

Booters Will Meet Foreign Team Today

By ROY WILLIAMS

Coach Ken Hosterman has named a veteran-laden soccer lineup for Penn State's scrimmage session this afternoon against the Cosmopolitan Club. Game time is set for 1 p.m. on the golf course.

The Cosmopolitan team will be made up of players from Australia, Ethiopia, Iran, India, South America, Norway, Greece, Germany, and Mexico.

Nine lettermen, returning from last year's team which posted a 5-2 chart, will be the nucleus for Hosterman's first string. A junior and a sophomore, playing his first season of varsity ball, have been chosen for the remaining two slots.

At the opening kickoff, the Lions' will field a line boasting five returnees from last fall. Captain Jack Pinezich will be back at the outside left slot, flanked by Joe Mijares at the outside right position. Three juniors will handle the mid-line chores with Dick Packer at center forward, Dick Matacia at inside left, and Milt Springer at inside right.

In the backfield, Hosterman will open with two converted halfbacks from last season at the fullback slots. Seniors Paul Dierks and Galen Robbins have been running the defensive positions in practice, but have not faced any outside teams.

A sophomore, a junior, and a senior have received the nod from Hosterman for the three halfback positions. Steve Flamporis, the only sophomore scheduled to break into the Penn State lineup, will be at right halfback. Senior Gerry Gillispie will be at halfback, with Ihor Stelnyk playing center halfback.

Hosterman just motioned as if he was flipping a coin when asked about the goal-tending position. Both George Geczy and John Lawrence have been playing the net position, but Hosterman is still undecided about his choice for today. Geczy had limited service last season at guarding the ris.

"This is strictly a scrimmage session for us," Hosterman said

The contest this afternoon between the Cosmopolitan Club and the Lions will be the third time the two teams have met in pre-season scrimmage games. The foreign squad has never defeated a Lion eleven.

Spotlight Set On Pitching In Series

NEW YORK, Sept. 24 (AP)—The crack pitching staffs of the Cleveland Indians and New York Giants could easily steal the show in the World Series opening Wednesday in New York.

Both clubs are well-fortified in both the starting and relieving departments.

The Indians, in Bob Lemon, Early Wynn, and Mike Garcia, have a trio of moundmen who have accounted for 64 victories against 26 losses this season. Lemon has a (23-7) won-lost record, Wynn (22-11) and Garcia (19-8). The "big three" also have posted formidable earned run averages. Garcia owns the lowest of the trio, 2.55, followed by Lemon 2.60 and Wynn 2.78.

Feller and Houtteman

Bob Feller (13-3) and Art Houtteman (15-7) have had brilliant seasons and are ready for possible starting assignments. Hal Newhouser (7-2) and rookies Don Mossi (6-1) and Ray Narleski (3-2) comprise the Tribe bullpen. Bob Hooper (0-0) doesn't figure on seeing much service.

The Giants' pitching crew has been effective all season and they, too, present three top front-liners in Sal Maglie (14-6), Johnny Antonelli (21-7), and Ruben Gomez (17-9). Antonelli has one of the best earned run averages in the league, 2.31. Gomez' ERA is 2.88 and Maglie 3.25.

Don Liddle (8-4) and Jim Hearn (8-8) may be used as spot starters. The relief chores will be taken care of by Hoyt Wilhelm (12-4) and Marv Grissom (10-7), both of whom have been invaluable assets all season.

Giants' Bullpen

Windy McCall (2-3) and Al Corwin (1-3) also will be on duty in the bullpen brigade. Al Worthington (0-2), Alex Kontikowski (0-0), and Paul Giel (0-0), who comprise the rest of the staff, aren't expected to see much action.

Neither manager has decided definitely on his pitching rotation.

Credit for handling the rival pitching staffs must be accorded to catchers Jim Hegan of the Indians and Wes Westrum of the Giants. Both are fine, durable receivers and possess strong throwing arms. Neither has a high batting average, but they are threats in the clutch. Rookies Hal Naragon of Cleveland and Ray Katt of New York are adequate replacements for the regular catchers.

Veteran Mickey Grasso was made eligible to catch for Cleveland by Commissioner Ford Frick today. The Indians dropped Dave Hoskins, a relief pitcher, from their Series roster to make room for Grasso.

A's Defeat Yankees, 5-1

NEW YORK, Sept. 24 (AP)—Arnold Portocarrero limited the New York Yankees to five hits today and paced the last-place Philadelphia Athletics to a 5-1 victory. Home runs by Lou Limmer and Jack Littrell accounted for four of the A's five runs.

Lacrosse Candidates Will Meet Tuesday

Candidates for the varsity lacrosse team are urged to attend an organizational meeting in the south wing of Rec Hall, Earnest Baer, assistant lacrosse coach announced yesterday. The meeting will be held Tuesday at 7 p.m.

Those unable to attend the meeting should report to the second floor of the Water Tower on Wednesday at 4 p.m.

Harris Will Leave Nats

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24 (AP)—The Washington Senators announced today that Bucky Harris has resigned as manager, but Harris implied he was fired.

At any rate, Bucky is out of a job with the end of the season Sunday and while nobody would say so for the record, it was widely believed that Chuck Dressen will be his successor.

