

Matrix Table Ticket Sale To Close at 5 p.m. Today

By NANCY WARD

Today is the deadline for reservations for the Matrix Table at 6:30 p.m. Monday in the Nittany Lion Inn. Reservations for the dinner cost $2.75 and may be made until 5 p.m. by presentation of a card enclosed with invitations at the Student Union desk in Old Main.

The Matrix Table is sponsored annually by Theta Sigma Phi, women's national professional journalism fraternity, to honor outstanding women on campus.

Packard Installed As New President Of Independents

Loa Joan Packard Monday was installed as president of Leonides, independent women's organization, by retiring president Hilda Hogeland.

Other officers installed at the Leonides Council meeting are Ruth Oram, vice president; Sara Jane Henry, recording secretary; Constance Taylor, corresponding secretary; and Betty Buchanan, treasurer.

Miss Packard will assume Miss Hogeland's seat on All-University Cabinet, and Miss Oram will replace Ruth Israel on Senate of the Women's Student Government Association.

Loretta Hunter has been appointed Leonides chairman for the joint banquet with the Association of Independent Men in May.

Cwens Offers 3 Scholarships

Three $50 scholarships are being offered to third and fourth semester women by Cwens, sophomore women's hat society.

Application forms are available at the Dean of Women's office and must be returned by April 13.

Applicants will be judged first on financial need and then on average and activities. Patricia Douthett, scholarship chairman, has announced. No specific average is needed to apply.

Recipients of the scholarships will be announced after Easter vacation.

Borrow a Picture, Redecorate a Room

By EDMUND REISS

Is your room or apartment or dormitory quarters bare and drab and much in need of something to enliven the atmosphere?

If you are an average student at the University, your answer probably will be in the affirmative. The Fine Arts department and the division of art education, in answer to this need of both students and faculty, acquired a group of reprints of paintings with the idea of renting them to interested persons.

The program began last semester, and within a few months it was evident that the idea was greatly favored by both students and faculty. At present there are 44 prints of famous paintings which are loaned for 50 cents a semester at the art education division's office in 105 Temporary.

The prints are mainly of works painted within the last two centuries and cover famous artists from the impressionistic works of Manet to the modern school of Braque and Picasso. These prints vary in size with most of them being large enough to adequately cover a wall. Also the colors and the subject matter vary.

There is everything from rural, pastoral views done in easy relaxed styles to crowded, urban scenes done in brilliant, turbulent manners. There are prints for animal lovers, others picturing social problems for liberal-minded people, and others for those who like to look at the portraits of noted or interesting personages.

A knowledge of art is unnecessary to find something appealing among these many reprints. As there are so many different styles represented in the collection, anyone should be able to find a print to fit his taste and preference.

Members of Theta Sigma Phi will present an after-dinner parody skit on campus activities and events. Title of the skit is "Campus Briefs."

Bess Furman, Washington correspondent for the New York Times, will discuss "Washington Personalities."

3 Coeds to Be Honored

Three coeds who have been selected as the 1954 Cap, Matrix, and Quill girls will be honored at the dinner. Members of Theta Sigma Phi select the Cap Girl, who is recognized as the coed participating in the most varied activities.

Matrix Girl is selected on the basis of service to the University without previous recognition by women's hat societies.

Quill Girl Elected

Quill Girl was chosen by ballot of women students during Women's Student Government Association and Women's Recreation Association elections last month. Candidates are Betsy Seigler, Mortar Board president; Barbara Wallace, WRA president; and Nancy White, WSGA president. Nancy Gemmill, Theta Sigma Phi president, will present charms symbolizing the titles to the winners.

240 Women Invited

Approximately 120 women students have made reservations for the Matrix Table. Mrs. Milton S. Eisenhower, Dean of Women Pearl O. Weston, and several dormitory hostesses have made reservations. Approximately 200 coeds and 40 wives or members of the administration, faculty, and staff were invited to the dinner. Dormitory hostesses were invited for the first time this year.

Laura Lou Brookman, managing editor of the Ladies' Home Journal, spoke at last year's Matrix Dinner. The skit presented by Theta Sigma Phi members portrayed a freshman woman's introduction to the University.

'Weekend' to Feature Heart-Saver Kitchen

By DOTTIE STONE

The Heart Kitchen, established by the American Heart Association to demonstrate energy-saving arrangement of kitchen equipment, will be on campus for the Home Economics Spring Week-End Friday and Saturday.

The kitchen, built inside a trailer, will be located between Home Economics and Home Economics South. It will be open to the public during the two-day program, with students from commercial consumer services classes acting as hostesses to answer visitors' questions.

Planned in 1948

The Kitchen was first planned in 1948 by the American Heart Association to bring reaching, bending, walking, and climbing to a minimum, in order that a heart patient might do family food preparation easily. Helping the Association was a complete staff of research workers, motion and time study engineers, home economists, architects, physical therapists, and physicians.

With the cooperation of "Woman's Home Companion" and 27 different appliance companies, the Kitchen was later built into a trailer, about seven feet wide and 25 feet long.

Delpha E. Wiesendanger, assistant dean of the College of Home Economics, believes that although not everyone could have, or would want an exact copy of the Kitchen, any homemaker could apply its principles to find easier and better ways of doing her work.

Miss Wiesendanger to Talk

Miss Wiesendanger will discuss "The Heart-Saver Kitchen and You" Friday morning and evening and Saturday morning of Home Ec Week-End.

Some of the special features of the Kitchen are a built-in wall oven, placed to avoid bending; moveable shelves and cupboards; a revolving cabinet for better use of corner areas, and a shallow mid-way shelf between the wall-cupboards and counter area for storing small tins such as spices and baking powder.

There is a complete laundry unit, an automatic dishwasher, a drop leaf table and a four-burner range, showing how a small kitchen can use space effectively.

HEC News and Views Features 'Week' Events

A complete schedule of the Home Economics Spring Week-End Friday and Saturday will be distributed in News and Views, Home Economics College publication to be distributed today. Copies may be obtained in the lobby of the Home Economics Building.

Among the features will be a special article on "Clothes for Now and After College."

'Aqua Daily' To Be Theme Of Aquacade

The Women's Recreation Association Swimming Club will present its annual water show, "The Aqua Daily," at 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday at the White Hall pool.

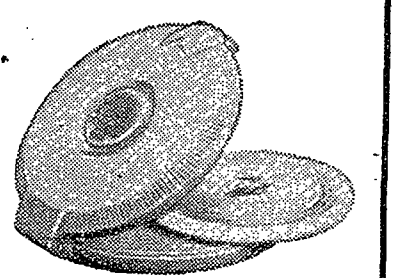

The theme, based on a newspaper, will have ten parts of the paper represented in the ten numbers.

The numbers are "Headlines," "Travel," "Weather Forecast," "Sports," "Financial," "Comics," "Movie News," "Society and Theater," "Fashions" and "News in Review." Appropriate music and costumes have been chosen for each number.

Members of the Swimming Club work all year on the aquacade. Patricia Colgan, club president; Sandra Dahlinger, vice president; and Jane Lamont, secretary, are responsible for the organization of aquacades.

"The Aqua Daily" may be seen by coeds free of charge at the dress rehearsal at 7:45 p.m. tomorrow at the White Hall pool. Tickets for Friday and Saturday may be obtained from cast members.
