

Traffic Policy Issued For Staff Violations

Commencement Instructions Available Now

Graduation instructions are available to seniors in the offices of the deans of their respective colleges, David H. McKinley, University marshal, has announced. Graduation exercises will be held June 7, at 10:30 a.m. on Beaver Field. In case of bad weather, they will be held in two sections at 10:30 a.m. and 2 p.m. in Recreation Hall. Seniors will receive four tickets to the Rec Hall graduation exercises. No tickets are required if the exercises are held on Beaver Field. However, if they are held in Rec Hall, tickets will guarantee a seat until ten minutes before the ceremony. At that time, doors will be opened to the public. Students may pick up tickets when they get their caps and gowns. Students graduating in military uniform may obtain tickets in their Reserve Officers' Training Corps office. Following graduating exercises, until 5:30 p.m. official diplomas will be given out at the counter of the Recorder's office in the basement of Willard Hall. Arthur S. Adams, president of the American Council on Education, will speak at commencement.

Ku Presented Sparks Medal

Nani Ku, sixth semester psychology major, was presented with the Sparks Medal Wednesday, by Adrian O. Morse, University Provost.

Nani Ku

The award is presented every semester to the student who shows the greatest progress in attaining a 3.0 All - University average. The medal was established in honor of Edwin Erle Sparks, president of the University from 1908 to 1928. The award is a small gold medal, engraved with a likeness of Sparks. The name of the winner and the date of presentation is engraved on the back.

Seniors May Vote For Class Gift

Engineering and architecture seniors may vote for the senior class gift today when they pick up copies of LaVie at the Student Union desk in Old Main. Approximately 500 seniors have voted on the five class gift suggestions thus far, according to George L. Donovan, director of associated student activities. Copies of the yearbook will be available for agricultural seniors tomorrow and Monday; home economics, mineral industries, and education seniors, Tuesday and Wednesday; and chemistry and physics and physical education seniors, Thursday.

Ogontz Building Named

The main administration building at Ogontz Center has been named for Abby A. Sutherland, former head of the Ogontz Center.

Air Force Commander To Review Cadets

Commander George W. Kenney, Air Force Commander in the Pacific during World War II, will review Air Force Reserve Officer Training Corps cadets at 7 p.m. tomorrow in wing I and present an Air Force medal to the outstanding student. The award will be presented as part of the Air Force Association convention. The winner has not been announced.

Faculty and staff members who violate traffic regulations next fall will receive a written warning from their dean of administrative officer on the first violation, a verbal warning on the second, and cash fines in the event of more violations. A third offense will carry a fine of $2, and a fourth, $3. In the event of a fifth violation, the parking permit of the employee will be revoked, and a $5 fine will be imposed for every violation following the fourth.

Faculty members, staff employees, and graduate students will have to apply for a motor vehicle permit through their college dean or administrative officer.

Agree to Waive Damage
Those applying will have to agree to waive damage in the event that the car is damaged while parked, or if their cars are removed as a result of parking in violation of regulations. They must also agree to the assessment and collection of monetary fines, revocation of parking privileges, or enforcement measures deemed necessary.

The ruling was passed by the Board of Trustees last weekend. University officials said the new system was necessitated by persistent disregard of rules and regulations designed to alleviate the parking and driving problems on campus.

Faculty Applications
Applications for faculty and staff permits will probably be filed during the period from June 1 to July 1, but may be filed later under unusual circumstances. Applications must be made through the college dean or administrative officer.

The Campus Patrol is required under the new rules to notify the employee's dean or administrator, as well as the Bursar, of all violations. Fines will be payable at the Office of the Bursar, within 30 days after the assessment, and will become a lien against the employee's salary or pay check if they are not paid within that period.

Complete text of the new regulations will be made available to employees of the University soon, when arrangements will also be made for applications for parking permits.

The new rules follow a plan successfully used at other institutions with a comparable problem.

Forms Due Today At SU Desk For AIM Board

Application forms for the Association of Independent Men Judicial Board of Review must be returned at 5 p.m. today, to the Student Union Desk in Old Main, according to Robert Dennis, AIM president.

Those men getting the forms through their dormitory presidents may also return the forms to the presidents, Dennis said. Applicants will be interviewed personally by an AIM Board of Governors committee Sunday, Dennis said. Announcement of the winners to the eight positions on the board for next year will be made in the committee's report to the board of governors meeting Wednesday night.

Applicants will be considered on the basis of understanding of the judicial board's work, previous experience in similar work and quality of references, Dennis said.

No previous experience in judicial work or in student government is required, he said.

The judicial board reviews all disciplinary cases involving independent men. Its decisions are subject to approval by the Dean of Men's office. Edward Stoops has been named chairman of the board by the board of governors.

Chem Society Plans Picnic for Tomorrow

Phi Lambda Upsilon, chemistry honorary fraternity, will hold a picnic tomorrow afternoon at the civil engineer's camp.

