

Counselor to Speak At WSGA Assembly

Mrs. Charles Henderson, Philadelphia marriage counselor, will speak, and newly elected Women's Student Government Association officers and senate will be installed at the annual WSGA convocation at 7 tonight in Simmons lounge.

Mrs. Henderson's topic will be "College Graduate: Working Wife and Woman."

She is a member of the staff of the Philadelphia Marriage Council and is teaching a course in preparation for marriage at the College for Women of the University of Pennsylvania. Mrs. Henderson previously served for 12 years as personnel officer and assistant to the dean of the University of Pennsylvania Women's College.

Graduated from Penn

Mrs. Henderson was graduated from Penn with a B.S. degree in education and later received her M.A. degree in psychology from the same institution.

She is the mother of three children, a daughter, 14, and twin sons, 7. Mrs. Henderson lives in Lansdowne.

Patricia Ellis, sixth semester arts and letters major, will be installed as WSGA president at the convocation. Other WSGA officers to be installed are Portia Kingsley, fourth semester home economics major, vice president; Arlene Borgeson, sixth semester home economics major, secretary; and Susan Hill, second semester home economics major, treasurer.

Senate to Be Installed

In addition, the new WSGA Senators will be installed. They are Gail Smith, senior senator; Patricia Dickinson and Carolyn Cunningham, junior senators; Martha Mitchener, sophomore senator; and Nancy Van Tries, town senator.

Preceding the convocation a dinner will be held to honor Mrs. Henderson, the retiring WSGA officers and senators, and the new incumbents. Those attending the dinner are to assemble in McElwain lounge at 5:15 p.m., Miss Ellis said.

A coffee hour will be held in Simmons lounge following the convocation. The convocation and coffee hour are open to the public.

Miss Ellis is serving as general chairman for the affair sponsored annually by the Senate of WSGA.

Whispering Gallery

(Continued from page four)

With the notable exception of the Kangaroo Hop, the choreography presents nothing revolutionary or sparkling. We were glad to hear veteran dancer Helen Tamaris has been called in to do some polishing.

Costumes are bright and cheerful. The overall production has the cake-frosting lightness of a summer holiday. For all its glitter, very little happens and the audience sits waiting for the pickup that never arrives.

We didn't get a chance to read the Philadelphia reviews, but we understand they were slightly rhapsodic, probably out of pure sentiment for Miss Booth. She, as always, is gracious in her own earthly way—her gravel voice rasping away in imperfect English. She is no singer or dancer and she doesn't pretend to be, but when she struts through the mid-way singing "In the Good Old Summertime," she puts the chorus to shame. She is most at home in the Lottie Gibson specialty number in her vaudeville skit in which, dressed as a baby, she sings "Please Don't Send Me Down a Baby Brother"—reminiscent of the late Fannie Brice and her ludicrous Baby Snooks routine.

The book suffers from too many loose ends and an uneven distribution of laughs. The comedy is mostly passe with such jags as a neighbor's gloating "Gee, Mr. Emery, I saw you once in Hamlet. Why were you so nasty to your mother?" and Baby Betsy Busch's threatening "If you were my mother I'd put poison in your coffee," followed by a quip by Miss Booth, "If you were my daughter, I'd drink it."

We noticed one song and two scenes have been eliminated from the original program. If the Philadelphia production is an indication of a revised script and improved score, we shudder to think of the show that opened in New

Packard to Run For President Of Leonides

Loa Joan Packard, sixth semester arts and letters major, has been nominated for president of Leonides, independent women's organization, replacing Joyce Shusman, who has been appointed chairman of Judicial, women's judiciary body.

According to Hilda Hogeland, president of Leonides, Miss Shusman had to decline her nomination because both the president of Leonides and Judicial chairman have seats on All-University Cabinet, even though the Judicial seat is only an ex-officio member.

Miss Packard will oppose Betty Buchanan, fifth semester education major, in the elections April 1. Campaigning for the elections will begin Friday, and new officers will take office May 3.

Ruth Oram, fourth semester education major, was nominated for vice president to replace the original nominee, Miss Packard. Helen Spagnola, fourth semester psychology major, will also run for vice president.

