

Staff Lists 44 In 'Who's Who'

Forty-four persons in the University are listed in Volume 28 of "Who's Who In America," published recently.

Administrative staff members listed are President Milton S. Eisenhower; Adrian O. Morse, provost; Harold K. Schilling, dean of the Graduate School; Harold K. Wilson, Director, Division of Inter-

Two Debaters Will Compete In Regionals

Two members of the Penn State men's debate squad will travel to George Washington University this weekend to compete in regional finals and attempt to win a place in the West Point nationals to be held the following weekend at that school.

Representing the University will be Richard Kirschner and Benjamin Sinclair. They will be accompanied by Joseph F. O'Brien, professor of public speaking and debate coach, who is on the committee that operated the regionals.

The men will engage in what is called "switch" debating, meaning they debate both sides of the question. The question will be the national debate topic for this year, "Resolved: That the United States Should Adopt a Policy of Free Trade."

In the debate this weekend, the team will attempt to win the right to represent District 7, which includes all schools in the mid-Atlantic states, at the national competition at West Point. Four regular teams and two alternate teams are chosen from each district.

O'Brien explained there are eight districts in the country, making a total of 32 possible entries in the national finals. He said the regional finals circulate among the member schools with this year being held at the Washington, D.C., university.

'Sing' Tryouts End Tomorrow

The final round of Interfraternity-Panhellenic Council sing tryouts will be held from 7 to 8:40 p.m. tomorrow in 110 Electrical Engineering.

The first group of 13 fraternities and four sororities sang last night.

Groups to compete in the finals at 7 p.m. Sunday in the State College High School Auditorium will be announced by the judges after tomorrow night's tryouts. Four fraternities and four sororities will compete in the finals.

Tau Kappa Epsilon and Alpha Xi Delta won the contest last year.

A rotating cup will be awarded the winning fraternity and sorority, Alexander Zerban, sing co-chairman, has announced. Permanent plaques for the first and second place fraternities and sororities will also be presented, Zerban said.

The sing finals will be the third event of Greek Week, which runs from Saturday until April 3.

Library Exhibits Biggers' Sketches

A series of sketches by John Biggers, graduate student in education, are on exhibit today through April 12 at the Pattee Library.

The sketches were done in preparation for a mural, "The Contribution of the Negro Woman to American Life and Education," recently completed by Biggers in the Young Men's Christian Association building, Houston, Texas.

The mural was painted as partial fulfillment of requirements for the doctor of education degree which Biggers will receive this June. Biggers also did the Education Building murals.

Soph Queen Pictures

Coeds who entered photos in the sophomore class queen contest may pick up the pictures at the Student Union desk in Old Main, according to Michael Rosenfeld, co-chairman of the queen contest.

mediate Registration; Charlotte E. Ray, Dean of Women Emerita; Pearl O. Weston, Dean of Women; and Ralph W. McComb, University librarian.

From the College of Agriculture: Lyman E. Jackson, Dean of the College; Macklin E. John, head of the Department of Agriculture Economics and Rural Sociology; Ralph J. Garber, professor of agronomy; Raymond W. Swift, head of the Department of Animal Nutrition; Ralph U. Blasingame, professor emeritus of agriculture engineering; Fred F. Lininger, director emeritus of Agriculture Experimental Station; and Ernest B. Forbes, professor emeritus of animal nutrition.

Haller Named

From the College of Chemistry and Physics: George L. Haller, Dean of the College; Grover C. Chandler, professor emeritus of chemistry; Wheeler P. Davey, professor emeritus of physics and chemistry; Pauline B. Mack, professor emerita of chemistry; David C. Duncan, professor emeritus of physics; W. Conrad Fernelius, professor of chemistry; Grant W. Smith, professor of chemistry; William H. Powers, professor of chemistry; Merrell R. Fenske, research professor of chemistry and chemical engineering; and David H. Rank, research professor of physics.

From the College of Education: Marion R. Trabue, Dean of the College; Robert G. Bernreuter, professor of psychology; Bruce Moore, professor emeritus of psychology; and Clifford R. Adams, professor of psychology.

Walker Listed

From the College of Engineering: Eric A. Walker, Dean of the College; Milton Osborne, professor of architecture; Norman S. Sparks, professor of mechanical engineering; John A. Sauer, consultant in the College of Engineering; Joseph Marin, professor of engineering mechanics; and Paul H. Schweitzer, professor of engineering research.

From the College of the Liberal Arts: Ben Euvema, Dean of the College; Asa E. Martin, professor emeritus of American history; Mason Long, professor of English literature; Harold F. Alderfer, professor of political science; and Bruce Harris, professor of English literature.

Finance Professor

From the College of Business: George R. Leffler, professor of finance.

From the College of Mineral Industries: Frank M. Swartz, professor of paleontology; Hans Neuberger, professor of meteorology; and Edward Steidle, dean emeritus.

From the College of Physical Education: Ernest B. McCoy, Dean of the College.

7 Are Named To Lion Posts

Seven Lion Party appointments have been announced by Benjamin Sinclair, Lion Party clique chairman.

Appointed were Herbert Aboff, fraternity publicity co-ordinator; Joan Alfieri, art staff manager; Robert G. Bennett, Nittany Dorms publicity co-ordinator; Jeremy Bijur, Pollock Dorms publicity co-ordinator; Samuel Kahn, and Anna Hoffman, West Dorm publicity co-ordinators; and Albert Jordan, town publicity manager.

Free Thespian Tickets Are Available Today

All complimentary and reserved tickets for Thespians' production "Bloomer Girl" must be picked up by 5 p.m. today at the Student Union desk in Old Main, according to Moylan Mills, director of the show.

