STATE COLLEGE, PA., TUESDAY MORNING, APRIL 27, 1954

FIVE CENTS

Council Nominations Set for Tomorrow

Nominations of members to eight of the nine student councils will open tomorrow. Closing dates for the nominations will vary with the college, but the general elections of the student council members for all the councils, except the College of Agriculture, will be held May 5 and 6.

Nominations for Chem-Phys Student Council members are now open. Nominations may be made tomorrow through Saturday. Candidates must have an All-University average of 1.0 and may nominate themselves by signing a list posted in Osmond and Pond Laboratories. No definite number of members has been named. Different curriculums will elect their specific number of members in the various classes according to their needs.

Freshmen, sophomores, and juniors in the College of Liberal Arts may file nominating petitions for student council seats tomorrow through Friday in the Liberal Arts office, 123 Sparks. A 1.5 All-University average and self nomination are required.

Nominations for candidates for the Physical Education student council must be submitted by noon Saturday at Moffat Cottage. Any student in the College of Physical Education and Athletics may submit a nomination in the form of a petition signed by fifteen persons.

The College of Engineering Student Council will accept nominations tomorrow through Friday for council seats. Candidates must have a 1.0 All-University average and turn their names in to their departmental offices.

Nominations for seats on the education student council will be open at the Student Union desk in Old Main tomorrow through Friday. Six students from each class will be chosen.

The Business Student Council will accept self-nominations tomorrow through Saturday noon; nominations will be accepted at 106 Sparks. Five juniors, eight sophomores and six freshman will be elected.

Nominations will be open tomorrow through Friday for candidates to the home economics student council to be turned in at the main office of the Home Economic's building.

Mineral Industries student council nominations will be open tomorrow through Saturday. Candidates may nominate themselves by signing lists posted in the Mineral Industry Building and must have a 1.0 All-University average. Two juniors, two sophomores, and three freshmen will be elected.

Liberal Arts Lantern To Be Distributed

The first issue of the Lantern, the Liberal Arts magazine, will be distributed to students in the college this week. Norma Vollmer, editor, announced. The publication will be a complimentary issue. The second issue will be available early in May.

New Phone System Due August 1st

State College and six other boroughs in the Centre County area have begun the first step to the most modern dialing system in the country—national customer toll dialing—Kenneth A. Bush, Bell Telephone business manager in State College, said last night.

The present change of the number identification plates on the telephones at the University and in State College must be done before the change on August 1 to operator toll dialing.

The change was begun in September, 1953 when many of the State College and University numbers were changed from four to five digits.

The new identification card on the telephones for State College will be marked as the "Adams" exchange. The letters "A D" will be dialed after August 1.

Boalsburg will have the Homestead exchange; Bellefonte, Elgin; Pleasant Gap, Flanders, Millheim, Centre Hall, and Spring Mills complete the listing.

In this way all the six areas can reach each other by dialing, thus eliminating the operator. This step will evolve into the national customer toll dialing.

Customer toll dialing records the length of call, and computes the charge on long distance calls.

All telephones that had the number 8 prefixed to their number will retain that digit. The telephones that were not changed in September will use a 7. The September move was the second in a series of improvements. One of the first real advances was

Blood Drive To Continue

The Armed Forces Blood Drive, initiated by the campus unit of the Red Cross, will continue until tomorrow at the Temporary Union Building. The drive began yesterday.

The blood bank will be open from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. for members of the ROTC units. Donation is by appointment. However, the Red Cross urges walk-in contributions at 11:30 and 11:45 a.m. and from 2 until 3:45 p.m. Wednesday, Betty Buchanan, chairman of the blood bank said.

Those giving blood must be 21 or over.

The campaigning and hostess work is being done by groups of women on campus. Members of Pi Beta Phi will work today, and Delta Delta Delta members tomorrow. Thompson Hall coeds worked yesterday.

Juniors who will be given shots for summer camp may not give blood, Miss Buchanan said.

