

Dulles, Adenauer Discuss West German Sovereignty

BONN, Sept. 16 (AP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and Chancellor Konrad Adenauer threshed out in secret talks tonight the problem of how to give the West Germans sovereignty and arms without alienating France. Dulles goes to London tomorrow but plans to bypass Paris.

Dulles and the German leader met for almost three hours in Adenauer's chancellery, then dined informally with their full staffs. U.S. spokesmen said there were no plans for further formal talks.

GOP, Demos Have Groups At University

National politics, invade the interest of the Penn State students through the media of the Young Republican and Young Democratic clubs.

Both these organizations serve to better acquaint the student with what is going on in the political world with the hopes that someday some of their members may take an active and intelligent interest in politics as voting citizens.

The Young Republican Club was born at the University in 1951-52, when President Dwight D. Eisenhower was campaigning for the presidency.

In each of these elections, club members take an active part, conducting door-to-door campaigns, distributing literature and campaign buttons, and working at the polls. In the 1953 State College borough elections, the club maintained headquarters in an office downtown.

The club meets the first and third Thursdays of the month. Programs at the meetings include well-known speakers, movies, forums, and debates.

The Young Democratic Club was very active during the 1952 campaign and since that time has had periodic meetings. While the club was not too active last year, it plans to reorganize this fall.

Democratic Policy Blasted by Wood

INDIANA, Pa., Sept. 16 (AP)—Lt. Gov. Lloyd H. Wood, Republican candidate for governor, said today that Democrats are "evasive and deceitful" in dealing with the danger of other states luring Pennsylvania industry to within their borders.

"Despite what my opponent might say now in attempts to belaud this all important subject, the fact remains that an attractive picture has been presented to many of our industries to lure them away," Wood said in campaign speeches at Indiana, Homer City and Blairsville.

Comic Printers Seek Stiff Code of Ethics

NEW YORK, Sept. 16 (AP)—The comic book industry, except for three publishers, appointed a New York magistrate today to administer a stiff new code of ethics to offset criticism that the books contribute to youthful crime.

Charles F. Murphy, 44, who will head the self-policing move, is expected to ban horror and terror "comics" when he takes over Oct. 1 as administrator of the newly-formed Comics Magazine Assn. of America.

He is known in New York as organizer of a number of projects to prevent juvenile delinquency.

A spokesman for the association said its membership comprised 24 of the nation's 27 comics magazine publishers and that they publish about 75 per cent of the comics.

He said the other 25 per cent was divided between the three non-members, Dell Publishers; William Gaines; and Classic Illustrated.

The association said Murphy will have "full authority to carry out and enforce a strict, self-imposed set of standards for comics publishers."

He will draw up the code of ethics. A staff of professional reviewers will study all material scheduled for publication to determine whether it complies with the code.

All books approved for publication will be entitled to place an association seal on their covers.

Murphy, who received $14,000 a year as magistrate, declined to say what salary he will get as administrator.

He said he would have a budget of $100,000 annually and that his salary and the salaries of the reviewers and other expenses would come out of that figure.

Results of the conference were a tightly guarded secret, but informants described Dulles as "not downcast."

In Paris, meanwhile, French Premier Pierre Mendes-France agreed to British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden's plan for a seven-nation West European defense alliance, as a substitute for the French-vetted European Defense Community.

Representatives of the seven nations—Britain, France, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands, Luxembourg and West Germany—will meet in London around Sept. 27 to work out details of the proposed alliance. Widespread reports in the French capital said Norway and Denmark might also join in.

Arriving in London after his Paris talks, Eden indicated he still did not have full American and French support for all phases of his program for rearming West Germany. He said a "wide measure of agreement" was reached but warned that "a good deal remains."

Informed American and British sources in London said earlier that Washington has decided to support Britain's plan for quickly rearming West Germany within the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. These same sources said the United States has reserved its position on the proposed new seven-nation alliance.

In Strasbourg, France, the European Assembly also was talking of alternatives to EDC, but decided there was too much diplomatic activity to get a clear picture immediately.

Mitchell Announces Single Truman Talk

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 16 (AP)—Democratic National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell said today former President Harry S. Truman will make only one major political speech in the fall campaign.

Mitchell made the statement shortly after arriving here to kick off the party's drive to recapture control of Congress in the November elections.

He told a news conference that Truman is under doctor's orders to take it easy as a result of an operation last June and will speak only at a party pow-wow at Kansas City Oct. 16.

But perhaps, he said, Truman's daughter, Margaret, will step into the political arena with some speeches in the East.

Democrats from over the nation are staging a two-day rally here tomorrow and Saturday, determined to capitalize on their showing in the Maine election Monday and parlay it into a nationwide victory in November.

"It's pretty damned good Democratic weather," Mitchell said.

"We're getting smiles and encouragement from a lot of places." He said he thought the Maine results had "cheered everybody up" but, "I'm just very much concerned that it might give some false confidence."

Maine elected a Democrat as a governor in Monday's balloting and whittled down the victory margins for its Republican senator and three GOP House members.

The governor-elect, Edmund S. Muskie, will speak at a $100-a-plate dinner here Saturday night at which Adlai Stevenson will make the main address. Rep. Sam Rayburn of Texas also will speak. Mitchell told newsmen that Democrats now are "getting a lot of warmth" in places that used to be cool toward them. Asked for examples, he mentioned Illinois, Indiana, Nebraska, South Dakota, Pennsylvania, Connecticut, New Hampshire, New York and New England in general.

As for Truman, the national chairman said the party would like to make more use of him during the campaign but, "I don't think it's fair to press him."

"I think," he added, "his attractive daughter may help him out at some of these political meetings, in Eastern Areas where she has her dramatic career."

Following through on his forecast of good Democratic weather, Mitchell said he regards "the signs we have been seeing as authentic." We have been seeing as authentic.

He said there is a growing public favor toward Democratic congressional candidates, "growing out of what we've done, what the candidates have done in their campaigns and what the Eisenhower administration has not done."

The chairman made only specific prediction—that, "we'll come mighty close to winning one congressman for New Hampshire."
