End Posts One of Lions' Strongholds

By DICK McDOWELL

(This is the second in a series of stories which will examine the Penn State football team position by position—today the ends.)

Despite the loss of co-captain Don Malinak through graduation, one of Coach Rip Engle's strongholds this season will be at the terminal positions where four seasoned veterans and a handful of promising sophomores return.

Jim Garrity, top receiver in the east last last year; Jesse Arnelle, who shows signs of greatness once again; Jack Sherry, and Bob Rohland, all figure heavily in Engle's plans this fall.

Garrity snagged 30 of Tony Rados' heaves last fall and scored two touchdowns, earning the reputation as one of the most elusive ends in the business. The 6-foot, 185-pounder became the powder charge in the Lions' explosive attack.

Leg Injury

A leg injury last week kept him sidelined for a week but he is expected to be ready for the opening game with Illinois.

Arnelle, in his fourth year on the varsity, slumped somewhat last season after a great year as a sophomore, but has been highly impressive this fall and threatens to regain his leadership in the pass catching department. The big senior's physical qualities are big assets here. A towering 6-5 frame that carries 230 pounds, he still moves with terrific grace and speed.

Sherry Sure Handed

Behind these two, Engle has Jack Sherry, an aggressive 195-pounder who possesses a pair of sure hands and good speed. He was used as a defensive halfback two years ago but switched to the line at the outset of the one platoon system. He saw considerable action last year and will be counted on heavily this fall.

Bob Rohland, 6-3, 205 pounds, although he did not earn a letter last year, did see some action and will be a big help this season. He's big and rugged and is particularly effective defensively.

Junior Leo Kwalik, 6-1, 185 pounds, and sophomore John Arnst, 6-2, 207 pounds; Ned Finkbeiner, 6-2, 185 pounds; and Doug Mechling, 6-1, 180 pounds, round out the roster. Garrity, Sherry, Arnelle, and Rohland are seniors.

Alumni Elected to Board

H. L. Stuart, State College, and Kenneth D. Loeffler, Drexel Hill, have been elected alumni representatives to the Athletic Advisory Board.

Loeffler is a coach of basketball at La Salle College, Philadelphia, while Stuart is an athletic official in Central Pennsylvania.

Milton Plum, Westville, N.J., sophomore, is rated a comer in the quarterback position at Penn State.

3 Coaches Spend Summer Abroad

Three Nittany Lion coaches made tours abroad during the summer months. Rip Engle, head football mentor and Eddie Sulkowski, boxing coach, both traveled to the Far East, while gymnastic mentor Gene Wettstone accepted an invitation to visit Europe.

Engle visited Japan and Hawaii as a civilian athletic consultant to the U. S. Army's Far East Command. He was accompanied by Jesse Hill, of the University of Southern California, and Mississippi Southern's Thad Vann.

Wettstone traveled to the Swedish Gymnastics Federation to report to the Scandinavian countries on the progress of gymnastics in this country.

Sulkowski spent two weeks at a boxing clinic in Japan, followed by a two-day clinic in Hawaii. Accompanying him was Roy Simmons, veteran Syracuse

Heavyweight Fight Postponed Again

NEW YORK, Sept. 16 (AP)—The Rocky Marciano-Ezzard Charles heavyweight title match was postponed because of rain for the second time today and rescheduled for 11 p.m. tomorrow at Yankee Stadium.

The new starting time, a half hour later than originally planned, was the result of a conflict with a New York Giants-Philadelphia Phillies night baseball game across the Harlem River at the Polo Grounds.

For a time there was a chance that a no-conflict agreement between the Yanks, Giants and promoting International Boxing Club might cause a major hitch. Jim Norris, IBC president, set the new date without realizing there was a conflict with a night game. After much telephoning and several conferences, it was announced the Giants had given their "reluctant consent" to the fight at a later hour.
