

Wilson Suggests French Training

WASHINGTON, March 23 (AP)—Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson today prodded France to adopt a "more aggressive" training program to help win the war against Communist-led forces in Indochina.

Highlighting American interest over the Indochina problem, Secretary of State John F. Dulles also spoke out on the subject in a separate interview with newsmen.

Dulles said the United States will move swiftly in meeting new French requests for military equipment in Indochina.

Wilson said the United States would "like to have more Indochinese trained on a more intensive basis."

Loyal Indochinese native troops, now locked in the biggest battle of the seven-year-old war, are generally trained by French officers.

Discuss Sending Troops

Wilson said the possibility of sending American technicians to help the French in their training program is under discussion. These would be in addition to the 200 U.S. Air Force technicians and 100 civilian transport pilots already helping the French keep American aircraft in operation against the Reds.

This assistance is part of a military, economic and technical aid program totalling $1.5 billion this fiscal year.

French Win Expected

Wilson said he still expects to see the French win the war in the Far East, and he commented: "They deserve a lot of credit for the gallant fight they are putting up."

The defense chief said the whole question of a stepped-up training program is under discussion with Gen. Paul Ely, French chief of staff, who is now visiting Washington.

He said Ely is "receptive" to the American view "that the hope of finally winning in Indochina will rest largely on the native people."

"The French," Wilson said, "share our desire to get on with the war and get it over with."

Dulles commented on the possibility of greater U.S. air aid to Indochina shortly before meeting with Gen. Ely and Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, to review Indochina military developments.

Keep Probe In 1 Committee, Potter Urges

NEW YORK, March 23 (AP)—Sen. Charles E. Potter (R-Mich.), a member of the McCarthy subcommittee, said today that committee not only can, but should, investigate the dispute between the committee staff and the Army.

"It would establish a dangerous precedent sending one committee's dirty linen to another committee to wash," Potter said.

He also said in a Newsweek magazine interview that he thought there was a possibility of the committee's investigation leading to perjury or other criminal action.

"If the statements that have been made by both sides in this controversy are made under oath," Potter said, "obviously someone is lying, and it's very possible our evidence might be turned over to the Department of Justice for whatever action is necessary, including perjury proceedings."

The question of whether the dispute should be investigated by another committee, since Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis.), chairman of the Senate Permanent Investigations subcommittee, is personally involved, has been raised by Democrats on the committee.

Terrorist Kills Bantouri; Unrest Sweeps Morocco

PORT LYAUTEY, Morocco (AP)—A terrorist today shot and killed Shiek Boulay Ahmed El Bantouri at the door of his home. The shiek was another in a long list of pro-French Moroccan leaders who have fallen victim in the last seven months to the wave of unrest sweeping the French North African protectorate.

Chavez OK'd By Senate By 53 to 36

WASHINGTON, March 23 (AP)—The Senate defeated today a Republican attempt to unseat Democratic Sen. Dennis Chavez of New Mexico. It voted 53-36 against invalidating the 1952 senatorial election in which Chavez was declared the winner.

Chavez refrained from voting, but the 47 other Democrats in the Senate joined with five Republicans and Sen. Wayne Morse (Ind.-Ore.) to reject a resolution which would have declared Chavez' seat vacant because of "flagrant" irregularities in election procedure.

The result leaves the Democrats with their one-vote edge in the Senate, where there are 48 Democrats, 47 Republicans and one Independent.

The 65-year-old senator, who has represented New Mexico in the Senate since 1935, was deluged with congratulations after the roll-call vote was announced.

Among those who crowded around him to shake his hand was Sen. Charles E. Potter (R-Mich.), a member of the Senate Elections subcommittee which drafted the ouster resolution. Several other Republicans who voted to unseat Chavez came up to offer their congratulations on his victory.

"This is a proud and joyous occasion for me," Chavez said in a statement.

"I am proud of being an American and to live in a land where justice and fair play still prevail."

Israel Bolts UN Armistice Talks

JERUSALEM, March 23 (AP)—Israel walked out on the UN's Israel-Jordan Armistice Commission today after the American chairman refused to support an Israeli motion to condemn Jordan for a desert attack that killed 11 Israeli bus passengers last Wednesday.

After the Israelis withdrew, Dr. Yousuf Haikal, senior Jordan delegate, said in the Jordan section of Jerusalem that Israel's action threatened collapse of the whole armistice framework. He said he hoped the Israelis would change their mind and keep the armistice machinery working. The commission met in no-man's land between Jordan and Israel.

Red Surge Expected In Indochina

HANOI, Indochina, March 31 (AP)—Vietminh troops tapered off sharply today in their artillery assault on Dien Bien Phu. But they moved reinforcements and supplies steadily into their hill positions in apparent preparation for a "do or die" blow against the besieged French fortress by anywhere from 40,000 to 60,000 men.

Yesterday morning the Communist-led rebels tried to ambush French troops opening the road linking the heart of the fortress with its southernmost outpost four miles away. The French said their tanks, mobile artillery and infantry killed 175 Vietminh, or an entire rebel company. It was the biggest clash with the rebels since they halted mass assaults on the fortress early last week after suffering losses estimated by the French at 3000 killed and 9000 wounded.

