FOR A BETTER PENN. STATE.

VOL. 55, No. 16

STATE COLLEGE, PA., THURSDAY MORNING, OCTOBER 7, 1954

FIVE CENTS

Penn Game Tickets Go on Sale Oct. 18

Approximately 4150 tickets to the Penn State-Penn game will go on sale to the student body Oct. 18. Tickets will be priced at $4 and $2.50 and each student will be limited to six.

Tickets will be sold from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Oct. 18-27 at the new Athletic Association ticket office, 248 Recreation Hall.

The ticket limit has been set to give more students a chance at the better seats, Harold R. Gilbert, assistant director of athletics, announced. In former years fraternities, sororities, and other groups have sent one representative to buy large blocks of tickets, sometimes as many as 200 at a time.

AIM Committee Will Investigate WD Parking

Robert Dennis, president of the Association of Independent Men, last night appointed Stanley Juras, fifth semester engineering science major, chairman of a committee to determine the number of West Dorm upperclassmen having cars in the area, from which a recommendation will be made.

Robert Dennis said that West Dorm residents were no longer using the parking facilities behind Sigma Chi and Sigma Nu, and had either been shifted to the area opposite the baseball diamond, or into the East campus area.

Bruce Lieske, fifth semester meteorology major, moved that joint AIM-Leonides executive board meetings be held at the discretion of the presidents of AIM and Leonides, which was passed.

After discussion concerning the revival of "The Independent," AIM's and Leonides' monthly newspaper which ceased publication last year, Dennis said he would name a committee to investigate the feasibility of its revival.

H. Arthur Simm, seventh semester arts and letters major, was appointed chairman of the projects committee.

Committee reports were presented on Orientation Week counseling by AIM, the Autumn Ball, the National Students Association Convention, and the AIM judicial board of review.

January Ed Graduates To Order Caps, Gowns

Seniors graduating in January who will be practicing teaching during the second eight weeks of this semester may order caps and gowns Monday through Saturday at the Athletic Store.

Deposit for the caps and gowns is $5. Invitations and announcements may be ordered at the same time at the Student Union desk in Old Main.

UBA to Close Tomorrow

Students may claim money and unsold books from the Used Book Agency from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. until tomorrow on the stage of the Temporary Union Building.

French Red Denies Spy Charge

PARIS, Oct. 6 (AP)—Jacques Duclos, French Communist chieftain, denied today having a hand in the mysterious leak of defense secrets to the Reds. He hurled such epithets as "French McCarthyist" and "dirty dog" at his accuser.

Duclos was grilled by an examining magistrate—one man equivalent of a grand jury—on statements yesterday by Andre Baranes, a leftist newspaperman and police informer, that he had passed on secret information to Duclos. Baranes said Duclos laughed in his face, saying, "We already have that."

Those attending the closed session said Duclos denied Baranes had ever given him secret data, declaring:

"The Communist party does not need to be informed by a cop."

He was apparently referring to Police Inspector Jean Dides, whose suspension when he was

Concert Ticket Sale Decreases

Student sales for the Community Concert series are down considerably from last year, David McKinley, chairman of the concert association membership campaign, said yesterday.

According to McKinley, the entire seating capacity of Schwab Auditorium was sold before noon the third day of last year's campaign. Last year many students could not buy tickets for the concerts because of the lack of space, he said.

Season tickets for the concerts are still available at 204 Old Main or from volunteer workers.

A recommendation for a second series of concerts, so all students could see them, was offered by Kirk Garber, head of a workshop on cultural and social aspects.

McKinley was concerned about the slow start in sale of tickets this season and he stated that one of the chief reasons for establishing the concert series was for the benefit of the students.

This year's membership campaign is the fifth to be held and will end at noon on Saturday if all the tickets are not sold by then. There are 1215 seats in Schwab Auditorium selling for $6 apiece.

At the end of the campaign a local committee will arrange the definite program for the year. The Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra has been scheduled but the date will not be definite until the rest of the program has been arranged. The symphony had to be booked in advance because they require a week's notice for any appearance.

Tickets will be distributed on a first come, first served basis. Checks and money orders should be made out for the exact amounts, payable to the Pennsylvania State University.

University alumni are being sold seats from midfield where the student section stops to the east end zones. Franklin Field seats about 78,000.

'Queen' Candidates Photos Due Today

The deadline for entering candidates in the Homecoming Queen contest is 5 p.m. today.

Entries may be submitted at the Student Union desk in Old Main.

A 5-inch by 7-inch photograph of the candidates should be submitted. Contestants must be coeds of the University. Any fraternity, sorority, or independent group may enter candidates.

Ag LaVie Pictures

Seniors graduating in agriculture may have their pictures taken for LaVie until Monday at the Penn State Photo Shop.

Cabinet Will Not Meet

All-University Cabinet will not meet tonight.

Traffic Court Fines Twelve

A total of $37 in fines was levied at the regular meeting of Traffic Court Tuesday.

Seven first offenders, four students guilty of their second offense, and one guilty of a third offense made up the total.

