

Fifth Horse Show Will Begin Today

The fifth annual horse show sponsored by the University Riding Club will begin at 1 p.m. today at the University stables. It will continue tomorrow morning and afternoon and Sunday afternoon.

Today's program will consist of warm up jumpers, novice horsemanship, open working hunter, intermediate horsemanship, knock down and out, and intermediate horsemanship jumping.

Tomorrow's show will begin at 8 a.m. with the first phase of a modified Olympic event, which is being used for the first time. The first phase consists of a dressing test, testing the coordination, suppleness, and instantaneous and absolute response of the horse to the rider's demands.

The second phase of the modified Olympic event will begin the afternoon schedule at 1:30 p.m. The second phase is a cross-country endurance test, showing the ability of a horse to move cross-country rapidly and safely with a minimum of strain.

The remaining afternoon schedule will consist of children's horsemanship, open stock horse, hunter hack, western parade horse, and advanced horsemanship.

Begins at 1 p.m. Sunday

The Sunday show will begin at 1 p.m. with advanced horsemanship jumping and morgan exhibition. The third phase of the modified Olympic event, which consists of ring jumping to test the physical and mental fitness of the horses. It will begin at 2 p.m.

Other classes will include appointment hunters, open pleasure horse, Riding Club trophy, morgan under saddle, go as you please, hunt teams, and Centre County pleasure horse.

An exhibitor's banquet will be held at 8:30 p.m. tomorrow in the Allencrest Tea Room.

Judges of the show will be Mr. and Mrs. Alden McKim Crane, Washington, D.C. They will be assisted by Charles G. Stewart and Robert R. Stock, State College.

Entrants of the horse show will come from Penn Hall Junior College, Grier School, the University, and the surrounding area.

'Bermuda Day' Proclaimed By Grove

Today is Bermuda Shorts Day. Bermudas and knee socks will be the standard wearing apparel for many men on campus. Bare knees will be seen in classes.

The idea originated Sunday night when Daniel Grove, ninth semester arts and letters major and WMAJ announcer, announced on "Groovology" that Friday, April 30, would be Bermuda Shorts Day.

Grove said that the more students who wear Bermuda shorts, the less they will be noticed.

Although the Dean of Women's office has ruled that women may not wear Bermuda shorts for any purpose other than a recreational activity, men today will wear their shorts to classes and around campus.

Grove also said: "It is hoped that not only today but everyday will be Bermuda Shorts Day on the Penn State campus."

Caps, Gowns Orders

Graduating seniors in home economics and mineral industries may place orders for caps and gowns today and tomorrow at the Athletic Store. A $5 deposit is required for cap and gown orders.

Invitations and announcements may be ordered at the Student Union desk in Old Main according to the same schedule.

Nominations for student council seats will close at 5 p.m. today for Liberal Arts Student Council, Engineering Student Council, Education Student Council, and Home Economics Student Council.

At noon tomorrow nominations will close for Mineral Industries Student Council, Business Administration Student Council, Physical Education and Athletics Student Council, and Chem-Phys Student Council.

Finch Will Speak Tonight at Banquet

Henry A. Finch, associate professor of philosophy, will speak at the Association of Independent Men and Leonides banquet at 7 tonight at the Eutaw House.

Those planning to attend will meet at 6:15 p.m. behind Old Main for transportation. Robert Harding, banquet committee chairman, has announced.

Awards will be made to the outstanding independent man in activities, scholarship, and athletics at the banquet. AIM officers for next year, who were elected Wednesday night, will be installed. Robert Solomon will be master of ceremonies.

Collegiate Chatter

things, not in books, learned by the time you become an eighth semester senior:

1. It will be to your advantage to employ the insidious art of circumlocution when taking a blue-book in a course which you know nothing about.
2. A cup of coffee at the Corner Room tastes better after you wait a half hour.
3. You're generally in the shower when the fire alarm rings.
4. It always rains on big weekends.
