

Greeks Name Contest Judges

Judges for the Interfraternity-Panhellenic Council sing and Greek Week poster contest were announced yesterday.

Sing contest preliminaries will be held from 8 to 9:30 p.m. Wednesday and 7 to 8:30 p.m. in 110 Electrical Engineering March 26. Finals will be held at 7 p.m. March 28 in Schwab Auditorium.

Punishment Cut For Offender In Phone Case

The Senate committee on student affairs' subcommittee on discipline Monday decided to reduce the punishment of a student who was suspended indefinitely after threatening a coed over the phone and using abusive language.

The committee voted to lessen the penalty to suspension for the current semester only. The student may reapply for admission at the end of the spring semester. He may apply for admission to the summer session if he wishes, Dean of Men Frank J. Simes said yesterday.

The student asked for a rehearing so that he might have a chance to restate his case.

Action against the student came as the result of two phone calls he and two other students made to a coed, a resident of Woman's Building, Feb. 11.

One of the other two students in the case has been suspended for the remainder of the semester by the committee. The third student in the case, a sixth semester arts and letters major, has been placed on office probation.

Men May Apply For WD Rooms

Men who will be juniors next fall may apply for rooms in the West Dorms from 7 to 9 p.m. today at the room assignment office in Nittany Dorm 20.

Housing officials said applicants must have at least a 1.5 all-University average as of the end of the fall semester. Only the first 60 satisfactory students will be assigned and men wishing to room together should apply together.

Upon payment of a $10 dollar room and key deposit after the student has been accepted, the release stated, the student is obligated to reside in the room during the next academic year.

Ag Contest Forms Available Today

Students who wish to enter the Mr., Mrs., or Miss Agriculture contest may obtain entrance forms in the agriculture dean's office until 5 p.m. tomorrow.

Any senior in agriculture is eligible to enter. Entries may be submitted by the person interested or by another student. Forms should contain the entrant's name, curriculum, and activities on Ag Hill and campus.

A faculty committee headed by Russell B. Dickerson, Associate

Dean of the Agriculture College, will select the winner. A cup will be awarded to the winner who will be announced at Ag Achievement Night Wednesday.

John Carpenter, Greek Week co-chairman, said yesterday several fraternities and sororities have not made contributions to the fund to be used for Greek Week expenses. He asked these fraternities and sororities to comply.

Gene Fulmer, president of the State College Chamber of Commerce; G. William Henninger, professor of music; and Floyd Schlegel, music instructor at the State College High School, will be judges at the preliminary sings. Alexander Zerban and Anna Mae Webb, co-chairmen, have announced.

Judges for the poster contest are Harold E. Dickson, professor of fine arts; George E. Zoretich, instructor in fine arts; and Alexander Zawacki, graduate student in art education, Miss Reynolds said.

Radio station WMAJ will broadcast the sing finals on the program sponsored by Phi Mu Alpha, national men's music honorary, at 8 p.m. March 28. Jay Murphy, eighth semester arts and letters major, will be commentator for the tape-recorded broadcast, Zerban said.

Groups will perform at five-minute intervals during the preliminary sings, Zerban said. He reminded fraternities and sororities there will be no soloists.

Competing groups are required to sing two songs, Zerban said. Each fraternity must sing the Glee Club arrangement of Blue and White and one fraternity song, one of which is to be unaccompanied, Zerban said. Each sorority is to sing two sorority songs, one unaccompanied.

Posters should be 12 to 16 inches in size but there are no other limitations on construction or the materials to be used, Lowenstein said. Posters should be entered in the name of a fraternity or sorority, he said. No limit has been placed on the number of entries a group may submit, Lowenstein added.

The posters will be used to publicize Greek Week which will be held from March 27 to April 3. The theme, "Greeks through the University," and the date of the week must appear on the poster, Lowenstein said.

FMA Meat Addition Still Undecided

Whether the Fraternity Marketing Association undertakes its meat purchase project this semester as announced Monday depends upon the replies of five fraternities who have not returned contracts to the Dean of Men's office, Harold W. Perkins, FMA secretary, said yesterday.