Ruth Hammell, sixth semester home economics major, was appointed chairman of the elections committee.

Engagements

Fleekop-Hudis

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hudis, of Philadelphia, announce the engagement of their daughter Rhoda to Norman Fleekop, son of Mr. and Mrs. Isadore Fleekop, of Philadelphia.

Miss Hudis is a student at the University of Pennsylvania.

Mr. Fleekop, an eighth semester business major, is a member of Alpha Epsilon Pi.

A June wedding is planned.

Naylor-Voyvodich

Mr. and Mrs. Marin B. Voyvodich of Aliquippa announce the engagement of their daughter Eleanor to Norman Naylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Ross Naylor of New Hope.

Miss Voyvodich is a senior in the College of Home Economics.

Mr. Naylor was graduated from the University in January in the College of Education.

Haven and played four weeks in Boston.

The present season has yet to see its first smash hit musical comedy. We were counting on "By the Beautiful Sea" after the cool notices received by "The Girl in Pink Tights." We're still waiting. "By the Beautiful Sea" will open April 8 at the Majestic Theatre in New York.

Co-Edits

Zeta Beta Tau

New officers of Zeta Beta Tau are Robert Gohan, president; Richard Cheskis, vice president; Jack Lieberman, treasurer; Howard Kalodner, secretary; and Irv Cohen, historian.

Zeta Beta Tau recently pledged Donald Schwartz, Carl Goldberg, Thomas Meltzer, Fred Lockoff, Ronald Hollander, Gerson Alexander, and Robert Friedenberger.

Delta Upsilon

Delta Upsilon has initiated James Brubaker, James Eismont, Robert Hoffman, and George Setman.

Pi Kappa Phi

Pi Kappa Phi recently entertained Delta Delta Delta for dinner. After dinner a skit was presented and dancing and refreshments followed.

Delta Sigma Phi

Delta Delta Delta was recently entertained by Delta Sigma Phi. The brothers and pledged presented a skit followed by refreshments and dancing.

Alpha Tau Omega

Alpha Tau Omega recently entertained Alpha Xi Delta. A skit was presented by the pledges followed by dancing and refreshments.

Alpha Xi Delta

Alpha Xi Delta recently entertained Beta Theta Pi at the chapter house. Refreshments followed games and dancing.

Pi Beta Phi

Pi Beta Phi held its pledge dance last Saturday night at Phi Kappa Sigma.

Joyce Gardner, pledge class president, was named outstanding pledge.

Jack Jenkins and his orchestra played for the dance.

Mrs. Paul Hansen, director of extension, will be the guest at the local chapter of Pi Beta Phi today and tomorrow.

She will be entertained Thursday night at an informal coffee hour.

Alpha Gamma Rho

Alpha Gamma Rho was host March 20 and 21 to the Northeast Province Officer's Training School. Grand President Nathan L. Rice and delegates from seven chapters attended the convention.

Dean of Men Frank J. Simes was the guest speaker at a banquet Saturday at the Nittany Lion Inn. A dance at the chapter house followed the banquet.

Pi Beta Phi

Edith Kriebel and Barbara Ruttle were pledged recently by Pi Beta Phi.

Phi Gamma Delta

Phi Gamma Delta's new officers are Dan Wilder, president; Richard McFeely, treasurer; Jesse Darlington, recording secretary; John Speer, corresponding secretary; John Russell, historian; Richard Davidson, caterer; and John Schall, house manager.

Phi Mu Delta

Phi Mu Delta recently entertained Gamma Phi Beta at the chapter house. The fraternity presented a skit. Dancing and refreshments followed.

Phi Mu

Phi Mu has ribboned Greta Jordan.

3 Chosen Finalists In Queen Election

Ona Kay Lee, eighth semester journalism major, Marilyn Buzby, eighth semester pre-medical major, and Jane Montgomery, eighth semester journalism major, were chosen May Queen finalists yesterday in the primary election sponsored by Women's Student Government Association.

Three freshman candidates will compete for Maid of Honor in the final election on Thursday.

They are Sally Lewis, home economics major, Janice Brenner, education major, and Mary Lou Dubrow, home economics major.

