

WD Transponder To Be Removed

The Station WDFM transponder in the West Dorm area will be temporarily removed today, Philip Scott, chief engineer for the station, announced yesterday. The transponder will be re-installed after preparations are made for testing transmitting equipment with a crystal unit, he said.

Scott said he hopes broadcast reception on amplitude modulated radio sets can be resumed in the area within a few days.

AIM Nominees May Register Until Monday

Persons expecting to be nominated from the floor by the Board of Governors in the Association of Independent Men's elections, must submit their names, in care of the AIM elections committee, to the Student Union desk by Monday, Joe Somers, AIM president, said yesterday. Elections will be held at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in 103 Willard.

This application will enable the AIM elections committee to check the All-University averages of prospective candidates in the Dean of Men's office. To be eligible for election, a candidate must have at least a 1 All-University average.

Anyone not submitting an application must bring a transcript to the elections meeting Wednesday night, Somers said.

Men who wish to run for office who are not members of the board of governors may nominate themselves by submitting a petition of 300 names to the elections committee by Monday. The petitions may also be turned in to the Student Union desk.

Any independent man is eligible for office providing he has at least a 1 All-University average. However, a nominee for AIM president must be a fifth or sixth semester student at the time of his nomination.

Nominees for other offices must have at least two semesters to remain in school at the time of their nomination.

Election will be by a majority of the voting members of the board of governors. Officers to be elected are president, vice president, secretary, and treasurer. Balloting will be by secret preferential ballot. A defeated candidate for an office may be renominated to a lower office. Richard Rigling, elections committee chairman, will chair the elections.

Duvalls to Address Slide Club Monday

Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Duvall will give an illustrated talk on "A Camping Trip by Canoe" before the State College Color Slide Club at 7:30 p.m. Monday in 109 Agriculture.

Students interested in color slide photography may attend.

WD Party Canceled

The West Dorm skating party scheduled for tomorrow has been canceled.

ROTC Will Give Blood Donations

A blood drive will be sponsored Monday through Wednesday by the Army, Navy, and Air Force ROTC in cooperation with the American Red Cross. The Bloodmobile will be stationed in the borough.

ROTC students may get donation cards from instructors. Students under 21 must receive parents' signature before donating, according to Red Cross regulations.

Engle to Get 'Graduate' Prize Today

Lloyd F. "Dad" Engle, 1913 graduate of the University, will receive the award for outstanding graduate of Penn State in the animal husbandry curriculum tomorrow during the program of the 37th annual Little International Livestock Show in the University Livestock Pavilion.

The award, which was inaugurated this year by the Block and Bridle Club, sponsors of the Little International, was set up to recognize one of the outstanding graduates of the Department of Animal Husbandry.

Engle, who is an uncle to Penn State's football coach Rip Engle, played football as an undergraduate and was mentioned by many sports personalities as an all-American in his senior year.

After his graduation, "Dad" served as county agent in Braxton County, W.Va. In 1915 he became the first agent for Westmoreland County, and from 1919 until 1952 was county agent in Greene County. There, he developed the hilly farming land for livestock purposes.

Engle was a leader in the introduction of the production of beef cattle and sheep into Southwestern Pennsylvania and is credited with the development of that area in this type of farming. He retired as county agent in 1952 with 33 years of service and was presented a distinguished service award by the National Association of County Farm Agents.

'Old Mania' Items Are Due Monday

"Old Mania" items for Froth, campus humor magazine, may be turned in at the Student Union desk in Old Main until 5 p.m. Monday, Marshall Donley, outgoing editor, has announced.

"Old Mania" is a listing of pinning, engagements, and marriages of students and alumni.

Ag Profs Will Speak

A. H. Imhof, assistant professor in agricultural journalism, and George Reisner, vocational agriculture adviser, will discuss "F-A.O. Work in Ceylon" before the International Graduates Club at 7:30 p.m. Monday in 216 Willard.

The crystal unit was ordered by WDFM to be used in stabilizing broadcasting frequency, Scott explained. He said the high pitch squeals, which have been interfering with reception have resulted from other stations broadcasting on the same frequency.

Without stabilization of the transmitting equipment, changes in temperature, atmosphere and other factors can cause a slight variance from the exact broadcasting frequency.