Fifteen members of FMA have signed contracts, and three others indicated they will sign contracts but have not done so as yet, Perkins said.

Final decision on adoption of the contract will be made no later than Monday, he stated.

Perkins said the houses which signed contracts are averaging about $475 in their estimate of their weekly meat bill. At this rate, 21 houses would be needed to participate at the $10,000 weekly rate set by Robert K. Murray, FMA president, as necessary for the project to succeed, Perkins added, however, the project may be undertaken with less members if expenses for a full-time secretary and office space can be minimized.

Change in Dorm Demands Asked

West Dorm Council heard a suggestion Monday night to lower the present scholastic requirements for upperclassmen wishing to live in the area.

The new system would de-emphasize the present 1 required for senior men, 1.5 for juniors, and 2 needed for sophomores to live in the area, and would be replaced by a system of approval of counselors in the prospective West Dorm resident's old dormitory.

A committee composed of Stuart Horn, Robert Gellman, Stanley Juras, and Erth Rea was appointed to investigate the new change possibility.

Econ Professor To Speak Tonight

Morris Mendelsohn, associate professor of economics, will speak at the sixth meeting of the series on "Ethics and Politics" at 7:30 tonight in the Bamboo lounge, McKee Hall.

A discussion moderated by Neal Riemer, associate professor of political science, will follow the 40-minute talk on "Ethics and Political Economy."

Ed Fraternity to Meet

Kappa Phi Kappa, professional education fraternity, will meet at 7:30 tonight in 102 Willard.

Groups Are Invited To Sponsor Booths

All University organizations are invited to sponsor entertainment booths in the Spring Week Carnival to be held from 6 to 11 p.m. May 12 and 13, according to Richard Grossman and Ross Clark, Carnival co-chairmen.

Participation will be determined by the approval of a student screening committee and the Carnival committee concerning the booths, which will be set up in the Windcrest ex-living unit, bounded by Shortlidge Road, East College Avenue, graduate housing units, and Simmons Hall.

Organizations sponsoring booths are expected to meet acceptable standards of good taste in both theme and attire, Grossman said. Failure to exercise responsibility and good judgment in maintaining moral standards will result in disqualification of the participants through justifiable criticism, he stated.

Booth Applications

Applications requiring the name of the organization(s); name, description, and diagram of the booth; and the nature of the attire of the participants will be sent to all organizations taking part in Carnival activity.

Organizations are urged to give each of the names of the combined group to the spring week committee by March 31. George Richards, Spring Week chairman, has announced. Individual group chairmen are asked to address their forms to Richards at the Student Union desk in Old Main in order for the Spring Week committee to draw up a mailing list.

Carnival Blanks Due

Carnival applications must be turned into the SU desk in Old Main no later than 5 p.m. April 7, Grossman stated. Groups whose applications are approved will be notified by April 13, and groups whose booths are duplicated or non-approved because of Carnival standards will be notified by April 10, in which case they will be asked to submit new ideas by April 13. In case of duplication that organization which submits its application first will receive preference.

Only one application need be submitted if more than one organization plans to sponsor an event, although both organizations should be indicated on the application. No more than two organizations will be permitted to combine as a group in Spring Week activities, according to Richards.

A $20 deposit, which will be returned provided the booth is cleared after the close of the Carnival, must be submitted with each application to insure a place in the Carnival.

All activity must be restricted to the confines of the booth, and a public address system may not be used by any organization, Grossman said. A deduction up to and including $20 from the gross profits of the group will be permitted for non-monetary prizes and construction, although this rule does not limit the group's expenses to $20. All expenditures to be deducted must be shown on an itemized tally sheet accompanied by receipts to be turned over to the Carnival committee at the close of the Carnival, Grossman explained.

Ticket Booths

Central ticket booths will handle all money at the Carnival by selling tickets to be used for admission to the various shows. Groups may require more than one ticket for admission to a booth, but this is not advisable, Grossman said. The tickets, which will sell for ten cents and will be redeemable only in the case of rain, will also be sold during the week preceding the Carnival at the Student Union desk in Old Main.
