The only cost will be for transportation, officials in charge said, and interested students should contact Hans Giesecke, German exchange student, at State College 4444 before Monday.

This trip is one of the many being offered to foreign students throughout the school year. Information on trips may be obtained by contacting Giesecke or the travel committee of the Cosmopolitan Club.

American and foreign students interested in planning joint trips during Easter and summer vacations are also asked to contact Giesecke or Helen Charvat, 422 McElwain.

Author's Talks To Concern Pan America

Enrico Verissimo, noted author and director of the Department of Cultural Affairs in the Pan American Union, Washington, will present two talks April 11 at the University in connection with the celebration of Pan American Week.

A native Brazilian, Verissimo, who has recently returned from Caracas, Venezuela, as one of the delegates to the tenth Inter-American conference, has visited that United States twice as lecturer on Brazilian literature—in 1940-41, and again from 1943 to 1945. He taught at the University of California and at Mills College.

Noted as a government dignitary and an author, Verissimo has been acclaimed in Brazil and the United States for his novels and travel books. Four of his novels have been translated into English.

One of the translated novels, "Time and the Wind," depicts the life of a family of the interior of Rio Grande de Sul in Southern Brazil, where Verissimo himself was born in 1905. Another of his books appeared as a direct result of his second stay in the United States, "Brazilian Literature: An Outline." It is an unconventional literary history, filled with stories and anecdotes, "to prevent students from falling asleep." Many students at the University are familiar with one of his travel books, "Gato Preto en Campo de Nave," which is currently being used as a textbook in Portuguese courses.

Some of the more outstanding features of the musical are the songs with music done by Harold Arlen and lyrics by E. Y. Harburg.
