2 Groups to Hold St. Patrick's Day Parties Tonight

St. Patrick's Day will be celebrated tonight with parties by two of the student church groups.

The Newman Club will hold a St. Patrick's Day raffle party from 8 to 11 tonight at Phi Kappa.

Wesley Foundation of the Methodist Church will also hold a St. Patrick's Day party at 7:30 tonight at the foundation. Folk and square dancing will be featured.

The Penn State Bible Fellowship will meet at 7:30 tonight in 405 Old Main.

A Purim Debate on "The Hamantasch versus the Latke" will be held at Sabbath Eve services at 8 tonight at Hillel Foundation, 224 S. Miles street. Shari Marcus, Phyllis Stiefel, Sidney Goldblatt, and Edward Klevans will act as a panel in the discussion. Members of Sigma Delta Tau will be hostesses for the service.

The Rev. Harold Dietz of Bellefonte will give the fourth lecture in a series on "The History of the Passion" at 7:30 tonight at the Lutheran Student Association, 124 W. College avenue. Following the program a square dance will be held at the student center.

Collegiate Chatter

"Brown Fraternities Abolished" caused a good deal of excitement and concern on many campuses. But the article, announcing the removal of fraternities at Brown University and establishment of a house system similar to Harvard's residential plan, was all a hoax. The Brown Daily Herald editor, it seems, was just continuing a traditional practice of blasting some controversial subject to mark the last issue of the retiring staff.

The University of Southern California has really advanced into the field of progressive education.

It is now possible for a six-year-old to attend classes in the university. The student may take advanced courses in rhythm, piano and orchestra.

It's always been said that the answer to any problem is to find an angle, but after reviewing our marks for the past semester we have decided that in the future we shall rely on the "try angle."

We had always been told that although gentlemen preferred blondes they married brunettes.

respectively, as 1588 women students cast ballots in the final elections yesterday.

Arlene Borgeson, runnerup to Miss Ellis, automatically became WSGA secretary.

The 57 per cent vote in the final elections was under the percentage for the primaries Wednesday. Sixty per cent of the students voted in the primaries. MacAllister Hall with 100 per cent and Grange with 95 per cent led the dormitory turnouts. Eighty-six per cent of the women voted in Woman's Building, 68 in Thompson, 65 in Atherton, 52 in Simmons and 48 in McElwain.

Kay Kingsley became the new WSGA vice president, defeating Carolyn Cunningham. Susan Hill defeated Dorothy Glading for the post of treasurer.

In the closest vote of the election Martha Michener won as sophomore senator over Susanne Scholl. In two other close contests Gail Smith defeated Carol Jenks for senior senator and Nancy Van Tries was elected town senator, defeating Nancy Bunnell. Patricia Dickinson defeated Roberta Sankey for junior senator.

In the WRA elections, Mary Buchanan was elected vice president, winning over Peggy Davis. Mimie Jones is the new secretary treasurer by virtue of her win over Sheila Nearing.

Marilyn Fisher won the intramural chairmanship post from Shirley Fry and Martha Patterson defeated Virginia McDonald to become assistant intramural chairman.

Barbara Nichols is sophomore representative as a result of her win over Alwilda Van Atta.

Quill Girl, who was also voted on during the final elections, will be announced at the Matrix Table sponsored annually by Theta Sigma Phi, women's national professional journalism fraternity. Running for Quill Girl were Nancy White, president of WSGA, Barbara Wallace, president of WRA, and Betsy Siegler, president of Mortar Board.

WD Record Dance

A record dance will be held tonight in the West Dorm lounge, Robert Gellman, West Dorm social chairman, has announced.

Theta Xi

Theta Xi recently entertained Kappa Delta at the chapter house. The pledges presented a skit. Dancing and entertainment followed.

However, two members of the Vanderbilt Husler staff set out to disprove the gentlemen prefer blondes theory and came up with the following fact: Vanderbilt men prefer brunettes to blondes four to three!

They also prefer conservative hairdos with a slight wave and put thumbs down on the pony tail.

Women Release Election Figures

By BAYLEE FRIEDMAN

Women students voted yesterday, 1041 to 390, to release Women's Student Government Association and Women's Recreation Association final election figures for the first time in the organizations' election history.

The vote, taken during WSGA-WRA final elections, repealed a decision made at house meeting in 1951 against the public disclosure of election figures.

Ellis Wins 943 to 550

Patricia Ellis defeated Arlene Borgeson for the WSGA presidential post by a vote of 943 to 550. Kay Kingsley polled 808 votes for vice president against Carolyn Cunningham's 657 and Susan Hill received 766 votes against Dorothy Glading's 598 for the treasurer's office.

Gail Smith was elected senior senator of WSGA by 182 votes against 173 for Carole Jenks. Pat Dickinson polled 247 votes against 142 for Roberta Sankey for the junior senatorial post, and Martha Michener defeated Susan Scholl, 261 to 254. Twelve town students voted for Nancy Van Tries and eight for Nancy Bunnell.

McCowan Polls 793 Votes

Mildred McCowan received 793 to Eleanor Gwynn's 690 votes in the WRA presidential contest. Mary Buchanan was elected vice president by 814 to 641 votes of Peggy Davis. Miriam Jones defeated Sheila Nearing for the post of secretary treasurer, 885 to 536. Marilyn Fisher polled 778 votes against Shirley Fry's 683 for intramural chairmanship, and Martha Patterson defeated Virginia McDonald, 859 to 619, for assistant intramural chairmanship. Barbara Nicholes was elected WRA sophomore representative over Alwilda Van Atta by 234 votes to 177.

The decision to take the election release issue back to individual woman voters came at a WSGA Senate meeting Friday.
