

Home Ec Spring Weekend To Feature Talks, Exhibits

WRA Will Present Aquacade Tonight

By DOTTIE STONE

"Home Art in Family Living," the theme for the Home Economics Spring Weekend, will be explained by George Nelson when he speaks on "Good Design, What Is It?" at 3 p.m. today in Schwab Auditorium.

Nelson is one of America's leading home-furnishing designers, industrial designers, and architects. Over 2000 people are expected to attend the two-day program which will include 73 lectures,

7 Independents Will Attend 4-Day Conclave

Seven members of Leonides, independent women's organization, will attend the four-day convention Monday through Thursday at Cornell University.

The theme of the annual NISA convention will be "Reciprocal Responsibility of Individual and Organization." Loa Joan Packard and Ruth Oram, newly elected president and vice president, will attend as delegates, and Miss Patricia Thompson, assistant to the dean of women, will go as adviser to the group.

Three members of Leonides, Betty Buchanan, Joyce Shusman, and Ethel Wilson, will serve as discussion leaders for schools with more than 5000 students enrolled. Approximately 60 schools from all over the United States will be represented at the convention.

Miss Buchanan will lead a discussion on the topic "What should be the relationship of local individual organizations to other groups on campus?"

Miss Shusman's subject will be "What are the responsibilities of independent organizations to their members?" and Miss Wilson's topic will be "What is our responsibility to the unaffiliated independent?"

Other members of Leonides attending the convention are Vonnie Leith and Julie Maybury. Miss Maybury will represent the University as a candidate for sweetheart of NISA.

demonstrations and movies. Many lectures and demonstrations will be repeated at different times today and tomorrow. Complete programs, listing activities and their times appear in News and Views, the home economics publication, available in the living center or the main foyer of the Home Economics Building.

Approximately 1000 people are pre-registered to attend, including high school students, home economics personnel from colleges and universities throughout the nation, extension workers, and heads of hospitals and institutions.

Editor to Speak

Another prominent speaker, Lucy Goldthwaite, field editor of McCall's magazine, will speak on "Let's Live Outdoors Too" at 9 a.m. in 114 Home Economics.

In the evening, the Home Economics Alumni Association will have their annual dinner at the Autoport Pine Room. Stanley Wollner, interior designer and head of Wollner Interiors in Philadelphia, will speak on "Color in the Home."

Heart Saver Kitchen

The heart-saver kitchen, built into a trailer, shows the most efficient placing of equipment and will be open to the public for tours. The trailer will be located between the Home Economics Building and Home Economics South. The Centre County Heart Association will send free pamphlets titled "The Heart of the Home" to anyone signing up for a copy while visiting the kitchen.

Delpha E. Wiesendanger, assistant dean and professor of home management and housing, will discuss "The Heart-Saver Kitchen and You" bringing out ways in which every homemaker can use the kitchen's principles to make her food preparation easier.

Problems in Fabrics

The staff of the Ellen H. Richards Institute will give a demonstration on "Problems in Fabrics" in 104 Home Economics South.

Forty-eight different exhibits will be open all day during the weekend. They include The Art of Feeding Children, 206 Home Economics; Pottery, Furnishing and Crafts, room 223; A Child's Room, room 20; Good Designs from Other Countries, room 104.

Bulletin Board Exhibits

Besides the room exhibits, there are 18 hallway bulletin boards showing everything from hand-made jewelry to pointers on buying furniture.

Coeds in the Home Economics Club will serve coffee and cookies in 204 Home Economics from 10 a.m. to noon and at 2 p.m. today.

Luncheon will be served in the cafeteria by students in hotel and institution administration. Milk

Religion

Five Groups Will Meet Tonight

Five student church groups will meet tonight.

The Rev. Henry J. Heydt, founder and former president of the Lancaster School of Bible and Theology, will address the Penn State Bible Fellowship at 7:30 tonight in 405 Old Main. His topic will be "Lovest Thou Me?"

The Lutheran Student Association will hold a party for children from the Matternville School at 6:30 tonight at the student center, 412 W. College avenue. The Rev. Beryl Maurer, a graduate student from Pine Grove Mills, will lead the final lenten discussion on the "History of the Passion" at 8 tonight.

The Emerson Society will hold a special meeting at 8 tonight in 304 Old Main. The Rev. Samuel Wright, national leader of Liberal Religious Youth, will talk and show slides on the Albert Schweitzer College in Switzerland, which is supported by Liberal Religious groups.