50 Frosh Try Out For Cheerleading

More than 50 freshman candidates appeared in front of Old Main Sunday night in the first night of a two-week trial period for cheerleaders. Bruce Wagner, head cheerleader, reported yesterday.

Wagner said tryouts will continue for at least two weeks each evening from 6:30 until 7:45 p.m.

Pollock Committee Postpones Merger

By BILL SNYDER

A special Pollock Council committee last night decided to shelve till next fall a motion to merge with Nittany Council, and to amend the Pollock constitution to set up a special "liason" committee to work on problems common to both areas.

The committee will make these recommendations to Pollock Council tonight. Council is expected to approve the committee recommendations.

The decision to shelve the merger with Nittany Council, which has already been approved by Nittany, was made for the following reasons:

1. The committee felt there is too little time left this semester for the present council to make such a "radical" change as a merger.

2. It would be better, the committee decided, to wait until a new Pollock Council can handle the problem in the fall, when it is anticipated that more of the dorms in the Pollock area will be occupied. (The merger would be subject to final approval of 2/3 of the Pollock dorms).

Confusion Exists

3. The committee felt the merger proposal, if presented to the dorm for vote now, would not be given full consideration since, it is felt, much confusion concerning the merger exists in the Pollock area at present.

The committee, headed by Pollock Council vice president Howard Sauder, decided to recommend that the Pollock Council constitution be amended to provide for a liason committee. Such a committee would have to be approved by Nittany Council.

Common Problems

The liason committee would study problems common to both areas. According to Sauder's committee it would:

1. Be composed of three members from each of the two councils.

2. Have no power of decision, but could only recommend solutions to the two councils.

Sauder's committee decided that such a liason committee would serve as a "proving ground" for the merger. In other words, both council could be able to see how many problems actually do arise that would be better solved by one council.

Expect Council's Okay

These recommendations—to shelve the merge proposal and set up in the Pollock constitution provisions for the liason committee—will be presented to the Pollock Council tonight. Council is expected to pass the recommendations.

The merger was first proposed and approved at a Nittany Council meeting. It was presented by Thomas Kidd, a resident member of Pollock area. The proposal provided that both areas be served by one council, to be known as an East Dorm Council, with representation from each of the dorms in the area. The council would send four officers to the Association of Independent Men's Board of Governors.

The unified council would wipe out area distinctions, it was hoped by Kidd and others. It was asserted by the sponsors that one unified council would provide stronger, more efficient leadership for the area.

The Pollock Council has been split on the question.

Screening Committee Approves 18 Blanks

Eighteen of 45 Spring Carnival applications were fully approved and accepted by a special screening committee Sunday night, according to George Richards, Spring Week chairman.

Fourteen of the applications were termed incomplete, and 12 more were accepted with reservation. There was only one full rejection, Richards said.

The screening committee, composed of Richard Lemyre, retiring All-University president; Thomas Schott, retiring Interfraternity Council president; Jesse Arnette, John Speer, and Robert Homan, present All-University officers; and Louise Moreman and Loisa Joan Packard, Panhellenic and Leomdes presidents, will hold a third meeting tomorrow night to give final approval on revised forms, which must be handed in by 5 p.m. tomorrow at the Student Union desk in Old Main, according to Richard Grossman, carnival co-chairman.

The carnival application filed by Alpha Chi Sigma was the only rejection made by the screening committee, due to the planned use of BB guns, Grossman stated. The committee felt that the plans might lead to a hazardous situation, he added.

Incomplete carnival forms which were sent back to organizations for further detail were filed by Delta Gamma, Sigma Chi; Phi Sigma Delta, Thompson; Phi Kappa, McAllister; Kappa Sigma, Zeta Tau Alpha; Phi Mu, Pi Kappa Phi; Philotes, Beaver House; Sigma Alpha Mu and Alpha Epsilon Pi.

