

AFROTC Seniors Get Marshals Selected New Commission Offer For Commencement

The Air Force has offered to pin lieutenants' bars on college seniors, who had earlier been warned that they would not receive a commission because they were not willing to serve as pilots or because they were physically disabled, according to an article in the New York Times.

324 AF Cadets Plan to Train During Summer

A total of 324 Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps cadets will observe the practical application of the theories learned in their ROTC classes at Air Force summer camp.

Prerequisite to graduation, the four-week camp period is usually taken between the cadet's junior and senior year in college.

During the first period which begins June 20, 30 men will be stationed at the Lochbourne Base in Ohio, 20 at Moody Base in Georgia, 137 at Greenville Base in Mississippi, 40 at Tyndall Base in Florida, 16 at Mitchell Base in New York, 21 at Keesler Base in Mississippi, and 19 at Wright-Patterson Base in Ohio.

Thirty-one cadets will report to Lochbourne for the second period on July 25.

Ten men will be stationed at Eglin Base in Florida and ten will also be stationed at Westover Base in Massachusetts for the second period, which begins July 18.

Marines Offer OCS Program

Qualified sophomores, juniors, and seniors are eligible to apply now for selection as officer candidates in the U.S. Marine Corps and attend a six-week training period held at the Marine Corps School, Quantico, Va., Major R. R. Bucher, USMC assistant professor of naval science has announced.

The classes, which are held each summer, will convene this year on June 17.

Major Bucher stated that many interesting and responsible positions are being held by women marine officers.

Information is available through Major Bucher in 201 Engineering.

Schug Elected

Clayton H. Schug, associate professor of public speaking, has been elected vice president of the Eastern Forensic Association. The association represents nearly 60 colleges and universities.

8 Outstanding Cadets Honored in AFROTC

Eight Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps Cadets were recognized for outstanding scholastic records and participation and leadership in the University and military affairs in front of Old Main yesterday.

Cadet Lt. Col. Robert Hess was presented with the outstanding second year advanced AFROTC medal for Wing I, the AFROTC certificate of the Society of American Military Engineers for demonstrating outstanding personal achievement and professional development during his senior year in the study of the Aeronautical Sciences, and the national Rifle Association Club championship medal, and the AFROTC rifle team trophy for accumulating the highest aggregate score in team competition throughout the 1953-54 season.

The outstanding second year advanced AFROTC medal for Wing II was awarded to cadet Col. William H. Johnson. The outstanding first year advanced AFROTC medal was awarded to cadet Capt. Jack Conner.

The remaining awards made were the outstanding second year basic AFROTC medal to cadet Tech. Sgt. Charles Miller, AFROTC convair award of merit to cadet airman 2d class Glenn Culbertson as the outstanding sophomore student selected for the advanced course in the category leading to flying training.

The outstanding first year basic

The newly commissioned men will not be members of the Air Force but members of their State National Guard.

Draft Was Possibility

Before the National Guard Bureau notified the Air Force that it could use almost all the Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps graduates in the non-flying category, they had only two courses of action. They could serve as enlisted men for two years instead of the usual four, or wait until the Army drafted them.

The announcement applies only to ROTC men graduated between May 1, 1954 and April 3, 1955. The National Selective Service headquarters has agreed to delay induction of graduates in this group for a maximum of 60 days.

Time Required

That much time may be required for the Air National Guard units to accept the interested graduates and appoint them second lieutenants. They will also be commissioned in the Air Force Reserve.

Each applicant will be required to sign a six-year obligation. This calls for up to three years of full-time service with the Air Force and active participation in the Air National Guard for the balance of the obligatory period.

Library Receives Special Volumes From Newspaper

A bound volume of 16 Centennial editions, published in 1953 by the Johnstown Tribune-Democrat, has been presented by the newspaper to the Pattee Library. The formal presentation was made Saturday to President Milton S. Eisenhower by Ben Coll and Pat Molloy, managing editors of the Tribune-Democrat.

Covering 100 years of history of Johnstown and Cambria county, the volume includes an entire section on the Johnstown flood of May 31, 1889, which took the lives of 2200 persons.

The 16 separate editions were published last year with the final edition listing important events in world news during the last 100 years.

The Johnstown newspapers marked their 100th birthday anniversary on December 7, 1953.

Debate Group Initiates 18

Eighteen women were initiated into Delta Alpha Delta, women's debate honorary fraternity, Sunday afternoon. A banquet for all members of the women's debate squad was held in the evening in the State College Hotel.

New members are Ann Leh, Renna Cramer, Suzanne Leib, Susanne Berleue, Barbara Horn, Mary Maum, Barbara Mensinger, Lee Edwards, Helen Sidman.

Vanessa Johnson, Eileen Marcelina, Dorothea Koldys, Nancy Hill, Claire Krieger, Adelaide Winnick, Lois Hummel, Judith Sedor, and Locinda Manarin.

Members of Delta Alpha Delta are chosen only from the women's debate team. Dorothy Osterhout is president of the honorary and Clayton H. Schug, associate professor of public speaking, is faculty advisor.

John to Head Research Group

Macklin E. John, professor of rural sociology and head of the Department of Agricultural Economics and Rural Sociology, has been re-elected chairman of the Social Science Research Center.

Other officers are Alfred G. Pundt, professor of European history, vice chairman; Howard A. Cutler, associate professor and head of the Department of Economics, secretary. They succeed Lester P. Guest, professor of psychology, and Maurice A. Mook, associate professor of anthropology.