If transponder tests with the crystal unit are successful, Scott said, the transponder will be removed again, and others will be built from the same specifications. When these transponders are installed in other dormitories the station will reach a majority of students on campus.

Scott said WDFM equipment is unique among that used by college and university stations, and therefore a considerable amount of testing and experimentation is necessary to achieve proper broadcasting effects.

Work on the transmitting equipment has been done entirely by students, Scott said.

5 to Compete In LA Council Office Elections

Five students will compete in Liberal Arts Student Council office elections at 8 p.m. Monday in 105 Willard.

Nominated for president are Watson Leese, sixth semester arts and letters major, and Nancy Ward, sixth semester journalism major. Mary Lee Lauffer, sixth semester journalism major, and Ann Lederman, fourth semester journalism major, are nominees for secretary-treasurer. Larry Gedrich, sixth semester arts and letters major, is unopposed on the vice presidential slate.

Gedrich, chairman of the council elections committee, announced that students may file nominating petitions for council seats Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday in the Liberal Arts office, 123 Sparks.

Students must have a 1.5 All-University average and nominate themselves.

Johnson to Speak

George F. Johnson, professor of agricultural extension, will speak to the 4-H Club at 7 p.m. Monday in 100 Horticulture.

Arndt to Initiate Priestley Lectures

Fritz G. Arndt, professor of chemistry at the New University of Istanbul, Turkey, will open the 28th annual series of Priestley lectures at 8 p.m. Monday in 119 Osmond Laboratory. The talks, which will be given each night through Friday, are open to the public. Thursday's lecture starts at 5:15 p.m. The others start at 8 p.m.

The lectures, held annually to bring outstanding scientists to campus, were founded in 1926 by Wheeler P. Davey, now professor emeritus of physics and chemistry. The lectures are sponsored by Phi Lambda Upsilon, national chemical honor society.

Memorial to Priestley
The lectures represent one of the two memorials established by faculty and alumni in tribute to Joseph Priestley, noted English chemist and physicist, who came to this country and lived at Northumberland.

The other memorial was the purchase of the old Priestley residence by alumni. Near the house a museum has been built to hold such Priestley relics as can be gathered.

Arndt will discuss "Problems of Theoretical Organic Chemistry." Monday night's talk deals with "Problems of Dizoalkane Chemistry."

Studied in Geneva
Born in Hamburg, Germany, in 1885, Arndt studied at the Universities of Geneva, Freiburg, and Berlin. He received his Ph.D. degree at Freiburg in 1908.

From 1915 to 1918 he served as professor at the Ottoman University of Constantinople. He was appointed to the staff of the University of Breslau, Germany, in 1919. He became a full professor there in 1927.

Took Post at Istanbul
After a professorship at Oxford University until 1934, he took his present position, the chair of general chemistry at Istanbul.

This summer he will serve as a visiting professor at Indiana University.

Department To Present Barrie Play

"The Twelve-Pound Look," a one-act play by Sir James Barrie, will be presented by the Dramatics department at 4 p.m. tomorrow in the Little Theater, basement of Old Main, according to Edwin Grove, fourth semester arts and letters major.

The show, which will be given free-of-charge, is part of an experimental program sponsored by the Dramatics department to acquaint people with summer stock work.

Grove, acting as director of the proposed three-play program, is advised by Warren S. Smith, associate professor of dramatics; Kelly Yeaton, associate professor of dramatics, and George Oliver, graduate student in English.

Appearing in "The Twelve-Pound Look" are Elizabeth Ives, John Krug, Louise Jewell, Deborah Peek, and John Thomas.

The other plays in the series will be John Millington Synge's "Riders to the Sea," and Lawrence Langner's "Another Way Out."

Summer Jobs Now Available

More than 200 campus and resorts in 17 different states have listed their employment needs with the employment service, Jack Huber, director of Student Employment, has announced.

Since industrial jobs will be scarce this summer, it is advisable for students to consider this type of work, Huber said.

Numerous outdoor and indoor jobs are available at the employment office. They include garden and mowing work, taking down storm doors and inserting screens, general yard work, and spring house cleaning.

Students who have signed up for spring and summer work should check at the Student Employment office rather than wait to be contacted by the office, Huber emphasized.

Prexy to Address Conference Today

President Milton S. Eisenhower will welcome Pennsylvania members of the College English Association to the University for a one-day meeting today. William M. Werner, professor of American literature, is national president of the group.