The Rabbi Benjamin M. Kahn will give the sermon at Sabbath Eve services at Hillel Foundation, 224 Locust Lane, at 8 tonight. Hostesses will be members of Phi Sigma Sigma. Reservations for Passover meals at Hillel must be paid for by 4 p.m. Monday.

Wesley Foundation of the Methodist Church will hold a cabin party today, tomorrow and Sunday at the Forester's Cabin. The group will leave the church at 5 p.m. today and return Sunday afternoon. The theme of the retreat is "My Responsibilities as a Christian Student." Guest speaker will be the Rev. Martin Hopkins of Harrisburg. Discussion groups will meet during the retreat and a panel discussion will be held tomorrow afternoon.

and sandwiches will be served by the Home Economics Alumni Association in 204 Home Economics.

Women's Recreation Association Swimming Club will present the tenth annual Aquacade performance at 8 p.m. tonight and tomorrow in White Hall pool.

They will attempt to give students and faculty a view of their accomplishments for the year in a representation of ten sections of the newspaper. The cast for "The Aqua Daily" numbers almost 100.

The club works on the theme and stunts for aquacades throughout the year although they do not cast until December. Beginners and advanced swimming classes are held each week by the club. These classes compose the club members. All members who pass the screening, by attending classes and passing a test, take part in the aquacade. This year, because such a large cast was needed, there were no tests given, and swimmers were selected for their parts on their ability to execute stunts.

Aid WRA Functions

In addition to classes and aquacades, the club helps in other WRA swimming functions such as Sports Day and Play Day. Following the aquacade they will work on the swimming intramurals.

Last year Nancy Fisher played the part of Alice in "Alice in Wonderland." The theme was based on characters and incidents from Lewis Carroll's "Alice in Wonderland."

This year there will be two new features, hoses throwing water at each end of the pool to give the effect of rain for the number, "Stormy Weather," and underwater microphones throughout the entire performance.

Tickets for "The Aqua Daily" are sold out. The seating capacity is about 300 persons.

Club Officers

Officers of the club are Patricia Colgan, president; Sandra Dahlinger, vice president; and Jane Lamont, secretary. Frances Bleick, assistant professor of physical education, is the sponsor of the club.

Coeds Will Participate in 'Easter Seal Parade'

The first annual "Lily Parade" sponsored by the Centre County Easter Seal Society will begin today.

University coeds will participate in the campaign by selling lilies made by handicapped men and women. The campaign is for solicitation of funds to help finance a program of rehabilitation and treatment for the handicapped.

Participating in the campaign will be members of Alpha Gamma Delta, Alpha Chi Omega, Chi Omega, Beta Sigma Omicron, Delta Gamma and Zeta Tau Alpha.

135 to Attend Matrix Table On Monday

Approximately 135 women students and wives or members of the administration, staff, and faculty have made reservations for the Matrix Table at 6:30 p.m. Monday in the Nittany Lion Inn.

Members of Theta Sigma Phi, women's national professional journalism fraternity, sponsoring the dinner, will present a skit entitled "Campus Briefs." The after-dinner speaker will be Bess Furman, Washington correspondent for the New York Times.

Guests attending the Matrix Table have been asked to wear formal gowns. Stamped tickets will be checked at the door.

At the dinner the 1954 Cap, Matrix, and Quill Girls will be honored as women students outstanding in campus activities. Nancy Gemmill, Theta Sigma Phi president, will present charms symbolizing their titles to the three women.

Matrix Table is held annually in the spring by Theta Sigma Phi. Other chapters of the fraternity throughout the country sponsor Matrix Tables on their campuses to honor outstanding women students.

Guests of honor will be Mrs. Milton S. Eisenhower and Dean of Women Pearl O. Weston, Mrs. Donald Davis and Mrs. James Markham, wives of journalism professors, and Mrs. Francis Bria, Theta Sigma Phi adviser.

Beta Sigma Omicron

Collegiate Chatter

lege has rarely been abused. The houses are closed to women, by a ruling of the Trinity administration, every night at 8 p.m. except on Friday and Saturday nights of the six weekends for parties.

To the classic "College is a four-year loaf, seasoned with the flavor of youth and baked with the old man's dough" definition of College Bred; and "College is a four-year process deadening one end in hopes of living the other," we must now add two undeniable truths our humorists have added to our list of cliches. The first concerns the failure of college education to produce a well-rounded man, and the second deals with the lack of broadening during that period.

The former is Will Roger's remark "There is nothing so stupid as an educated man when you get him off the thing he was educated in," and the latter is Mark Twain's observance that "A cauliflower is nothing but a cabbage with a college education."
