

Segregation Rule Incites Unrest in Washington

By The Associated Press

The first sign of trouble in the nation's capital over mixing the races in schools developed yesterday with hundreds of white students demonstrating at two Washington high schools.

Demonstrations against integration spread in Baltimore where two bands of marching students numbering several hundred, paraded through the streets. At least nine Baltimore schools reported demonstrations as classes started.

In Washington, some 400 of the 1250 students enrolled at Anacostia High gathered across the street from the school and jeered their principal's pleas that they return to classes. The demonstrators booed 43 Negro students as they entered the building.

More Demonstration

One striking student said admittance of 20 additional Negroes to Anacostia Friday caused the demonstration.

A similar demonstration was staged at McKinley High in Washington by about 150 boys and girls but they were persuaded to transfer their protest meeting to a classroom. The meeting broke up in confusion.

Several students criticized admittance of Negroes to McKinley with one girl declaring she was "afraid to walk down the hall. They walk right up behind me and say things I wouldn't repeat."

Suggestion

A majority of the students however, appeared to favor a suggestion by Anthony Green, one of the school's football players, that a committee be named to handle the situation. But dozens of students walked out when another student suggested that the pupils go home and stay out at least a week "if you want the rest to follow you."

The District of Columbia plan for ending racial segregation in schools had brought expressions of hope from President Eisenhower and others that it would become a model for other sections to follow in carrying out the U.S. Supreme Court's ruling outlawing segregation.

Shouting Crowds

The shouting crowds of students in Baltimore made stops at the City Hall and called for Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro. Both crowds were scattered by police but they formed later and continued their marching. One of the groups covered a dozen miles by noon.

At Southern High School where six persons were arrested Friday after a white man struck a Negro student, school officials estimated only 500 of the 1700 students enrolled reported for classes Monday. Twenty of the 36 Negroes enrolled attended classes. Fifty policemen were stationed around the school and others were on duty at intersections for several blocks in all directions.

McCarthy Aide Quits Staff

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4 (AP)—Francis P. Carr, another top aide to Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis) in his investigations, is resigning from the McCarthy subcommittee staff just as Roy M. Cohn did.

McCarthy announced the resignation of Carr, his staff director, effective Oct. 31, with special praise for the work he did "in the investigations of the Government Printing Office, Ft. Monmouth, and the Communist infiltration of defense installations."

Carr, who was the subcommittee's chief counsel, resigned July 19 and took up the practice of law in New York. Carr will go to work for Associated Transport, Inc., in New York.

Carr, along with Cohn and McCarthy, was one of the original principals in the Army-McCarthy hearings but he was eliminated before the hearings ended.

Altoona Man Loses Life on Cargo Ship

HONOLULU, Oct. 4 (AP)—The Navy said today Chief Engineer Chester L. Aucker of Altoona, Pa., fell from the cargo ship Hewell in Kaneohe Bay Saturday and drowned. The body was recovered. A brother, Theodore P. O. Aucker, lives at 809 Jefferson Ave., Altoona.

Hopes Rise On German Rearmament

PARIS, Oct. 4 (AP)—Chances for French parliamentary approval of the London agreements to rearm West Germany appeared bright today.

Members of center and rightist parties as well as followers of Gen. Charles de Gaulle praised Premier Pierre Mendes-France for protecting French sovereignty and retaining a close partnership with Britain in the nine-power negotiations.

Substantial Majority

The key to the success of the new plan, which replaces the European Defense Community army plan killed by the French Assembly, appeared to lie in the hands of the left-of-center Popular Republican Movement (MRP), and the Socialists.

One MRP member, who declined to be quoted by name, predicted the premier will swing a substantial majority behind the decisions to bring West Germany into expanded Brussels alliance and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Likely Attitude

Mendes-France, taking the initiative to prevent any buildup of opposition in parliamentary circles through delayed consideration, has called an extraordinary session of the assembly beginning Thursday to hear his report on the London talks. The ratification vote, however, may not come for several weeks.

When the legislators reconvene, this likely will be the attitude of the key MRP and Socialist parties: MRP, the party of Georges Bidault and Robert Schuman, is staunchly pro-European. The party strongly backed the defunct EDC plan, and many members are still bitter against Mendes-France, who had no part in negotiating EDC, refused to stake his government's future on that treaty in a vote of confidence and sharp-

France, Britain Hail Russia's Atomic Plan

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Oct. 4 (AP)—Britain and France today hailed the new Russian proposals on atomic control as a step forward, but emphasized they want to know exactly how far Moscow has gone toward agreement with the West.

Selwyn Lloyd, British minister of state, gave the first Western answer to the atomic resolution introduced by Russia's Andrei Y. Vishinsky last Thursday. His stand was quickly endorsed by the chief French delegate, Guerin du Bosq de Beaumont.

Lloyd told the UN Assembly the Vishinsky plan is an apparent move toward proposals laid down by Britain and France in secret UN disarmament talks in London last June 11.

"That is a fact to be welcomed," Lloyd said as the ranking Russian delegate in the hall, Jacob A. Malik, took notes. Vishinsky was absent.