A luncheon at the Nittany Lion Inn will follow the morning session. Luncheon speaker will be Albert C. Baugh, professor of English at the University of Pennsylvania.

Graduate Student Newsletter Ready

Copies of the Graduate Student Newsletter, which came out yesterday, are available in the office of Harold K. Schilling, dean of the graduate school, and in the offices of the deans of the nine colleges.

In the four-page issue are reports on the acquisition of a Graduate Council office in the new Student Union building, the council's action regarding a seat on All-University Cabinet, and the proposed council budget for next year.

Alkinen, Switzerland, is built on a mountain top and is reached by a ladder.

Campus X-Rays Start Tuesday

Herbert R. Glenn, director of the University Health Service, has announced that a mobile X-ray unit will be on campus Tuesday through Thursday to give free chest X-rays.

The unit, sponsored by the Bureau of Tuberculosis Control, Pennsylvania State Department of Health, Harrisburg, will be parked south of the University Hospital on Pollock road. It will operate from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. and 2 p.m. to 6 p.m. daily.

Thirty-Four Entries Received In Annual Ugly Man Contest

Thirty-four entries have been received for the annual Ugly Man contest May 5 to 7, Alan Pomeroy, contest chairman, said yesterday.

If an organization still wishes to enter a candidate, it may do so by contacting Pomeroy before Wednesday, he said. Entries will not be accepted at the Student Union desk.

Last year 49 men participated in the contest. Robert Sherman, of Beta Sigma Rho, was the winner with a money total of $112.23.

The contest will be limited to graduating seniors this year as in the past. The voting will be conducted with a penny-a-vote system at a booth on the Mall.

The final judging of the candidates has been changed this year. In the past, the candidate with the most money at the end of the voting was the winner. This spring five judges will select the winner from a list of seven finalists who have compiled the most votes.

According to Pomeroy, the judges will base their scoring on the amount of effort the candidates put into their campaigning. The committee has suggested that the candidates work up a skit or other means of publicity that will be presented during the voting period.

Judges are George L. Donovan, director of associated student activities; Mary E. Brewer, assistant to the dean of women; Cordelia L. Hibbs, assistant to the dean of women; Ridge Riley, executive secretary-treasurer of the Alumni Association; and Louis H. Bell, director of public information.

The proceeds of the contest go to Campus Chest.

Candidates and their sponsors are Robert Biggs, Kappa Sigma; Terry

Glackman, Beta Sigma Rho; Theodore Struk, Pi Kappa Phi and Phi Mu; Gerald Maurey, Delta Upsilon; William Patterson, Sigma Chi and Delta Gamma; William Davis, Penn State Club; Thomas Pyle, Kappa Delta Rho; Theodore Mortenson, Sigma Pi and Alpha Xi Delta; Keith Vestling, Beta Theta Pi and Kappa Alpha Theta; Thomas Geffert, Theta Kappa Phi and Theta Phi Alpha.

Temple Reynolds, Alpha Chi Rho; Walter Service, Phi Kappa Psi; Arnold Barnett, Sigma Alpha Mu; James Dunlap, Chi Phi; Richard Robinson, Theta Xi; Ralph Lautenslayer, Phi Kappa Sigma and Alpha Omicron Pi; Richard Jones, Sigma Nu and Chi Omega; Robert Rauch, Delta Tau Delta and Alpha Epsilon Phi; Robert DiJoseph, Sigma Phi Epsilon; Ronald Lench, Phi Sigma Delta; George Homich, Sigma Phi Sigma; Charles Oberlance, Tau Kappa Epsilon and Kappa Kappa Gamma.

Edward Haag, Beaver House and Philotes; Kenneth Copella, Nittany and Pollock Councils; Louis Monta, Leonides and Penn Haven; Howard Giles, Delta Sigma Phi and Gamma Phi Beta; Charles Ferguson, College Co-op Society; Thomas Schott, Phi Gamma Delta; Norman Paul, Alpha Gamma Rho and Delta Delta Delta; Kenneth White, Theta Chi; Rodney Stegall, Pi Kappa Alpha; Joseph Messerman, Delta Chi and Alpha Gamma Delta; Donald Malinak, Lambda Chi Alpha and Alpha Chi Omega; Bruce Schroeder, Phi Delta Theta.
