

8 Election Suggestions Referred to Committee

Eight recommendations for revising All-University elections, presented to All-University Cabinet Thursday night, were referred to the Student Encampment committee on politics for further discussion.

Action on the recommendations, prepared by last year's encampment committee on elections, was delayed after cabinet decided there was insufficient time at the meeting to discuss the proposals as fully as they should be discussed.

25 Students Apply for AIM Board

Twenty-five men have applied for seats on the Association of Independent Men Judicial Board of Review. Eight positions are open on the board for next year.

This has been the first time students have been able to apply for student judicial posts without the benefit of previous experience. The only requirement was a 1.0 All-University average. The judicial board hears disciplinary cases involving independent men, with their decisions subject to approval by the Dean of Men's office.

According to Edward Stoops, chairman of the board, the 25 applicants will be screened by a 15-man AIM Board of Governors committee. The interviewing will be done tomorrow in 204 Old Main, beginning at 2 p.m. Each man will be allowed a ten-minute interview.

The men will be judged on the basis of understanding of the board's work, previous experience in similar work, and quality of references.

Final balloting by the committee will be by preferential vote, which Stoops describes as "the most democratic method of balloting."

Announcement of those men finally selected for the eight positions will be made Wednesday night at the AIM Board of Governors meeting.

Stoops said he hopes to get his board ready to handle cases by the first week of school. Last year, he said, the board wasn't operating until December.

Androcles Officers

New officers of Androcles, junior men's hat society, are Vernon Sones, president; Charles Folkers, vice president; and Norman Miller, secretary-treasurer.

13 on Faculty Take Leaves of Absence

Thirteen leaves of absence for faculty members were recently approved by the executive committee of the Board of Trustees.

They include John M. Anderson, professor and head of the Department of Philosophy, from July 1 to June 30, to conduct research in philosophy; Robert E. Dengler, professor of Greek and head of the Classical Language department, for the 1954-55 academic year to travel in Greece, Italy, and England; Harold E. Dickson, professor of fine arts, for the fall semester, 1954-55, to study the history of Pennsylvania art.

Friese to Teach

John F. Friese, professor of industrial arts education, for the fall semester, 1954 to 1955, to continue work on a book on the teaching of industrial arts education and to visit colleges with teacher training programs in the West; David A. Kribs, professor of botany, Feb. 1 to July 31, to study commercial wood imported from foreign countries; William M. Lepley, professor of psychology, for the spring semester, 1954-1955, to visit other universities and study laboratories conducting work in experimental psychology.

Joseph F. O'Brien, professor of speech, Feb. 1 and June 30, to write and study; Robert T. Oliver, professor and head of the Department of Speech, April 21 to June 30, to participate in the Geneva conference; Abram W. VanderMeer, professor of education, spring semester 1954-55, to write; Arthur H. Waynick, professor and head of the Department of Electrical Engineering and director, Ionosphere Research as fully as they should be discussed.

One of the major recommendations calls for having upperclassmen register for a party clique during official registration at Recreation Hall at the beginning of the semester. According to the committee's proposal, freshmen would register at a later date, under the supervision of the elections committee.

Primary Election

The proposal calls for a primary election to be conducted under the committee's jurisdiction with the cooperation of the cliques. Charles Gibbs, who presented the report for James Dunlap, chairman of the encampment committee, explained that students would be allowed to circulate nominating petitions.

Then, he said, those who received a sufficient number of signatures would be voted on in the clique primaries. Students would be required to register with a clique to vote in the primaries but registration would not be required for All-University elections.

Other recommendations called for allowing the cliques more freedom in campaigning, as long as it did not run contrary to University regulations; having Cabinet adopt a permanent elections code, subject to revision by formal amendment only; and requiring cliques to submit a constitution to cabinet prior to fall elections and have them be granted a charter by cabinet once the constitution was approved.

Decentralized Voting

In addition, the report recommended that decentralized voting be continued for another year, that a member of the Political Science department serve on the encampment elections committee, and that a committee be set up to investigate means by which students could be educated as to the means of selection, purpose, and duties of student government organizations.