First offenders are fined $1, second offenders $3, and third offenders $5. On the fourth offense a $10 fine is levied, and on the fifth the offenders' car is sent home.

Traffic court also ruled that emergency parking in areas other than those assigned will be permitted if the student will first call the campus patrol for permission. The same will hold true if no permit has been issued to the student.

The court stated that the person in whose name the permit is issued is responsible for violations that occur while someone else is driving his car. Wives of students are not considered visitors.

Lawn Displays To Be Based On 'Changes'

The theme for this year's fraternity Homecoming lawn display contest will be "There've Been Some Changes Made," Robert Kitchel, Interfraternity Council vice president, announced yesterday.

All displays must be registered by noon, Oct. 14, at the Student Union desk in Old Main, Kitchel said. The reasons for this registration deadline, Kitchel stated, are to set up an agenda for the judges of the contest and to compile a list of fraternities which enter displays. This year, all fraternities entering a display will receive five points toward the outstanding fraternity award.

The purpose of the theme is to illustrate to the alumnae the changes that have taken place at the University during the last five years. Some of these changes are Beaver Field, the Hetzel Union Building, the name change from college to university, the skating rink, the nuclear reactor, and housemothers.

The winner of the contest will receive the Alumni Association trophy and 30 points toward the outstanding fraternity award. Second place winner will receive 24 points and third place will be awarded 20 points. Three displays will receive honorable mention awards of 16 points each.

The winning displays will be announced at the West Virginia football game Saturday afternoon, Oct. 16.

The lawn display contest requirements and rules, as set up by IFC, state that displays must be completed by 7 p.m. Oct. 15. The displays will be judged from 7-9 p.m. that day. The displays must be intact until 6 p.m. Oct. 16. No display must cost more than $35 and no animate parts are permitted.

Displays will be judged on the basis of originality, craftsmanship, and adherence to the theme. Centennial themes will be disqualified. Displays will be disqualified for failure to adhere to contest rules and IFC reserves the right to remove any display that is in any way derogatory, demoralizing or in poor taste to University or fraternity ideals.

Judges for the contest will be Wilmer E. Kenworthy, director of student affairs, chairman; Ross Lehman, assistant executive secretary of the Alumni Association; Gene Fulmer, executive secretary of the State College Chamber of Commerce; F. Cuthbert Salmon, associate professor of architecture; and George S. Zoretich, instructor of fine arts.

Sones to Head Men's Program In Orientation

Vernon Sones, president of Androcles, junior men's hat society, was named chairman of next year's Orientation Week counseling program by Hat Societies Council last night.

The appointment of Sones is in accordance with the resolution passed by All-University Cabinet two weeks ago stating that a member of a junior hat society be appointed chairman of Orientation Week.

Men's hat societies will be in charge of the freshman men's counseling program next fall. Women's hat societies have carried on a similar program for freshman women for the past few years.

The pep rally for the Virginia game will be held at 8 p.m. tomorrow in front of Old Main. The council endorsed a recommendation that fraternities and sororities attend the rallies en masse with appropriate signs and posters as was recommended at the Interfraternity Council meeting Monday.

Robert Smoot, council president, announced that permission has been secured for hat societies to form honor lines for the football team at the Penn and Pitt games in addition to the home games.

Lab Mechanic Involved In Automobile Accident

A car operated by Lewis H. Cowher, faculty laboratory mechanic, collided with a car driven by Virginia Loewan, State College, at the intersections of Locust lane and East Beaver avenue yesterday morning.

Police said the accident occurred when Cowher failed to stop at the Beaver avenue stop sign. Total damage to both vehicles was estimated at $275.

Prisoner, 18, Goes On Wild Rampage

An 18-year-old parole violator from Philadelphia, a prisoner at Centre County jail in Bellefonte, has done considerable damage to his cell in a recent series of wild reigns of terror.

He smashed the cot and other furnishings of his cell, ripped a new toilet bowl up barehanded and twisted off heavy pipes which he used as clubs to break the heavy lock of his cell door.

The prisoner, Harry Waterloo, who was originally committed to jail for disorderly conduct in Philipsburg and was later found to be a parole violator from Philadelphia, was being held for Philadelphia authorities.

Noticed Sunday

Waterloo's strange actions were first noticed Sunday. Throughout that day he tore out the pipes of his cell and dug the plaster from his ceiling. When further unusual actions arose Monday, Waterloo underwent a physical examination at the request of Sheriff Kauffman. The report showed no definite conclusions concerning his irregular behavior.

The latest and most violent outbreak occurred at 9:30 p.m. Tuesday. Mumbling to himself, Waterloo proceeded to smash furniture, lights, windows and the plaster of the walls, before he broke the heavy lock of his door by using a pipe for a club.

More Violent

During the rampage three men tried to quiet him but he only became more violent. Finally at the end of the 20-minute terror rampage, he gave up meekly and quietly saying, "We were just having fun" but later admitted, "I just wanted to get out of here quick." When questioned he mumbled incoherently about blowing up bridges.

Since both the steel cells in the jail were occupied, the youth was placed in handcuffs and chained to his cot to prevent any further violence.