In the final election Thursday, all women will vote for one senior May Queen candidate, and for one freshman candidate for Maid of Honor.

Senior women are urged to sign up for the Hemlock chain at the polls by WSGA. The hemlock chain will form a pathway for the queen and her court on May 8.

Voting polls will be located in McElwain, Simmons, Atherton, Thompson, and McAllister Halls. Students from Woman's Building, Grange, and town will vote in McAllister Hall.

The polls will be open from 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. They will be closed during the dinner hour with the exception of Thompson Hall. They will re-open at 6:30 and remain open until 7 p.m.

The May Queen will be entertained by two court jesters and the traditional May Pole Dance at the ceremonies. Charlotte Klippel, third semester physical education major, and Patricia Olk-konen, fourth semester recreation major, will act as the Queen's jesters this year.

The Honor Arch composed of about twenty-five girls will form the second pathway for the May Court. Women students are selected for this group as a recognition of their outstanding contributions to Penn State.

May Day activities are held in front of Old Main.

Approximately 2500 persons watched during a warm and generally sunny day last year as Barbara Baker, eighth semester journalism major, was crowned May Queen.

Faculty Members Attend Conference

Four members of the faculty of the College of Home Economics this week are attending the North Atlantic Regional Conference for Home Economics Education in New York.

They are Dean Grace M. Henderson; Jean D. Amberson, professor and head of the Department of Home Economics Education; and Elizabeth C. Hillier and Margaret Riegel, associate professors of home economics education.

Philotes Pledges Six

Philotes, independent women's social organization, recently pledged Joyce Wagner, Sally Lyle, Janet Kirchner, Katherine O'Toole, Bette Handwerk, and Audrey Fulton.

Rec Society Offers Groups Social Advice

Campus organizations may obtain assistance in advising, planning, and conducting social programs from the Penn State Recreation Society, a group of 40 students majoring in recreation.

Ralph Laudenslayer, president, said the group is offering its services to fill two needs: promotion of a more varied and entertaining recreation program in campus and fraternity groups and furtherance of professional growth for recreation students through practical experience.

Members of the society, Laudenslayer said, have had varied and specific experience in social games, decorations, audience participation events, group singing, square dancing, and general advisory capacities.

One of the society's recent activities was leading Pi Beta Phi sorority and Phi Kappa Sigma in social recreation.

Organizations wishing assistance from the society may contact Harold B. White, assistant professor of physical education, at extension 2163, Laudenslayer said.

Wesley Group to Hold Hobo Party, Discussion

The Wesley Foundation will sponsor a Hobo Party at 7:30 Friday. Persons attending are asked to wear old clothes.

Open house will be held at the Foundation on Saturday.

Henry A. Finch of the Philosophy department will speak at 6:30 p.m. Sunday. His topic will be "Am I Responsible?"

Morning worship will be held at 9:30 a.m. and fellowship supper at 5:15 p.m. Sunday.

Methodist Sorority Pledges Seven Coeds

Kappa Phi, Methodist sorority recently pledged seven women. New pledges are Helen Charva, Joan Kepler, Jean Kratt, Virginia MacDonald, Marian Mesloh, Nancy Showalter, and Shirley Thompson.

Following the pledging the sisters made Easter baskets for the Old Peoples' Home.

Remember her for Easter!

Why not buy your favorite girl the perfect Easter gift—some University Crested Jewelry at Balfours?

Come in and look at the wide selection we have in stock. Please her with the best.

Then too—a class ring makes a perfect gift for any occasion.

L. G. Balfour Company

WARNER Theatres

Paratrooper
Alan Ladd
with Leo Genn

State
Crime Wave
Sterling Hayden
Gene Nelson

Nittany
English Thriller
The Man Between
James Mason

RANCH CAMP TOUR
40 DAYS
SPECIAL FOR STUDENTS
$595
SEE AMERICA THIS SUMMER WITH OTHER STUDENTS
Age group limited to 14-19 years

STOP IN FOR AN EXCITING NEW "SITA" BOOKLET FOR DETAILED INFORMATION

State College Travel Bureau
State College Hotel — Phone 7136
Loisetta Neusbaum Jo Gettig