Penn State Club; Chi Phi, Sigma Sigma Sigma; Phi Epsilon Pi; Alpha Epsilon Phi, Beta Sigma Rho; Kappa Delta Rho, The Wizardettes; Phi Sigma Kappa, and independent women.

The twelve groups who will be cautioned since their forms were accepted only with reservation are Delta Upsilon, McAllister; Chi Omega, Sigma Nu; Alpha Omicron Pi, Phi Kappa Sigma; Alpha Xi Delta, Sigma Pi; Sigma Tau, Zeta Beta Tau; Phi Mu Delta, and Atherton.

Leese Elected New President Of LA Council

Watson Leese, sixth semester arts and letters major, was elected president of the Liberal Arts Student Council last night, replacing Richard Kirshchner, eighth semester arts and letters major.

Other officers elected are Louis Adler, fourth semester arts and letters major, vice president, and Mary Lee Lauffer, sixth semester journalism major, secretary-treasurer.

Benjamin Sinclair, chairman of the faculty evaluations committee, announced at the council meeting that approximately 2000 faculty evaluation sheets will be distributed among faculty in the college this week.

Norma Vollmer, editor of the Lantern, Liberal Arts magazine, announced that the magazine will be distributed to students in the college this week. This is the first issue of the magazine and will be offered as a complimentary issue, she said.

The council voted to give the editor of the Lantern a $20 compensation fee.

The Liberal Arts Open House will be held Saturday in 119 Osmond beginning with registration at 12:30 p.m., Louis Adler, open house committee chairman, announced. Letters have been sent to 1800 high schools in the state inviting students to the open house, Adler said.

Big Four Discusses Indochina's Fate

GENEVA, Switzerland, April 26 (AP)—The 19 nations called together by the Big Four to try to guide Asia to peace met today and decided to turn at once to the problem of Korea. But the urgent question of war-torn Indochina's fate overshadowed the Korean issue in many minds.

French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault issued a statement as the conference opened accusing the Vietminh of violating the rules of war in Indochina in refusing to let the French fly out their "hundreds and hundreds" of wounded from Dien Bien Phu.

Bidault did not issue the statement at the conference, but it obviously was meant for the ears of the delegates. He asked for some action to allow the beleaguered garrison a temporary truce to send out its wounded.

He added that it was inconceivable for a conference taking place in the birthplace of the Red Cross to refrain from taking some action towards a humanitarian truce.

At today's session, the delegates organized their procedure in 31 minutes. But they faced a long, rocky road to the goal set for them.

Settling the question of the conference chairmanship swiftly, the delegates decided to plunge into debate tomorrow on the long-smouldering Korean issue.

Pyun Yung Tai, foreign minister of South Korea, is expected to deliver a bitter denunciation of Communist aggression in his country, coupled with demands for unification of the nation.

A Soviet spokesman said the North Korean foreign minister will present the North Korean viewpoint.

The conference thus would be handed at its second session the problem which has harassed the United Nations for four years.

The perilous problems which confront the West seemed personified in the short, impassive man who sat in front of Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov during today's session. He was Chou En-lai, Red China's foreign minister.

The Soviet Union is determined to bring Chou and China into the world's councils on an equal footing with the Big Four. The United States is just as firmly opposed to such recognition of a nation which fought United Nations troops in Korea and which now aids the Communist forces fighting French troops in Indochina.

Prince Narathip Pongpraphan Wan Waithayakon of Thailand, who presided at today's session in the council chamber of the old League of Nations building—the Palace of Nations—told delegates the task before them was a noble one "to which we must devote ourselves with all our hearts."

Today's meeting was the first high level diplomatic conference in Geneva since those unhappy days of the late 1930's.

Spring Week Contests Registration to Close

Tomorrow is the deadline for filing three Spring Week registrations, at the Student Union desk in Old Main.

Entrants in the Miss Penn State contest must submit 8x11 pictures by noon. The deadline for Mad Hatter registration lists and revised Carnival and Parade forms is 5 p.m. tomorrow.
