

Strict Silence Ruling Ammended by Panhel

By DOTTIE STONE

A semi-strict silence period will be effected by sorority women and potential rushees until Oct. 14, when informal rushing will begin, according to an amendment made by Panhellenic Council last night.

The new ruling replaces the strict silence rule listed in the Panhellenic rushing booklet. Sorority women may now talk with independent women before rushing begins, but not about sorority matters.

Adam's—

(Continued from page four) ples of mature and independent group living for students. Sororities are rather important institutions for present and prospective sorority women. They are, or can be a quite influential part of a woman's life. It's rather offensive to have them placed by their elders and governing body alike on a level with the junior campfire girls and the like. So be it.

'Players' Tryouts Set

Tryouts for the Players' production, "The Corn Is Green," will be at 7:15 p.m. Monday and Tuesday in 405 Old Main.

The first presentation will be on Dec. 3. Warren Smith, associate professor of dramatics will direct the play.

In further action a report was made by Mrs. Jean H. DuBois, assistant to the dean of women in charge of Panhellenic affairs, on the mistake concerning the ribboning of two women to the wrong sorority.

Formerly sorority women were not allowed to talk to independent women unless representatives of three different sororities were in the conversation group.

The ruling was changed because of the relatively small number of women who will go through informal rushing and the large number of independents effected by the former ruling.

"We want to be natural with girls on campus," Mrs. Vada M. Leffler, Panhellenic advisor, said after the meeting, "and not create a barrier. We just will not talk about sorority business (with independents.)"

Independent women who wish to go through informal rushing are asked to register with Mrs. DuBois at the Dean of Women's Office, 105 Old Main. Registration is not required for informal rushing and there is no registration fee. Sororities will receive lists of the women who have registered for rushing.

Women wishing to rush should also remember that sororities who have their quota at present will be able to rush at the start of the spring semester, Mrs. DuBois said.

Mrs. DuBois said she brought before the council the matter of the Panhel error in the lists of ribbonees in order to clarify the matter for all sororities. As soon as the mistake was discovered, she said, the two women were notified and asked to choose which sorority they wished to join.

"We should be thankful that we have a dean of women who approves of sororities and shows such kindness and sincerity to the girls and chapters concerned," Mrs. Leffler said.

Mrs. DuBois gave the following official figures on rushing: 454 registered, 142 withdrew for various reasons, 311 received bids, and 286 accepted bids. These figures are being turned over to a statistician to see if it would be advantageous to have sororities increase their quota of 50 members. A report will be made to the council after the statistician's report has been returned.

Special dress-up dinners in dormitories for the year were announced as follows: Oct. 19, Nov. 16, Dec. 7, Jan. 11, Feb. 10, March 15, April 26, and May 18.

WSGA Proposes Black Mark Change

Eight amendments to the Black Marks rule were proposed last night by the Women's Student Government Association Senate.

The suggested amendments are:

1. That black marks made for one particular dormitory should be passed by the Freshman Council, Freshman Regulations Board, and WSGA Senate before becoming effective.

2. That black marks should be available for all to see.

3. That extreme vocal noise should be given a black mark, and that radio and phonograph noise should be permitted only if it does not disturb others.

4. That curlers be permitted in the dining halls on the night of a formal dance of a big weekend.

5. That men be allowed to call from dormitory phones and wait outside before 12 noon for their dates, and that they be allowed to call for them on Sunday mornings for church.

6. That there be a ruling concerning Bermuda shorts.

7. That typing in rooms should be permitted in dormitories which do not have special typing rooms.

8. That hostesses should be required to give warnings individually, rather than just to groups of women.

Appointed to a committee to investigate the proposals are Barbara Stock, chairman; and Suzanne Loux, and Martha Michener.