The Vietminh launched a mass ground attack against the French fortress in northwest Indochina on March 13. After four days they broke off the mass infantry assaults in the face of withering firepower from American-supplied guns in the hands of the French defenders, who have been outnumbered by four to one.

French pilots pounded the Vietminh supply lines and rebel positions around the oval-shaped plains fortress in what was described as the biggest air attacks of the Indochina war. The pilots claimed many direct hits with big fires seen after they dropped half-ton bombs into the heart of rebel targets.

The planes struck at an army of 10,000 to 150,000 coolies and long lines of trucks moving from the Chinese border along the dirt roads and trails into the hills encircling Dien Bien Phu.

Atomic Arms Smuggling Warned Against by FBI

WASHINGTON, March 23 (AP)—An unprecedented FBI notice to all police to be on the watch against smuggling of atomic weapons into the United States gave concrete clues today as to what a suitcase-sized A-bomb might look like.

A 30-inch steel pipe five to 12 inches thick and closed at both ends might contain such a weapon. Or it could be a sphere of high explosive with a core of fissionable material.

The Justice Department said FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover sent the notice to police departments all over the country last January, along with a description of possible atomic weapon types so they could be recognized.

The circular was described as a follow-up of President Eisenhower's request last Dec. 15 that atomic violations be reported promptly to the FBI.

They said that although the circular was not prepared for public consumption, it did not give away any atomic secrets and was not classified as secret.

The White House said the action was approved by the National Security Council, of which Eisenhower is chairman.

Some persons have expressed fear that such small-sized weapons might be set off by enemy agents in key factories or production centers in advance of large-scale aerial atomic attacks if war were imminent. The U.S. Customs Service already is under orders to be on the lookout for such devices in the baggage of incoming travelers.

France Urged To Pass EDC

BONN, Germany, March 23 (AP)—Authoritative sources said tonight the United States and Britain were trying to persuade France to stop blocking Allied High Commission approval of West German rearmament legislation.

The informants said that Washington and London, alarmed over a political storm which sprang up here over the French action, have told France that the three Western powers should act quickly to approve the German laws in some form.

France intervened yesterday to hold up High Commission sanction for the constitutional amendments on rearmament which were passed by the West German Parliament last week.

Amendments Authorize Army

These amendments specifically authorize Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's government to rearm, draft men and joint the proposed European Defense Community. The French feel that the Germans might use the legislation as a basis for rearming independently.

Authoritative Western officials said the United States and Britain hope the three powers will be able to announce tomorrow a formula for approving the amendments.

U.S. High Commissioner James B. Conant and British High Commissioner Sir Frederick Hoyer Millar suggested a formula at a meeting of the High Commission yesterday. But France's Andre Francois-Pencet turned it down. High Commission action must be unanimous.

Still Occupied Nation

What seemed to pain the Germans most was a public reminder that they are still an occupied nation.

This came in a formal note from the Allied High Commission pointing out to the Adenauer government that all constitutional changes in Germany require Allied approval. The Germans said the note was dispatched on the insistence of the French.

Adenauer left on a three-week state visit to Greece and Turkey apparently confident that the Allies would speedily approve the amendments. The stalling by the Allies, Germans claim, has embarrassed the Chancellor and strengthened these forces that oppose German cooperation with the West.

N. Y. Guard Orders Cohn Investigated

ALBANY, N.Y., March 23 (AP)—The New York National Guard has ordered "a complete investigation and review" of the reserve service record of Roy Cohn, chief counsel to the McCarthy Senate Investigations subcommittee, a guard spokesman said today.

Maj. John E. Kenny, public information officer of the state Division of Military and Naval Affairs, said a National Guard inspector general this week began a "routine" examination of Cohn's service as a result of inquiries.

Kenny said some questions had been raised, mostly by the press, about Cohn, who is a center of the controversy between Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) and Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens.

Kenny would not say what questions had been raised or who ordered the inquiry.

The investigation is being conducted in New York City, where the 27-year-old Cohn, a reserve first lieutenant, serves with the headquarters unit of the guard's Selective Service Section.

Cohn, an attorney, was commissioned a first lieutenant in the Judge Advocate General's Corps in 1952 after presenting his qualifications to an examining board of officers, Kenny said.

The Army recently ordered Cohn to active duty for training from June 12 to 25 at Camp Kilmer, N.J. The commander of the camp is Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker, center of the controversy between McCarthy and Stevens.

Bomb Hoax Stirs New York Piers

NEW YORK, March 23 (AP)—Bomb scares sent emergency police squads racing to New York's strikebound waterfront today, but the reports proved to be a grim hoax.

Despite a heavy police guard on the alert for trouble, there were new clashes between rival dockers in Brooklyn and Manhattan. Five men were arrested in all. There were two injuries.

Patrolman Warren Urganhart was hit on the hand by a brick as longshoremen fell upon one another with rocks and fists at a bull line pier in Brooklyn. He arrested an AFL non-striker as his assailant.