Faculty members named to three-year terms on the board are: Jesse Bernard, professor of sociology; Cutler; Ruth R. Honey, professor of family economics and housing; Pundt; and Snyder.

UBA Will Accept Books on Monday

Books to be sold at the beginning of the fall semester will be accepted from 1 to 5 p.m. Monday through June 4 in the Temporary Union Building, according to Paul Hood, manager of the Penn State Used Book Agency.

The UBA will store books at the TUB during the summer, and books will be sold there during the fall semester. The UBA will move into larger headquarters in the Hetzel Union Building upon its completion.

The Book Exchange supply store in the TUB will be open for business until Thursday.

Hat Society Council To Send 2 to Camp

Charles Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Brown, Bellefonte, and Clemens Schoenebeck, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clemens Schoenebeck, State College have been selected by Hat Society Council to attend summer camp.

The council will send the two boys to Keystone Boys State at Lock Haven State Teachers College July 10 to 18. The camp is sponsored by the State American Legion.

Marshals for commencement exercises to be held June 7 have been announced by David H. McKinley, University marshal.

Assistant faculty marshals are Palmer C. Weaver, assistant dean of the education college; Hummel Fishburn, professor of music and music education; Ray V. Watkins, University scheduling officer; William M. Hench, associate professor of international trade; and David E. Bauer, professor of industrial engineering.

College Marshals

Marshals for the colleges are College of Agriculture, Henry S. Brunner, professor of agriculture education; and Marion Cullen, student marshal; College of Business Administration, Howard A. Cutler, professor of economics; and Jerome Kotzen, student marshal; College of Chemistry and Physics, J. Harris Olewine, professor of organic chemistry; and Robert Euwema, student marshal; College of Education, Lester P. Guest, professor of psychology; and Martha Richards, student marshal.

Engineering College

College of Engineering and Architecture, Charles A. Eder, professor of civil engineering; and Richard Oswald, student marshal; College of Home Economics, Jean D. Amberson, professor of home economics education; College of the Liberal Arts, Harry L. Krall, professor of mathematics; and Leonard Goodman, student marshal; College of Mineral Industries, H. Mauzee Davis, professor of chemical metallurgy; and Thomas Prokopowicz, student marshal.

Phys Ed College

College of Physical Education and Athletics, Mildred A. Lucey, associate professor of physical education; and Margaret Powell, student marshal; Army ROTC, Rogers Bender, student marshal; Navy ROTC, Harry Hazlehurst, student marshal; Air Force ROTC, William Johnson, student marshal, and Graduate School, David H. Rank, resident professor of physics, and William Bailey Jr., student marshal.

Student marshals are selected on the basis of academic scholarship and period of residence.

Graduation Program

The program for graduation exercises has also been released by Wilmer E. Kenworthy, director of student affairs. President Milton S. Eisenhower will preside over the program, which will open with an academic procession of all graduates. George E. Ceiga, assistant professor of music will be in charge of the processional march.

Luther H. Harshbarger, University chaplain, will give the invocation. The commencement address will be given by Arthur S. Adams, president of the American Council on Education.

Order of Degrees

Order for the conferring of degrees and presenting of commissions is as follows: doctor's degrees, technical degrees, master's degrees, bachelor's degrees, and commissions. The order for commissions will be Army, Navy, and Air Force.

Scholastic awards will be presented to several seniors. The awards and recipients are John W. White Medal, Robert Euwema;

Mark Cites Special Rules For Drivers

Any student who has a good reason for driving on the campus during class hours may call the campus patrol office for permission to do so, according to Capt. Philip A. Mark of the campus patrol.

Making a necessary delivery on the campus or a trip to the University Hospital would be considered a good reason, Mark said. Such permission will only be valid if requested in advance. No excuses will be accepted if permission has not been requested, he added.

Campus traffic and parking rules and regulations will be enforced through July 7, Capt. Philip A. Mark has announced.

Mark said an unusually large number of violations have been received because of students bringing their cars to school in preparation for the trip home after finals. Close cooperation is necessary to avoid confusion, he said.

Aircraft Fund Is Established

The Martin Aircraft Scholarship Fund has been established with a grant of $25,000 by George M. Bunker, president of the Glenn L. Martin Co., Baltimore, Md., and J. B. Wharton Jr., director of the company.

Five hundred dollars was also presented to the University so two scholarships can be presented in September.

The University Board of Trustees approved the fund which will make new scholarships available to juniors and seniors.

Each award will provide $250 to a male student in a curriculum most applicable to the activities of the Martin Aircraft Company. The award will be presented in the junior year, and if the student maintains high standards of character and scholarship, he will be eligible for a second award of $250 his senior year.

John W. White Fellowship, Charles Rohrbach and Richard Rupp; Evan Pugh Medals for seniors, Richard Oswald, Robert Hess, Daniel Pattenato, Leon Johnson, and Virginia Bowman.

President Eisenhower will present the charge to the graduates. The program will close with the Alma Mater benediction, and recessional.

Seniors...

Heres' Your Final Reminder!

Join Your Alumni Association Now

Special Senior Membership $2.00

If You Join on or Before June 7

Come to: Alumni Office

104 OLD MAIN

ST. ANDREW'S EPISCOPAL CHURCH

announces

Service of Holy Communion 7:00 a.m.

Thursday May 27, 1954

ASCENSION DAY

(Breakfast following service.)