, has announced.

According to Perkins, 13 houses said they would participate in the program at the second annual meeting of FMA Monday night. Two fraternities, undecided at the meeting, have signed contracts, Perkins said. Two members, Lambda Chi Alpha and Alpha Zeta, have declined participation in the program, he said.

Under the program, FMA members can buy U.S. choice and producer's choice grades of meat from two local jobbers at 10 per cent reduction of the price given non-member fraternities. A third jobber is offering a 5 per cent reduction in list prices. A 2 per cent handling charge is being made by FMA.

In other action by FMA, Robert J. Grace, assistant professor of fuel technology, was elected to a five year term as alumni member of the board of trustees; Perkins, assistant dean of men, to a two year trustee-at-large term; and John Hyslop, Alpha Tau Omega; Joseph Fredrick, Sigma Pi; and Donald Martin, Phi Kappa Sigma, were elected student trustees. Hyslop and Fredrick were elected for two year terms. Martin was elected for one year.

IFC Weekend Housing Lists Due March 26

Lists of imports to be housed in approved fraternities over Interfraternity Council-Pan Hellenic Ball Weekend, April 2 and 3, must be submitted to the Dean of Women's office before March 26, O. Edward Pollock, assistant to the dean of men in charge of fraternity affairs, has announced.

Any fraternity wishing to apply for approval to house women guests at their house must do so immediately to the Dean of Men's office, Pollock said.

At the same time the import list is presented to the Dean of Women's office, notice of a social event must be filed at both the Dean of Women and the Dean of Men's office, Pollock said.

The full name, home address, and name of escort of each import must be listed and a letter of acceptance from chaperons must accompany the list.

Lists approved by the Dean of Women's office are automatically approved by the Dean of Men's office under a policy begun last semester.

600 Cheer Cagers At Pre-Game Rally

By BAYLEE FRIEDMAN

High spirits of more than 600 students at a pep rally last night for the Kansas City-bound basketball team defied low mercury in a confident send-off to the National Collegiate Athletic Association semi-finals beginning Friday.

Five members of the squad, which will meet LaSalle of Philadelphia Friday night, were on hand in front of Recreation Hall to acknowledge the crowd's cheers.

No consideration has been given to canceling classes Monday if the basketball team wins in the National Collegiate Athletic Association tournament this weekend, Wilmer E. Kenworthy, director of student affairs, said yesterday.

The statement was an answer to rumors that classes may be canceled Monday.

ing Corps band began at Schwab and moved to Rec Hall for the rally. The rally was sponsored by all hat societies.

Emcee Seymour Lazurus introduced Louis Fryman, acting as Albert C. Knowitall, "the smartest man in the world." Knowitall discovered that La Salle was in a class of its own—"low class."

Fryman, who claimed to be an expert on the LaSalle squad, predicted that after Friday night, Thomas Gola, LaSalle center, would be "no goaler."

And NCAA, said Fryman, stands for nothing but "No Contest Against Arnette." Jesse Arnette, Penn State center, appeared then to refute a Notre Dame charge that Penn State's offense was like a "grade-school offense." Arnette reminded the crowd the Cagers' "grade school offense beat Notre Dame."

Captain Sherry Speaks
Jack Sherry, Penn State captain, answered the common question, "How'd you do it?" with "We don't know, but we had everything to gain and nothing to lose." Sherry thanked the students who participated in Monday morning's (Continued on page eight)

Union to Meet, Discuss Recent Labor Trouble

Kenneth H. Dixon, president of Local 67, State, County, and Municipal Workers, AFL, has announced that union shop stewards will discuss problems involved in several threatened dining hall walkouts at a meeting at 7 tonight in Odd Fellows Hall.

Dixon said a meeting is also planned with University officials, including President Milton S. Eisenhower, later this week or early next week. He said action on the dining hall trouble, which he termed as "serious," must be taken then.

The threatened walkout last week was credited to a "misunderstanding" by Ray T. Fortunato, University co-ordinator of labor relations. Union sources, however, have blamed the trouble on old and new grievances, many resulting from dissatisfaction over wage rates and job classifications.

ELMER GROSS, Nittany Lion basketball coach, happily reassures over 600 enthusiastic students his squad will do its best against LaSalle University in the National Collegiate Athletic Association semi-finals Friday night, but refuses to predict the outcome. The team left last night for Kansas City. After LaSalle, it will meet the winner of the Southern California-Bradley game.

Georgetown Game Drew 1173
The smallest crowds of the season were 1173 and 1227 for the Georgetown basketball game March 4 and the Michigan State boxing and gymnastics program Jan. 30.

Three wrestling matches drew a total of 15,529 persons. The average attendance of 5176 for three wrestling matches was the highest average for any sport at the University this season.

Gymnastics had the next highest average. In four meets the gymnasts drew 14,436 persons for an average of 3809.

The basketball team drew an average of 3193 persons for nine home events for a total attendance of 28,736. Boxing averaged 2540 persons for two matches. The average figures necessitated the counting of several crowds more than once since there were five double event programs.

7742 Tickets Sold

A total of 7742 tickets were sold for Recreation Hall sporting events under the new seating plan. This includes the 6152 tickets sold for the Swedish gym meet. (Continued on page eight)

Dulles Says U.S. Relies on Alliances

NEW YORK, March 16 (AP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said today the cornerstone of American military and diplomatic policy is a system of alliances with other free nations not a blind reliance on atomic weapons.

He asserted the United States has no intention of depending merely on its capacity for massive atomic and thermonuclear retaliation to scare off possible Communist aggressions. Instead, Dulles said, the United States would deal separately with each case in the most appropriate manner, making full use of local defense forces.

The secretary, writing in the quarterly Foreign Affairs, clarified, qualified and expanded his previous explanations of the Eisenhower administration's "new look" defense policy. That policy, as partly explained previously, has come under fire from Adlai Stevenson and Canada's Foreign Secretary Lester B. Pearson, among others.

In a speech Jan. 12 Dulles said the United States would depend

WASHINGTON, March 16 (AP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said today President Dwight D. Eisenhower has authority to order instant retaliation against any aggressor attacking the United States or any one of 33 Allied countries.

primarily on "a great capacity to retaliate instantly by means and at place of our own choosing" to any Communist attack.

This led to expressed fears that the United States might touch off a third world war in responding to a minor Communist assault. Pearson said Monday the United States must immediately confer with its Allies if it expects support for its policy.

Dulles' article stressed: "The cornerstone of security for the free nations must be a collective system of defense . . . without the cooperation of Allies we would not even be in a position to retaliate massively."

In a section titled "the strategy to deter aggression," Dulles said the best means would be a combination of local defense forces on the scene reinforced by more mobile deterrent power. "The method," he declared, "will vary according to the character of the various areas."

Dulles also asserted the free world cannot match the Soviet Union and Red China "man for man and tank for tank" at every danger point. Instead it must make the maximum use of its own assets which include air and naval power and atomic weapons which are now available in a wide range.
