

Nittany Nine Rallies to Win 7-3

Kennedy's Homer Sparks Five-Run Outburst in 9th

A dramatic five-run outburst in the ninth inning, sparked by Pat Kennedy's leadoff home run, enabled Penn State to win yesterday's encounter with Villanova at Philadelphia, 7-3.

The sensational comeback gave the Lions their sixth consecutive victory and boosted Keith Vesling's mound mark to 4-1.

Villanova led 3-2 going into the final frame on the strength of back-to-back homers with two down in the eighth.

Glenn Killinger's Wildcats started the scoring in the fourth when first baseman Jack Helm led off with a single and scored on catcher Bill McCaffrey's double.

Lions Take Lead

Penn State jumped into the lead in the seventh with two runs on four hits. Hubie Kline, the Lions' leading hitter yesterday with three hits in four trips to the plate, singled to center with one down to start the uphill fight. A ringing double by Merl Gerdes scored Kline.

Rex Bradley followed with a single to left, sending Gerdes to third. On the play Bradley was out trying to stretch his hit to a two-bagger. Villanova leftfielder Jack Peters fired to third baseman Don Muchetti who in turn threw to second baseman McCaffrey in time to catch Bradley. Vesling drove in the final run of the inning with a double to deep right center.

Successive Home Runs

The Lions held this 2-1 until Charlie McGuckin and Helm smashed successive round trippers. McGuckin's blast traveled close to 400 feet and Helm's about 380.

Kennedy tied the game at 3-3 with his 400-foot drive to left center. Kline singled but was forced at second by Gerdes. Bradley then came through with his second straight single and Vesling walked to load the bases.

Nittany leadoff batter Charlie Russo went down on strikes, but Pete Cherish got a free ticket to force in a run and put the Lions in the lead to stay. Ron Weidenhammer's grounder was turned into a two-run error by shortstop Ralph Cecere. George Ettenger ended the scoring with an infield single.

Vesling struck out one and walked only two in hurling his fifth complete game in as many starts. Villanova stranded five runners and the Lions seven.

Penn State has four games left on the schedule. The next contest is Saturday at Beaver Field with Colgate.

After that the Lions will finish the season with three road games. Penn will provide the opposition Wednesday and Pitt will host the final battles May 28 and 29.

No Coddling in Army, Says Yankees' Martin

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., May 19 (P)—Pvt. Billy Martin, ex-second baseman for the New York Yankees, said today "If there's coddling or whatever you want to call it going on in the Army I haven't seen it."

Martin was drafted ten weeks ago and after basic training at Ft. Ord, Calif., has been transferred to Camp Carson near here to await reassignment.

On his first day at Camp Carson, Martin was assigned to KP duty.

Netmen Capture 7th, Defeat Bucknell, 6-3

By ROG BEIDLER

The Penn State tennis team made it two in a row over Bucknell this season and captured its seventh win, as it downed the Bisons 6-3, yesterday at Lewisburg.

The Bucknell netmen fell before the Lions earlier this spring by an 8-1 margin and showed improvement in their 6-3 loss yesterday. The shoe was on the other foot last year as the Nittany netmen were defeated twice by the Bisons.

In the lead off match, Dick Robinson suffered his second defeat of the campaign as he went down before Bucknell's Al Holton in straight sets, 7-5, 6-3. Holton's waiting game garnered him a revenge victory for the loss he suffered in the first match with the Lion senior. Robinson's loss was his first since the opening match with Navy.

Landon Wins

In the number two encounter, Lew Landon grabbed the first win for the Blue and White as he duplicated his earlier victory over Spence Lenhardt. The Lion co-captain won by a 7-5, 6-3 score. Bill Ziegler racked up his ninth triumph of the spring by pounding out a 6-3, 6-2 decision over Joe Battin, Bucknell's number three performer.

Dick Wormser picked up the second win for the Bisons as he handed State's fourth man, Bruz Ray, a 2-6, 6-4, 7-5 setback. Ed Seiling kept his winning streak intact as he defeated Frank Klahre in the fifth singles encounter. The Nittany sophomore, who is undefeated since the Navy match at the start of the season, garnered an easy 6-1, 6-2 victory.

Mullen Tops Richter

Dean Mullen rounded out singles competition with another straight set triumph over Ric Richter. Mullen swept over his opponent by 6-4, 6-2 scores.

In doubles, Robinson and Ziegler had little trouble as they downed Holton and Wormser, 6-2, 6-2. The Bison combination of Battin and Lenhardt, who gained the only point from the Fogmen in the initial encounter, again copped the number two doubles event as they defeated Ray and Landon, 4-6, 6-3, 8-6. Seiling and Chuck Christiansen added the sixth marker for the Lions in defeating Richter and Klahre, 6-2, 4-6, 6-3.

Jim Tatum, Maryland Coach, and Bud Wilkinson, Oklahoma coach, were on the football coaching staff of the powerful Iowa Pre-Flight Naval Training School team in 1941.

Carpenter Admits Having Hamner Tailed

PHILADELPHIA, May 19 (P)—Robert R. M. Carpenter, president of the Philadelphia Phillies, admitted today he had employed a private detective to tail second baseman Granny Hamner.

Carpenter's disclosure followed Hamner's report to police last night he was being trailed and the subsequent arrest of a private investigator.

The ball player suspected he was being tailed after the Phillies-Milwaukee Braves game last night. He called police who arrested the driver of an automobile noted circling the block on which Hamner lives.

Hardwick Will Present Tennis Clinic

A free tennis clinic will be conducted at 4 p.m. today on the asphalt courts at Beaver Field with Mary Hardwick, one of the world's finest tennis players, as the top attraction.

Demonstrations of singles and doubles play, explanations of basic shots, and an exhibition match will be included in the clinic.

Miss Hardwick was born just a short distance from the famous Wimbledon Center Court, the scene of many famous tennis matches.

She reached the semi-finals of the Great Britain Junior Championship in her second tournament try and caught the eye of Dan Maskell, Britain's leading tennis instructor. Maskell gave her lessons and within two years Miss Hardwick was representing Great Britain in her first international matches with Germany and France. In 1936 she entered Wightman Cup play for the first time.

Two years later she battled her idol and then world's champion, Helen Wills Moody, for the first time. Miss Hardwick won the first set 6-3 and barely missed winning the match. It was not until 1938 that she was able to defeat Mrs. Moody. It was the first loss for the nine-times world's titlist in more than a decade.

In 1939 Miss Hardwick made a tour of the West Indies and played in Wightman Cup competition. The following year she came to the United States, and after winning five championships, found herself cut off from England due to the outbreak of World War II. This turn of events made her decide to become a professional.

Miss Hardwick could have returned to England, but she chose to stay in this country to settle down to a career of playing matches for British charities. She played for the British War Relief Bundles for Britain, and even set up a fund of her own—the "Mary Hardwick Wimbledon Fund." This last drive furnished fully equipped mobile canteens for the bomb-ridden citizens of Wimbledon.

She and Alice Marble accepted the invitation of the War Department to make a tour of camps in 1943. This tour included the first overseas trip by civilian athletes in wartime. By this time she had become the wife of Charles Hare, Britain's top male tennis player and at the time a sergeant in the U.S. Army.

In 1944 she returned to England to start a speaking tour. Two years later she came back to this country and combined her speaking tour with clinic work.

Miss Hardwick has been called one of the most graceful players in tennis. She feels tennis is the best sport for international good will and understanding.

7 Advance in IM Golf Quarterfinals