"It may be," Lloyd added, "that their resolution is put forward solely to confuse the domestic political situation in countries considering a German defense contribution."

However, he added, Britain will deal with these problems in the various UN bodies which will consider them and will never give up efforts to reach an agreement.

Stars Are Loose

Hollywood Romance Ends; Monroe Files Divorce Suit

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 4 (AP)—The nine-month marriage of movie queen Marilyn Monroe and baseball hero Joe DiMaggio shattered today and she will sue for divorce.

The news, announced by the blonde star's studio, hit Hollywood like an A-bomb. There had been no hint of anything but harmony in the DiMaggio home.

Both the onetime Yankee Clipper and his voluptuous wife were secluded in their English farmhouse in Beverly Hills. A horde of newsmen and television and newsreel photographers waited outside most of the day—in vain.

At 2:45 p.m. Jerry Giesler, famous filmtown lawyer, and Harry Brand, publicity chief at Miss Monroe's studio, emerged.

"She won't be out today," the attorney said. "I will try to set up a press conference in my office for Wednesday noon. She is sick and cannot talk now."

Giesler said he expected to file the divorce suit tomorrow in Santa Monica. "The charges will be innocuous—the usual mental cruelty," he said. He added Joe had no comment and was not now represented by an attorney in the proceedings.

Giesler said there would be no alimony and no community property in the settlement. He offered the opinion that incompatibility and "conflict of careers" was the reason for the breakup and added that both parties still are friendly. Asked if Joe would be moving out today, Giesler replied, "I don't think so."

He denied reports that the recent sidewalk photos of Miss Monroe's skirt billowing over her head in New York had anything to do with the split. He also commented that she was not pregnant.

"They've talked it over and reached a pleasant understanding," he said.

Only a handful of intimates knew there was trouble brewing between the pair. On Sept. 9, the famed calendar girl flew to New York for locations of "Seven-Year Itch." She was slated to return Sept. 12, but a hurricane delayed her. Joe flew to join her.

"They seemed to be very much in love," said a studio source who was with them. "They are not the demonstrative type, but they appeared to be warmly affectionate."

They flew back here together Sept. 16. Last week he returned to New York to cover the World Series for a syndicate. She continued working in her picture.

Pressure Applied

U.S. Captives Tell Of Czech Ordeal

NUERNBERG, Germany, Oct. 4 (AP)—A U.S. Army intelligence officer said today the Communists bore down with psychological pressure, including charges of spying, during a nerve-shattering two weeks that he and his soldier jeep-driver spent as prisoners in Red Czechoslovakia.

"The Czechs did not beat or abuse us," Capt. Richard H. Dries, 32, of St. Albans, N.Y., told a news conference. "But they applied a tremendous amount of psychological pressure on us."

"They made it clear that they considered us spies and could do with us what they chose. They made us feel like they might keep us in prison forever."

Dries and Pfc. George M. Pisk, 22, of Austin, Tex., were seized by Czech border guards at gunpoint Sept. 17 near Eslarn, Bavaria, while on a routine border mission. They were freed last Saturday at Waidhaus on the German-Czech frontier.

Cloak and Dagger

"The whole experience," said Pisk, a Yale graduate, "was unreal like a Grade B movie mystery. Everything was cloak and dagger stuff."

Both were held in solitary confinement in Prague. They told of being grilled day and night by Czech army officers in civilian clothes.

Dries was in civilian clothes, too, when he was arrested. His assignment to captain from first lieutenant came through while he was behind the Iron Curtain.

"They tried to pry military secrets out of us," the captain said, "but we told them nothing."

He quoted a Czech officer as warning sternly:

"We can throw you in jail and keep you just as long as we did William Oatis."

Reports on Cell

Pisk, a husky Vienna-born naturalized American, reported his cell was about 8 by 13 feet and fitted with opaque windows.

The prison food was sufficient, but not up to American standards, Pisk said, and he lost about 10 pounds, "possibly because of the mental strain."

"I ate almost nothing for the first three days," he said with a rueful grin. "I just couldn't choke it down."

"The worst part of all, was the psychological pressure. They told us our government had forgotten all about us."

The U.S. Embassy in Prague was pressing for release of the pair throughout their confinement, but the Czechs had declined even to say where they were held.

Pa. Unemployment Now 339,000

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 4 (AP)—Lt. Gov. Lloyd H. Wood placed the figure of Pennsylvania's unemployed at 339,000 persons tonight and said the Republicans are doing something about it.

The Republican candidate, criticizing statements by his Democratic opponent, Sen. George M. Leader, on the unemployment issue, said in a television campaign speech:

"There's very little difference, if any, in the Pennsylvania ratio of employed to unemployed, than in any other great industrial area of the nation."

Wilkes-Barre Named

NEW YORK, Oct. 4 (AP)—The United States Hoffman Machinery Corp. announced today that all its production of Hoffman presses, drycleaning machinery and laundry equipment hereafter will be centered in Wilkes-Barre, Pa.
