Of course we are glad to have a nice big, modern building, but the structure doesn't make a library. It should seem that the administration would realize this, but it appears they do not. Perhaps instead of concentrating on the exterior, the University should do something about the interior, i.e., get more worthwhile books. Then we may feel less like laughing when we look at the words on the walls.

Social Gazette

Pep Rally, 8 tonight, in front of Old Main.

Football Game, Penn State vs. Virginia, 2 p.m. tomorrow, Beaver Field.

Dungaree Drag, 9 p.m. to midnight tomorrow, Rec Hall. Chapel, the Rev. Richard R. Gay, speaker; 10:55 a.m. Sunday, Schwab Auditorium.

lege Sports Day on Oct. 30. Representatives from Bucknell, Lockhaven, Shippensburg, and Lycoming also will attend the event. Sports Day is held to choose members for first and second field hockey teams for central Pennsylvania. The team will compete in a tournament with other sections of the state.

WRA Cabin Reservations
In clarification of the policy for reserving the WRA cabin, on Tussey Mountain, the board announced that the cabin is available to women's University organizations. The cabin may be reserved by contacting Miss Mildred A. Lucey, associate professor of physical education, and filling out necessary applications.

John Zerbe, sixth semester recreation major, will act as bridge instructor for the WRA Bridge Club, the board announced Tuesday. Zerbe will teach beginners and advanced players at 7 p.m. every Monday in White Hall.

Queensberry Appointed
Kathleen Queensberry, fifth semester physical education major, was appointed chairman of a committee nominating freshman representatives to WRA executive board. Carolyn Johnson, second semester education major, was appointed to the writers' staff, newly created to assist the publicity chairman of the board. Marie Wagner, seventh semester home economics major, and Miriam Jones, third semester home economics major, will act as ex-officio members of the writers' staff.

More participation in upper-class bowling, held at 7 p.m. every Wednesday, has been urged by the board. Freshman bowling is held 7 p.m. every Monday in White Hall.

Town Women Elect Bunnell to WSGA

Nancy Bunnell has been elected to the Women's Student Government Association - House of Representatives by women students living off campus.

As representative to the House, Miss Bunnell will also serve as president of the town group.

Also elected were Anne Gjesdahl, vice president and alternate to the House; and Carole Denniston, secretary-treasurer.

Originality Needed For 'Drag' Displays

By SALLY STATE

Only one shopping day left before Dungaree Drag! Ingenious coeds needing material for dates' corsages will be scavenging through food stores, the "five and ten", and hardware establishments. Florists will be universally by-passed in the search.

Coeds shopping for tickets will find them at Carnegie bulletin board and Waring Hall today or at the dance tomorrow night.

Dungaree Drag corsages are made traditionally by women for the men they've invited to the annual girl-ask-boy-dance. This year a home football game will interfere with Saturday afternoon corsage workshops. Today will be a busy afternoon!

It takes a little wire, a little glue, a few limp vegetables perhaps. A lot of originality. Arranging is frequently easier with the eyes closed. Balloons are large and showy and cover up some evils of poor workmanship. Corn cobs are in season. Accompanying corn shocks are more unusual.

Choose Theme

An idea of a theme at the outset of the project helps. Artistic?

Most original? Largest? Check one.

Corsages are worn on the shoulder. Keep this in mind. Some coeds have made headdresses. Headdresses don't win corsage prizes. Wrist corsages win corsage prizes but dancing with a weight on one's arm can be tiresome. Particularly if there is a date on one's arm, too.

Check Bulk

One more word to the wise corsage arranger. Corsages must be attached. Check the bulk of the corsage to make sure it won't tear a gaping hole in date's shirt or strangle him slowly if attached inconspicuously around the neck. More and more Dungaree "Drags" each year never call to return the favor.
