

New Aids Honor Prof, Student

Five new scholarships have been established at the University including one honoring a former professor and one presented by a former graduate.

Henry Harrison Geist, associate professor of quantitative analysis in the Department of Chemistry from 1919 until his death in 1944, will be honored by a scholarship established in his name by Mr. and Mrs. Granville Lane of Dallas, Tex.

Fourth Concert Will Be Given By Gianturco

The fourth in a series of five piano concerts by Eli Gianturco, associate professor of romance languages, will be given at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Hillel Foundation.

Gianturco, pianist, musicologist and music critic, will play about 30 sonatas by Domenico Scarlatti, Neapolitan composer of the 18th century.

These concerts are designed to trace the development of Italian compositions for keyboard instruments from the Renaissance to our own day.

Next week in the last concert of this series, Gianturco will present modern Italian music.

Tickets for the concerts will be sold at the door for $2.

Co-Edits

2 Faculty Members Will Participate In Recital Sunday

Two faculty members, a graduate student, and two other musicians will appear in a Chamber Recital at 8:15 p.m. Sunday at Hillel Foundation.

Those performing will be Edward Abramson, assistant professor of sociology, flute; Edmund H. Umberger, assistant professor of mathematics, clarinet; Mary Oliver, graduate student in mathematics, flute; Mildred Freiberg, piano; and Ethel Brady, dance.

The program will open with Beethoven's "Grand Trio for Two Flutes and Clarinet." Miss Brady will perform a dance to "Syrinx" by Claude Debussy, followed by "Quatre Pieces for Flute and Clarinet" by Rohoginski.

After a short intermission the group will present "Sonata in A Minor for Two Flutes and Piano" (Telemann), "Duo for Flute and Clarinet" (Szalowski), and "From Facade" (Sitwell and Walton). Miss Brady will dance in the last number.

The recital is free and open to the public.

Leonides to Send $10 to Fire Victim

Cal Sifferd, National Independent Student Association sponsor, whose home in Missouri burned to the ground early this month, will receive a $10 contribution from Leonides, independent women's organization.

Sifferd, who is also the main sponsor of the national NISA Newsletter, has been with the organization from its beginning. He has also participated in discussion groups at the NISA national conventions which University students have attended.

College Sports To Be on TV In September

Collegiate football will be broadcast and televised for 13 weeks starting in September by the American Broadcasting Company as part of a 39-week series of programs on college athletic events.

The series of TV and radio programs will place emphasis on the contributions of colleges and universities to athletics and the part they play through sports in developing sportsmanship.

In previous years there has been some dissension over televising athletic events, but the National Athletic Association television committee found the ABC offer too attractive to turn down.

The events, to be presented on Saturday afternoons, will bring college sports life into many homes.

Robert H. O'Brien, executive vice president of ABC, presented the athletic broadcast plan to the NCAA.

Fague, Blaha Awarded Cwens Scholarships

Sara Fague, fourth semester recreation major, and Nancy Blaha, fourth semester business administration major, were each awarded $50 scholarships by Cwens, sophomore women's hat society.

The women were chosen from seven applications by the Cwens scholarship committee, chaired by Patricia Douthett.