"Bloomer Girl" will open May 6 in Schwab Auditorium.

Ed Council Coffee Hour

The Education College student council will hold a coffee hour at 4 p.m. today in Woman's Building lounge.

Coeds to Invade Nittany-Pollock Dining Hall

Four women will invade the Nittany-Pollock dining hall tonight—but not for dinner.

Ruth Kronenwetter, Joanne Kratzert, Shirley Mix, and Joan Hepler will sell tickets for the Campus Chest Interfraternity-Panhellenic Council Ball date contest.

Contest winners will receive dates with Joan Hunter, last year's Homecoming Queen, and Joseph Barnett, junior class president. Tickets for a date with Barnett are expected to be relatively low in Nittany-Pollock, John Robinson, chairman, said.

Hat societies—including Cwens, Chimes, Blue Key, and Androcles—and Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity, will help with sales which will continue through Wednesday. Tickets will be sold in front of Carnegie Hall and in Hamilton lounge for ten cents each and three for a quarter.

Scholarships Deadline Set

The deadline for obtaining application forms for scholarships given by the Penn State Student Scholarship Fund is March 31.

Application forms may be obtained at the Student Union desk in Old Main.

To be eligible for a scholarship, a student must be enrolled in a regular four year course, have at least one semester of resident instruction and have a 1.5 All-University average.

Needy students who must work to continue their education will be given preference.

Inquiring Reporter

12 Students Suggest Senior Class Gift

By NANCY WARD

Suggestions that the senior class gift fund be used in furnishing the proposed all-faith chapel or to provide equipment or landscaping for the new student union building were voiced by ten of 12 students interviewed this week by the Inquiring Reporter.

Other suggestions were the painting of President Milton S. Eisenhower's portrait and the creation of additional parking facilities.

When asked "What do you think the senior class should give as a class gift to the University this year," the 12 students questioned gave the following opinions:

Philip Lang, fourth semester business administration major: "The senior class gift should be something that goes along with the growth of the University. A portrait of President Eisenhower presented to the University would be a good gift."

Patricia Hughes, third semester journalism major: "I think the money should go towards the proposed chapel, for instance for choir seats if there will be a choir."

Arthur Edwards, sixth semester chemical engineering major: "I think the class gift should consist of a donation towards purchasing an organ for the proposed chapel if the money from last year is not used for this purpose."

William Kocsi, eighth semester industrial engineering major: "I think the gift money should be donated toward an organ suggested by last year's senior class for the proposed all-faith chapel."

Ann Ryder, second semester arts and letters major: "I think the $9000 could be used for establishing a public address system in the new student union."

Barbara Woodward, sixth semester home economics-journalism major: "I would like to see the senior class gift donated toward furnishing the interior of the proposed chapel."

Carl Saperstein, fourth semester arts and letters major: "I believe that the money should be used to better the physical development of the University. In particular, I would like to see it used to construct some new walks and better the landscaping of the University. This would have particular effect in back of the student union building when it is completed. A new walk and appropriate landscaping would add even more beauty to the new student union building."

Jean Yemm, fourth semester elementary education major: "I think the money should be donated to follow last year's gift toward furnishing the chapel to be built on campus."

Charles Berryhill, sixth semester arts and letters major: "I think landscaping for the new student union building such as pine trees, shrubbery, flowers, and possibly statues would be a good think for the senior class gift."

Mario D'Alessio, sixth semester horticulture major: "I think that (Continued on page eight)

Penn State Alumni Gain Fame In Fiction, Poetry, Playwriting

By BILL SNYDER

James Dugan, a member of the University Class of 1938, has a current best-selling book to his credit, "The Great Iron Ship," which was chosen Book-of-the-Month for February and condensed in the February Readers' Digest.

Other alumni have made their mark in the fields of American fiction, humor, poetry, and playwriting.

A selection of Penn State authors, together with samples of their work, are currently on display on the second floor of the University Library.

One of the most prolific of Penn State writers was Fred Lewis Pattee, former professor of American literature, who died in 1950. In addition to several volumes of literary criticism, he wrote fiction and poetry. Among his novels are "May Goven," and "The Breaking Post," a novel of college life.

Composition Professors

Two English composition instructors at the University have written volumes of poetry. They are David Wagoner, Class of 1947, and Joseph Leonard Grucci, '32.

A leading humorist among former Penn State Alumni is Ed Zern, '32, who got his early training working on the staff of Froth. Among his books are "To Hell With Fishing," "How to Tell Fish from Fishermen," and "How to Catch Fishermen." He's now doing humorous advertisements for Nash Automotive Co.

Julius J., '31 and Philip Epstein, '32, are the most eminent playwrights among Penn State men. They did the Hollywood screenplays for such pictures as "Casablanca," "Watch on the Rhine," and "Take Care of My Little Girl." They also collaborated on a Broadway play.

Writes 'Weed' Poem

Not the least of Penn State authors is one G. Lee Heminger, who back in 1915 while a commerce and finance major, wrote the following doggeral:

Tobacco is a dirty weed
I like it
It satisfies the normal need
I like it
It makes you thin, it makes you lean
It takes the hair right off your bean
I like it

The doggeral was widely reprinted in college newspapers. When Heminger graduated in 1916 he went right to work writing advertising copy for—you guessed it—a tobacco company.

Time to visit CONE HEADQUARTERS

You'll love these big, crunchy cones packed with Breyers famous Freshly-dipped Bulk Ice Cream. Visit your Breyer Dealer today. His store is "Cone Headquarters."