

Lowenfeld Presents Hillel Mural Tonight

By MARY BOLICH

Formal presentation of the mural "The Ideals of Judaism," painted in the lobby of the B'nai B'rith Hillel Foundation Building by Antonieta Terrazas Maluenda, graduate student in art education, will be made at 8 tonight.

Victor Lowenfeld, professor of art education, who advised Miss Terrazas in her work, will make the presentation of the 48-foot mural. Rabbi Benjamin M. Kahn will accept the mural in behalf of the foundation. David E. Russel, professor of education, will preside at the ceremonies.

Speakers at the dedication will include President Milton S. Eisenhower, honorary chairman for the program; the Hon. Rudecinto Ortega, ambassador of Chile to the United Nations; and William Haber of the University of Michigan, vice-chairman of the National Hillel Commission.

A program of Chilean and Jewish music will be sung by Raymond H. Brown, assistant professor of music, accompanied by Elio Gianturco, associate professor of Romance languages. A reception will follow the ceremonies. Three exhibits concerning Chilean crafts, the 300th anniversary of Jewish history in America, and Jewish art and ceremonial objects have been on view this week in connection with the dedication. The exhibit will continue until 10 p.m. tomorrow.

The Chilean crafts exhibit was collected by Hazel M. Hatcher, professor of home economics education and home community relations, during a year's stay in Chile. The American Jewish tercentenary exhibit consists of 54 photographs of significant historical records dating from the earliest days of Jewish settlement in America.

The third display will include over 125 objects, including a collection of silver kiddush cups and ornaments for the scroll and the law; candelabra, spice boxes, marriage certificates, and antique hand-worked Jewish ceremonial objects.

Three Women To Be Honored At Matrix Table

Three outstanding women students will be honored as the 1954 Cap, Matrix, and Quill Girls at the annual Matrix Table at 6:30 p.m. Monday in the Nittany Lion Inn.

Bess Furman, Washington correspondent for the New York Times, will speak to 155 women student leaders and guests of honor who have made reservations for the dinner sponsored by Theta Sigma Phi, women's national professional journalism fraternity.

Members of Theta Sigma Phi choose as Cap Girl the coed who has participated in the most varied activities. Matrix Girl, selected on the basis of service to the University without previous recognition by women's hat societies, is also chosen by Theta Sigma Phi.

Quill Girl was chosen by vote of women students during Women's Student Government Association and Women's Recreation Association elections in March. Eligible for the title were Nancy White, WSGA president, Barbara Wallace, WRA president, and Betsy Siegler, president of Mortar Board, senior women's hat society.

Nancy Gemmill, Theta Sigma Phi president, will present charms symbolizing their titles to the Cap, Matrix, and Quill Girls.

Members of Theta Sigma Phi will present an original parody skit on campus events.

Stamped tickets for the formal dinner will be checked at the door.

WRA Will Present Aquacade Tonight In White Hall Pool

The second showing of "Aqua Daily," presented by Women's Recreation Association Swimming club, will be held at 8 tonight in White Hall pool. The first performance was held last night.

Nearly 100 women will participate in the program which represents ten sections of a newspaper. The numbers are "Headlines," "Travel," "Weather Forecast," "Sports," "Financial," "Comics," "Movie News," "Society and Theater," "Fashions," and "News in Review."

The water ballet begins with a fire in a warehouse. Swimmers are dressed as flames. The final number under the direction of Patricia Colgan, president of the club, will present an over-all picture of the news.

Two new features present in this year's aquacade are hoses throwing water from each corner of the pool in the number "Headlines," and under water microphones throughout the performance.

Religion Pre-Easter Services Scheduled

Several student church groups will hold pre-Easter services tomorrow night as their worship program.

The Lutheran Student Association will hold a pre-Easter candle-light communion service at 6:30 p.m. tomorrow in the Grace Lutheran Church.

Westminster Foundation of the Presbyterian Church will hold a special Palm Sunday service at 6:20 p.m. tomorrow. The Westminster Choir, under the direction of Jeanne Maxwell, fourth semester music education major, will sing.

The regular worship program at Wesley Foundation of the Methodist Church will not be held this week. Instead, the students will attend the Lenten services sponsored by the Inter-Church Student Fellowship at 6:30 p.m. tomorrow in Schwab Auditorium.

The weekly fellowship supper at Roger Williams Fellowship will be held at 5:30 p.m. tomorrow, followed by a dramatic worship service. Dr. Watanabe, a Baptist Christian worker from Japan, will speak.

Ned Sittler, fourth semester animal husbandry major, will speak on the topic "Attributes of God" at 6:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Student Fellowship of St. John's Evangelical United Brethren Church.