Members of the fraternity, and faculty and graduate students of the Department of Chemistry may attend.

Cars will leave Osmond parking lot at 2 p.m.

Traffic Rules Continue

Campus traffic and parking rules and regulations will be enforced through June 7, Captain Philip A. Mark has announced.

Cabinet Report:

Eight Workshops Set For Encampment

By ROY WILLIAMS

Eight workshops were approved last night by All-University Cabinet for the Fall Student Encampment to be held for three days at Mount Alto Center.

Allan Schneirov, committee chairman, made the report to cabinet in which five workshops from the 1953 encampment program were dropped for the coming fall session.

The areas proposed by Schneirov to be discussed at encampment are as follows:

1. Making Student Government more effective, including the uses of the Cabinet Secretariat, and communications including campus publications and radio station.
2. Nominations and elections system.
3. Campus community government.
4. Academic policies.
5. Academic honesty and judicials.
6. Campus chest and World United Service.
7. Social and cultural aspects.
8. Centennial.

Five Dropped
The five workshops dropped for the coming encampment are student-town relations, resident-counselor relations, recreation, book exchange, and publications.

Schneirov said invitations to the encampment will be sent out to approximately 90 students in the near future. Invitations will also be sent to approximately 20 or 30 faculty members, and three or four townspeople. Schneirov said this is the second year such a policy will be followed because of the successfulness of the idea last year.

Prexy OKs Plan

When Tamsin Bloom, chairman of the board of publications, asked why campus communications were placed under the general topic of making campus student government more effective, Schneirov said the plan had been approved by President Milton S. Eisenhower in order to make an over-all comprehensive report, particularly on the improvement and effectiveness of student government.

Thomas Kidd, cabinet parliamentarian, said encampment was not a student government association, and the purpose of such an area for discussion was to include

Smith Trophy To Be Awarded To Mortensen

Theodore Mortensen, eighth semester physical education major, will be awarded the Paul Smith Memorial Trophy as the outstanding male physical educational student.

Mortensen will have his name engraved on the silver trophy that is on display in Recreation Hall. He also will receive a small trophy for himself.

The trophy is awarded annually by the Physical Education Student Council. It honors Smith, a former physical education major who died in 1946, three months before he was to have been graduated.

Women faculty members of the College of Physical Education and Athletics are giving a party for senior women in the College.

Court Recommends Probation for Five

Five general recommendations for probation were made Monday night by Traffic Court, and it was decided to send two students' cars home. One of the students, a liberal arts senior, will probably be referred to the discipline committee.

Of the 23 scheduled cases, 15 reported. The seven students who failed to report received automatic fines. Twenty six dollars in fines was levied, with $2 being collected by the court. One case was dismissed, and $8 in fines was suspended.

a broad, but inclusive, field for discussion.

Schneirov pointed out that a list of 140 names had been drawn up from which the initial 90 names had been selected. He said there will be a surplus of people to fill the positions of those who can not or do not want to attend the encampment.

Inquiring Reporter:

Alphabetical Registration Plan Meets Students' Opposition

By ANITA OPRENDEK
The majority of students questioned on their opinions of the planned alphabetical registration for fall voiced disapproval of the new system.

The most common arguments against the plan were that seniors deserve priority in scheduling their courses and that students who have been expecting to register as upperclassmen are losing that privilege.

The registration system to be used this fall was passed in order to utilize time and space during registration. The previous system was not satisfactory in the respect that certain courses were rushed by each class at the time students were registering and some courses were not patronized at all even though all the scheduling booths were open.

These circumstances made a change necessary, according to C. O. Williams, dean of admissions and registrar, when he announced the decision to use the new system last week.

The opinions of the students questioned are:

Judy Solomon, second semester home economics major: "I think it's unfair to seniors. Even though their departments will take care of the necessary requirements, the students will not have the advantage of selecting electives outside their own majors."

Charles Bates, fourth semester industrial engineering major: "Juniors and seniors should have preference, because freshmen and sophomores have more years to schedule courses."

Priscilla Mullin, eighth semester English literature: "I'm graduating, but I think they had a good system this year that worked rather smoothly and I think there is going to be quite a mixup with graduating seniors who wish to take certain courses under the new system."

Ronald McKinnon, second semester electrical engineering major: "It gives everybody an equal chance throughout the school to register."

Marion Trimas, fourth semester industrial engineering major: "I think the scheduling problem should belong to freshmen and sophomores. Weary juniors and seniors should be given at least a special consideration for their previous two years of hard labor."

Ann Patterson, eighth semester home economics major: "I'm not in favor of it. I think preference should be given to seniority."

Wayne Shoup, fourth semester industrial engineering major: "Although it does offer some disadvantages to seniors, I think it is a good plan. I understand that the instructors will accept any senior in any required course and that it does offer the advantages of utilizing the space and time during registration."