In submitting the report for the elections committee, Edwin Kohn, chairman, also recommended increased campus campaigning and a continuation of decentralized voting. Kohn said the Temporary Union Building and Nittany 20

(Continued on page five)

Lions' Paw--

(Continued from page one) Paw, answered "No comment" when asked if this were true. He refused to make any statements on Kirschner's talk.

Ellsworth Smith said he was a member of Lion's Paw and in commenting on Kirschner's speech said, "What he said had nothing to do with our group except that he mentioned our names. He said that in the past Lion's Paw had caused dissension at cabinet. As for voting in a bloc, it was disproved last night when Robert Dennis and Robert Homan (both on Kirschner's list) had an argument about a motion on the floor."

Bloc Voting

"If he wonders about Lion's Paw voting in bloc, let him wonder about Intercollege Council Board voting in a bloc," Smith said. "Last year on practically all major issues the ICCB voted as a bloc, usually consisting of nine abstentions. If he considers this proper voting perhaps he has room to stand up. If he considers bloc voting wrong he should look back on ICCB's voting record."

Diehl McKalip affirmed his membership in Lion's Paw and said, "any comment on Kirschner's remarks would have to come from the group as a whole." But speaking personally on the question of whether he thought Lion's Paw formed a voting bloc on cabinet, he said he felt it formed no more of a clique than individuals would on their own in discussing cabinet issues.

Cabinet's Reaction

Robert Smoot also said he was a member of Lion's Paw and added that cabinet's reaction to the statements would depend on the individual members of cabinet. He had no fute comments to make.

Donald Balthaser said he was a member of the group but had no additional comments.

When asked if he felt Kirschner's charges would hinder cabinet's progress this year, Ronald Safier, named by Kirschner as a member, said, "I really don't think so. I can't see where it will do any harm to cabinet next year." Asked if he thought the charges were in any way justified by the actions so far of the new initiates, Safier said, "No. Definitely not."

John Speer, John Carpenter, Robert Homan, Thomas Kidd, also named by Kirschner, could not be reached for comment.

Senior Invitations Ready

Seniors who have placed orders for invitations and announcements may pick them up at the Student Union desk in Old Main upon the presentation of the order receipt.

Czekaj Assumes Duties As Ticket Manager

Edward M. Czekaj, assistant business manager of athletics, is now also ticket manager in charge of ticket sales to intercollegiate events.

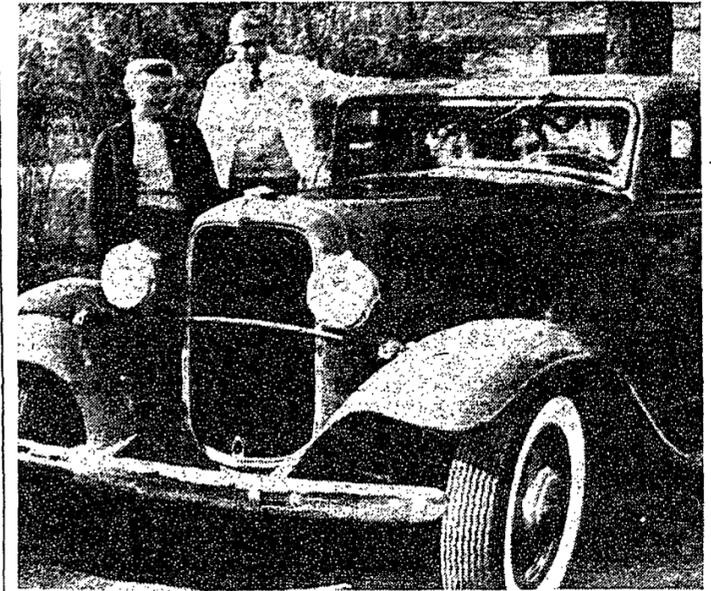

Czekaj joined the staff in 1953. He was a member of the University's Cotton Bowl team in 1947. His new duties as ticket manager began yesterday.