The Rev. Albert S. Asendorf will discuss "The Meaning of Holy Communion" at 6:30 p.m. tomorrow at the United Student Fellowship of the Faith Evangelical and Reformed Church.

Alpha Epsilon Phi will show a film, "Of Mice and Men," at 2:30 p.m. tomorrow at Hillel Foundation, 224 Locust Lane, for the benefit of the scholarship fund. The Upperclass Independents Club of Hillel will meet at 7 p.m. tomorrow to discuss plans for a spring picnic. The club is open to sophomores, juniors, and seniors.

'Weekend' Attracts Record Attendance

By DOTTIE STONE

A new record in attendance was set for the Home Economics Spring Weekend yesterday. More than 2000 people registered by 4 p.m., as compared with 1700 total registration last year.

Many more people are expected to arrive today for the activities taking place from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The main event today will be a fashion show, directed by Mrs. Edith Viera and Mrs. Lillian B. Larson of the Clothing Textiles department at 3 p.m. in Schwab Auditorium. Eighty-two different outfits made by students in the clothing construction courses will be modeled. Seventeen children from the Home Economics Nursery School will model the garments made in the children's construction class.

Editor-in-chief of "Living for Young Homemakers," Mrs. Edith Brazwell Evans, will speak on "Make the most of Your Home Furnishings" at 11 a.m. in 114 Home Economics.

Editors to Speak

Both Mrs. Evans and Lucy Goldwaithe, field editor of McCall's magazine, will speak to home economics journalism majors at luncheon at the Allencrest Tea Room. Miss Evans will speak on "Let's Live Outdoors Too" at 9 a.m. in 114 Home Economics.

Programs with complete listing of lectures, demonstrations, exhibits, and movies are printed in News and Views, home economics publication, and are available in the living center or the main-foyer of the Home Economics Building.

Furniture Exhibit

"Combining Old with New in Home Furnishings," an exhibit in 220 Home Economics, shows five rooms using ultra modern furniture with traditional. In one corner of the room is an indoor fish pond complete with sand and potted plants.

"Clothes for the Home" in 223 Home Economics is a display of various types of clothing worn in the home. The clothes are draped on dress forms with heads made from balloons topped with wigs of yarn.

NISA Delegates Make Plans For Convention

Seven members of Leonides, independent women's organization, will leave tomorrow to attend the annual National Independent Student Association convention at Cornell University.

The theme of the four-day convention Monday through Thursday will be "Reciprocal Responsibility of Individual and Organization." Three members of Leonides, Betty Buchanan, Joyce Shushman, and Ethel Wilson, will serve as discussion leaders for schools with more than 5000 enrollment.

The four-day convention will begin Monday with a tour of the Cornell campus. Meetings and an informal coffee hour will conclude the day's program. A general session for delegates will be held Tuesday before they divide into separate discussion groups. Discussion groups and regional meetings followed by a banquet will comprise Tuesday's activities.

Resolutions will be drawn up at final discussion group meetings Wednesday morning. In the afternoon delegates will hear a speech by Cornell law professor Harrop Freeman and will consider resolutions. A "Dungaree Dinner" will be followed by the Coronation Ball and crowning of the convention sweetheart.

A final general session of delegates and election of national officers will conclude the convention Thursday morning.

Newman Club Elections Scheduled Tomorrow

Newman Club elections will be held tomorrow following the 9 a.m. services in Schwab Auditorium and at the Catholic Student Center. Only members of the club may vote.

Information pamphlets about the candidates are available at the Student Union desk in Old Main.

Pan-American Week

Verissimo Will Speak Tomorrow

By ANITA OPRENDEK

Enrico Verissimo, world acclaimed Brazilian author and delegate to the recent Inter-American Conference at Caracas, Venezuela, will contribute to the University's 11th annual Pan American Week celebration.

He will be guest speaker at 4 p.m. tomorrow in Simmons lounge at an open meeting of Phi Sigma Iota, romance language honor society, and at 8 p.m. tomorrow in Hillel auditorium.

His talk at the Phi Sigma Iota meeting will be entitled "Confessions of a Story Teller."

"Latins and Gringos: a Parallel" is the topic of the Pan American address to be given at Hillel auditorium. Verissimo, who is director of the cultural division of the Pan American Union, will include some of his experiences as a delegate at the Caracas conference in his talks.

Verissimo has been said to be Brazil's most popular contemporary novelist and the best known outside his own country. Four of his books have been translated into English, one into Italian, and nine into Spanish. He receives many requests in Brazil to contribute newspaper and magazine articles.

Also to be held in connection with Pan American Week is the dedication of a mural entitled "The Ideals of Judaism," painted by Antonieta Terrazas Maluenda of the Republic of Chile. The dedication will be held tonight at Hillel auditorium.