The sequence went like this: Clark Griffith, 84-year-old owner of the Senators and a long-time friend of Harris, told a news conference at Washington that he was announcing, at Harris' request, that Bucky had resigned.

Harris Denies Report

Harris, in Boston for the closing games with the Red Sox, denied to reporters that he had resigned and hinted that actually he was being booted out. He said:

"You can believe what you want to. Maybe it's better that way. No manager ever resigns. I've been through it before. Actually, I hate to leave Washington. It's been my home for 30 years but that's one of the hazards of baseball. As of now, I don't know what I'm gonna do. I have no offers. I'll keep on managing the club until the final game is played."

Harris, one of baseball's "nice guys," is winding up his third hitch as manager of the Senators, bogged in the second division. All told, he has managed them for 18 years, dating back to 1924 when he led the club to a pennant.

Dressen May Sign

Meanwhile, it was learned from reliable but unidentifiable sources that Dressen in all likelihood will be signed to a three-year contract at between $40,000 and $45,000 a year. Harris reportedly earned $30,000.

Griffith said he had planned to announce Harris' resignation Monday at the close of the season, but that Bucky had telephoned him last night to ask him to do so at once and thus free Harris to negotiate his own future.

In the give and take with reporters, Griffith said he would talk with "three or four" potential successors in New York on Monday and that he hoped to be able to announce his manager on that day. The names mentioned in the discussion were Dressen, Phil Rizzuto, shortstop for the New York Yankees, and Jimmy Dykes, recently ousted as manager of the Baltimore Orioles.

The Los Angeles Times reported two days ago that Dressen already had signed with the Senators. Griffith would neither confirm nor deny that report today. He said he didn't want to prejudice Dressen's current negotiations.

Phillies and Dressen

It has been reported that the Philadelphia Phillies also are after Dressen, who led the Brooklyn Dodgers to pennants in 1952 and 1953. Some reports had it that the Phillies were prepared to offer Dressen $42,500 a year.

Dressen, 57, quit the Dodgers because they refused to give him a three-year contract after the close of the 1953 season. He managed the Oakland, Calif., club of the Pacific Coast League this year.

There was a bit of confusion about the Rizzuto situation. Griffith at first mentioned the veteran shortstop's name as a possibility but later amended his statement to say that "of course," he would not talk to Rizzuto until he had been given permission to do so by the Yankees.

Lacrosse Managers

Sophomore candidates for lacrosse manager should report to the Athletic Association office, Rec Hall, to get in contact with Jack Albrecht, head manager.

Out On a Limb

With King Football swinging into full action this afternoon, the time is ripe for Penn State's grid coaches to match wits with the Daily Collegian sports staff in predicting the outcome of the top college games across the nation.

Although many of the 15 encounters selected to challenge the scribes' and coaches' coin-flipping abilities figure to be close contests—their crystal ball gazes agreed on 11 of the 15 games.

The swamies split their decisions in three of the battles. Backfield coach, Joe Paterno, picked to represent the Rec Hall master-minds this week, really took a stroll out on the proverbial limb when he selected South Carolina to turn back Army. The Cadets were pre-season favorites to lead the Lions for Eastern grid supremacy.

Dick McDowell, number one man around the Collegian sports desk, will lead the local predictors for top honors, followed by assistant sports editor Herm Weiskopf, and staff writer Roy Williams.

Well boys, we're off! In case of doubt, stick with 'tails'.

"Don't Shoot!"

From recent Student Council minutes:

CHAIRMAN: Next we come to the problem of the appalling dressing-habits of our freshman. We have noted such unorthodox attire as long-point collars, garishly colored shirts, some actually made of dotted swiss!

SCH. OF MUSIC REP.: Definitely not in harmony with our standards.

JOURNALISM REP.: To corn a phrase, they ain't on the ball team.

SCH. OF LOGIC REP.: Why not shoot 'em?

MED. SCHOOL REP.: Great idea! I'll work up a "Good Taste" serum, refined from some Van Heusen Oxfordian shirts. We'll inoculate 'em all!

PHILOSOPHY REP.: Who cares!

LAW SCHOOL REP.: (Happily) Yeah, inoculate 'em. Then maybe some of 'em will get sick, and I . . .

JOURNALISM REP.: Now let's don't go all around Red Robin Hood's barn . . . what we need is a campaign to tell 'em about the Oxfordian . . . the silky, smooth oxford shirts with the smart, modern collar styles.

BUS. ADM. REP.: And don't forget . . . fine long-staple cotton, woven tighter to last longer . . . at the amazing price (thanks to excellent production facilities) of only $4.50.

JOURNALISM REP.: I think we got the gem of an idea here somewhere . . . but first off the bag, we gotta . . .

MED. SCHOOL REP.: Inoculate 'em.

LOGIC REP.: Yeah, shoot 'em.

CHAIRMAN: All in favor of mass inoculation say Aye. (MOTION CARRIES.)

JOURNALISM REP.: Maybe some of 'em already wear Van Heusen Oxfordians. Don't shoot 'til you see the whites of their shirts . . .

ART SCHOOL REP.: . . . and the colors! Don't forget Oxfordians come in the smartest colors this side of a Bonnard or a Klee.

PHILOSOPHY REP.: (eating Tootsie-roll) Who cares!