Laboratory, Aug. 1 to May 1, to attend a meeting of the International Scientific Radio Union General Assembly in the Netherlands, as chairman of the United States National Committee and to lecture at Cambridge University under a Guggenheim Fellowship.

Whisler to Leave

Benjamin A. Whisler, professor and head of the Department of Civil Engineering, July 1 to Aug. 31, to work as a consulting engineer at Regina, Saskatchewan; David G. White, professor of pomology, Sept. 1 to Jan. 31, to study and participate in research at Rutgers University; and David Rix, associate professor of physics, July 1 to June 30, 1955, to study at Harvard under a Ford Foundation scholarship.

Jazzy Jalopy

PRETTY SNAPPY, says Barbara Kimble, as she looks over the 1932 model automobile reconvered by John Bonholtzer. The flamingo red Ford coupe took about 18 months to convert and cost about $1300. Bonholtzer cut the top down three inches, put on a new all-steel top, and upholstered the interior in red pleated leatherette. The engine is built around a 1948 Mercury block.

Flamingo Red Car Is Costly Project

By NANCY WARD

Twelve coats of flamingo red lacquer distinguish a converted 1932 Ford coupe owned and rebuilt by John Bonholtzer, second semester hotel administration major.

During the 18 months it took Bonholtzer to rebuild the car, he reconditioned the body and worked on the motor, which had already been "souped up."

After the top was chopped down three inches, a new all-steel top was welded onto the car. The interior was upholstered black and flamingo red pleated leatherette.

Cost of the reconversion was $1300. The engine is built around a 1948 Mercury block rebored to 3 5/16-inches. The 150 horsepower motor has high compression aluminum heads and a racing cam.

Dual intake and exhaust manifolds and dual carburetors also have been installed. The flywheel was cut from 40 to 20 pounds.

Bonholtzer predicts the car will hit 110 to 115 miles per hour but said he hasn't clocked the top speed. The car gets 17 miles to a gallon of gas, he said.

He bought the car about a year ago while he was a senior at Haverford Township High School. He said it was in good mechanical condition but the body was ready for the junk yard.

Bonholtzer used knowledge gained as a gas station attendant and from car-minded friends in doing most of the rebuilding himself.

Meckler Wins Reading Event

David Meckler, sixth semester pre-medical major, placed first in the address reading contest of the men's debate squad on Wednesday. Sidney Goldblatt, sixth semester pre-medical major, was second.

Participants in the contest read five-minute excerpts from speeches delivered during the past school year. Meckler's excerpt was from "World's Troubles" given by Adlai Stevenson Sept. 15, 1953. Goldblatt spoke on "By Simple Living Man Becomes Magnificent," delivered by Charles L. Aushach, of the Central Michigan College of Education, May 20, 1953.

The debate squad will hold a picnic at 2 p.m. Sunday at Black Moshannon Park. Cars will leave at 1:15 p.m. from behind Old Main. Chairmen are Kirschner and Pripstein.

Jody WARNER theatres

Carnival

Anne Baxier
Steve Cochran

"CARNIVAL STORY"

State

"BEACHHEAD"

Tony Curtis
Frank Lovejoy

Nittany

"CAPT. JOHN SMITH AND POCAHONTAS"

Anthony Dexter

"Incredible! A Remarkable Job!" —N.Y. Times

"The picture of the year." —This Week

"Should not be missed by anyone." —New Yorker

"A triumphantly beautiful film." —Time

"A fascinating movie, magnificently photographed." —Newsweek

Begins 3:15 p.m.
MONDAY

Fabulously BEAUTIFUL!
Excitingly DIFFERENT!
Savagely REAL!

Walt Disney's
The Living Desert
TECHNICOLOR

His first feature-length true life adventure!

Walt Disney's
"BEN AND ME"
A Cartoon Novelty • color by TECHNICOLOR

Stanley-Warner
NITTANY